Start Registry for Gas Ration Today

WARN DRIVERS OF FOUR STEPS TO GET 'A' BOOK

Schools Close While Teachers Aid.

Distribution of gasoline rationing "A" books assuring owners of private cars a basic allowance of 16 gallons a month will start today in schools in the Chicago metropolitan area and in many downstate Illinois communities. Pupils will have holidays while teachers serve as registrars.

The nation-wide gasoline rationing program starts Dec. 1. Because of delays in delivering all the necessary forms, blanks, coupon books, and stickers, registration in some states and in some portions of Illinois will be held Nov. 18, 19, and 20.

In Chicago the registration schedule is as follows:

TODAY.

7 a. m. to 1 p. m. — Motorists whose names start with the letters A thru E.

1:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.—Names from F thru L.

TOMORROW.

7 a. m. to 1 p. m. — Names from M thru R.

1:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.—Names from S thru Z.

Go to Nearest School.

Chicago motorists will register at nearest public elementary school in their ward. There are 333 such schools in the city. Location of the proper school may be learned by telephoning Dearborn 3050.

In the rest of the Chicago metropolitan area motorists will register for the "A" ration books in suburban schools, which will be open generally from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. today and Friday and on Saturday morning. In some suburbs the schools also will be open thru Saturday afternoon.

Note Four Preliminaries.

Before you go to register be sure you have done the following:

1. Sold to the government all passenger car size tires in excess of the five allowed your car.
2. Noted the serial numbers of the five tires you are retaining.
3. Completed an application form for the "A" book. Blanks may be obtained from The Tribune Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street or in Tribune Tower, from local rationing boards, motor clubs, or war plant transportation committees.
4. Have ready your state automobile license registration card.

If you are not the owner of the car, present an application signed by the owner and his registration card. The registrar may issue the "A" book if you present a signed statement by the owner of the car authorizing you to represent him.

For "A" Rations Only.

No registrations for supplemental rations beyond the requirements for 150 miles a month will be accepted in these initial applications. Application blanks for such rations, however, will be supplied by the registrar. These blanks, when filled out, must be sent to the individual motorist's local rationing board. If he is employed in a war plant having more than 100 employés, his application must go to the plant transportation committee, rather than his ration board.

Application blanks also will be available for gasoline to operate motorboats, airplanes, stationary engines, nonhighway machinery, and power equipment. These applications also must be sent to the ration board.

Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan area OPA director, urged motorists to dispose of their extra tires to the government by delivering them to the nearest Railway Express agency office or by requesting pickup service at Harrison 9700.

New War Front in Color Map

On the back page of today's paper appears a newly revised color map of the western Mediterranean and contiguous land areas, showing in detail regions involved in the sensational new war developments — Southern France and North Africa. Because of the invasion of North Africa [Morocco and Algeria] by an American expeditionary force under Gen. Eisenhower, the Germans have hurled forces into what was previously unoccupied France. This map is the second of a series covering the new war front. The third map of this series will be presented tomorrow.

Trail Elephant Lost on Banks of the Wabash

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 11 [Special].—This community's first elephant hunt was under way tonight after one of a trio of performing elephants made a successful break for the open country after a rush thru the downtown district during which the huge animal damaged two buildings and injured a woman.

Five trainers leading a safari composed of state and local police, deputy sheriffs and scores of citizen volunteers reported at midnight that they had lost contact with their quarry in a sparsely settled and wooded district about a mile north of the city, which is on the banks of the Wabash river.

Invades Drug Store.

Mrs. Chauncey Kessler, 45 year old housewife and war worker, was the victim of the elephant's visit to a downtown drug store. She suffered cuts and bruises when the animal upset a showcase behind which she had sought refuge. After first aid treatment at a local hospital she was permitted to go to her home, where relatives reported she was suffering from shock.

Barking dogs were blamed by officials of the Harold Jacobs circus for starting the elephant stampede.

Three elephants were being led from a truck to the high school gymnasium for a performance tonight when they became excited and bolted. Two were quickly recaptured, but one, a female, romped down the street and entered the ground level basement of a home. Here the animal wrought general havoc, wrecking water and furnace pipes.

Leaves—With Door Frame.

Emerging thru a wrecked doorway, the elephant headed for the business district, 12 blocks away, screaming citizens fleeing before its advance. Mrs. Kessler was among pedestrians who ran at the elephant's approach, and the animal followed her when she dodged into a drug store.

Here the elephant upset a marble soda fountain and several showcases, finally sauntering out the back door with the door frame around her neck. Pursuers followed a trail of broken fences in tracing the animal's northward flight.

Trainers said if the crowd would go home they anticipated no trouble in recapturing the animal, which they described as "a good elephant."

WHY A BRITISH PILOT WAS A DAY LATE IN RETURNING TO CARRIER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 11 (AP).—A British fighter pilot, a sublieutenant, nonchalantly set his plane down in a dry bed of a salt lake near Laurent beside an American tank column and asked the colonel in charge, "What do you want me to do?"

The colonel told the pilot he needed reconnaissance of the area south of Oran. The pilot took off, completed his mission, and reported back to the colonel just as his plane ran out of gas.

He was grounded until gas arrived the next day and returned to his carrier, which had been cruising off the coast. "I certainly was surprised to see him return a day late," the captain said.

350 WARSHIPS, 500 TRANSPORTS PUT ARMY IN AFRICA

New York, Nov. 11 [Special].—The united nations massed 350 warships and 500 transports for their invasion of North and West Africa, Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, British minister of production, revealed tonight in a speech here declaring the movement "the greatest amphibious operation in history."

Capt. Lyttelton's figures on the number of warships involved have been made public in no other quarter thus far.

Speaking in the Hotel Commodore at a dinner of the Association of National Advertisers, Capt. Lyttelton skimmed over details of the attack "for obvious reasons," but, he said, "the armadas of history would sink into insignificance if compared with the mighty forces employed."

Capt. Lyttelton said he was not at liberty to reveal the number of troops mobilized.

U. S. Ship Gets Christmas Mail—This Year and Last

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 12 [Thursday]—(AP).—Japanese forces have been routed at Oivi and face entrapment, while another enemy group at Gorari has been enveloped and destroyed in battles for control of northeastern New Guinea, the high command announced today.

As the climax of a week-long battle at Oivi, 55 miles southwest of the coastal base of Buna, Australian troops which battled their way across the Owen Stanley mountains forced the Japs from their positions, inflicting heavy losses.

Jap Retreat Cut Off.

But the Japs' only course of retreat is into the hands of American troops which were flown by aerial transport to the vicinity of Buna.

"The enemy was forced from his main positions near Oivi with heavy loss," the high command announced.

"His retreat has been blocked by our enveloping troops astride the main track and he is endeavoring to cut his way thru to the rear. Simultaneously our forces enveloped and destroyed enemy forces trapped south of Gorari."

Destroyer Is Bombed.

Off Lae allied planes bombed a Jap destroyer last night but did not observe results. Off Salamaua allied planes shot down two Zeros.

NAZIS REPORTED SHIFTING FORCES FROM RED FRONT

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 11 (AP).—Adolf Hitler was reported tonight to be wheeling part of his great war machine westward from the Russian front to face the American-British offensive moving toward his southern flank from the Atlantic end of the Mediterranean.

One report said preparations were being made hastily for billeting in Jugo-Slavia and Hungary 40 more German divisions withdrawn from Russia.

CHURCHILL SPEECH.

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP).—American forces plunged eastward across Algeria tonight to strike the axis in Tunisia and beyond in Libya after their brilliantly-executed 77-hour campaign brought a capitulation order from Adm. Jean Darlan to Frenchmen in Algeria and Morocco.

On Direct Line to Libya.

An American armored column striking inland from Algiers was reported by the Vichy radio to have reached Aumale, 70 miles to the southeast, on the road to Bou Saada. This is in a direct line toward Libya on a route which might by-pass Tunisia and strike Italy's last colonial possession in the desert of interior Libya.

The occupation of Bougie placed allied forces approximately one-third the distance along the way toward Tunisia, the key to the middle Mediterranean.

The most immediate prospect of a clash was with air borne troops plumped into Tunisia by the Germans. The best field reports here indicated that the Germans had landed fighters and dive bombers at El Alouina airdrome at Tunis and Sidi Ahmed airfield at Bizerte.

Land Air Force Ground Crews.

There have been some German air transports landing in Tunisia also, one reliable source said, but the best information here was that they were bringing ground crews and airport defense units from Sicily.

Reports that Italian marines also were in Tunisia indicated the axis intended to contest the allied advance there instead of waiting for them to get to Libya, where they would try to trap and smash Marshal Rommel's all but knocked out army.

Allied spokesmen said they had no knowledge of any American or British troops reaching Tunisia where they might dispute the German movement, altho the Berlin radio claimed that American troops had been attacking Tunis, the capital, since this morning.

Biggest Stake Is Bizerte.

Vichy dispatches broadcast from Tunis told of no such developments. These broadcasts said the town was being closed up tight at night, how-

U. S. COMMUNIQUE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The war department tonight issued a communique announcing the cessation of hostilities in North Africa. This is the text of the communique:

"North Africa:

"1. Adm. Jean Darlan has issued to all commanders in French North Africa, including Morocco, an order to cease hostilities. The order was issued after a conference at Algiers between Maj. Gen. Mark W. Clark, representing Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of allied forces, and Adm. Darlan.

"2. In the Casablanca area French army forces have capitulated.

"3. The residents of the city of Oran have welcomed our troops enthusiastically. All prisoners have been exchanged. Instructions have been issued to the local civil government to continue to function. The commander of the center task force, Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, whose troops overcame the resistance of Oran, has ordered that all French who opposed the United States should be treated with leniency in conformity with the general policy of the commander in chief.

"4. During intermittent attacks in the Algiers area, 16 axis aircraft are now known to have been destroyed. Bougie is now occupied by allied forces."

Believe Darlan Brought Fleet to Allied Side

U.S. Plea: Join Us

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 11 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the American expeditionary forces in North Africa, today broadcast an appeal to the French fleet to "join the united nations in the fight for freedom."

The appeal was broadcast in French over British naval channels at frequent intervals.

"Hitler has taken your country and now he wants your ships," Gen. Eisenhower said. "Do not let him take them. Sail at once for Gibraltar and join us."

At the same time an appeal has gone out over all British and American naval channels to French merchant ships to put into allied ports, particularly North African, or scuttle their ships.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 12 [Thursday]. — THE TRIBUNE understands that the French fleet, which supposedly sailed from Toulon two days ago, already is in allied hands. Informed quarters believe that Adm. Jean Darlan, former commander of all French forces, is coöperating fully with the allied leaders in North Africa. These quarters are convinced that he has retained complete command of the French navy.

Mystery of Fleet's Whereabouts.

LONDON, Nov. 12 [Thursday] (AP).—Whereabouts of the bulk of the French fleet, who controls it, and what they are going to do with it provided a tense mystery today, 24 hours after Adolf Hitler's legions started marching across France toward the navy's base at Toulon.

The Daily Express published a report from a staff correspondent "on the French frontier" this morning that "several units" of the French navy, including a number of submarines, steamed out of Toulon early yesterday morning with the intention of joining the allies in Africa.

Authoritative British sources remained silent on the fleet's location, but some usually well-informed observers said "there is every reason to believe" that at least a "substantial part" of it is joining the forces of the united nations, due to the influence of Adm. Jean Darlan, erstwhile commander of all Vichy French armed forces, who now is being held by the Americans at Algiers.

Vichy Denies Reports.

These reports on the departure of parts of the fleet from Toulon first began appearing almost as soon as the invasion of France was begun, and Vichy sources denied them. A

U. S. CHUTISTS HELP CONQUER ORAN AFTER RECORD 1,500 MI. HOP

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN FRENCH NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 11 (AP).—American parachutists staged the longest air borne invasion in history when they flew in transport planes 1,500 miles nonstop from England to participate in the assault on Oran.

It was disclosed tonight that the parachute troops, led by Col. Ed Raff of New York, 34 year old West Point graduate, and wearing camouflaged battle suits, boarded planes early Saturday night and flew continuously for eight hours across Europe and the Mediterranean to land at dawn Sunday near Oran.

None of the parachutists except Raff knew when they started where they were going.

Maj. Gen. Mark Clark, in discussing the feat, said "I called in Raff and told him what we planned and asked him if he thought it possible. He said 'Give me some time to think it over.'

"I had to leave the office, but in a few moments he came back and left me a note," the deputy supreme commander said. "It read: 'We can do it. But first I want my own battalion to do the job and I want personally to lead them.'"

Both requests were granted.

The longest known previous air borne troop movement was in the Norwegian invasion when the Germans flew parachutists from fields near Namsos to Narvik, which is less than 400 miles. Nazi parachute troops attacking Crete had only a short jump.

GERMANS POUR THRU FRANCE TO MEDITERRANEAN

Italians Take Nice; Land in Corsica.

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP).—Germany's armies tonight were pouring across France to the beaches of the Mediterranean, and the border of Spain, with the Vichy régime utterly at an end.

This evening the Germans announced their troops had reached all their objectives within 12 hours after crossing the demarcation line.

In the early hours of this dramatic day, Adolf Hitler had turned the clock back to June 24, 1940, destroying his armistice with France on the grounds that it was immediately threatened by allied invasion from the North African coast.

His divisions were moving rapidly thru the so-called unoccupied zone to the great port of Marseilles and the naval station of Toulon, by way of the Rhone valley and the Midi. They also were spreading out along the Pyrenees frontier after reaching Canfranc, a small Spanish town in Huesca province.

[A Berne, Switzerland, dispatch said the Berlin radio announced early this morning that "our troops have occupied Marseilles, Montpellier, Pau, and Toulouse."]

Italians at Nice.

Italian troops, doing Hitler's bidding, advanced westward along the French Riviera to Nice, and others were reported to have landed at Bastia, on the northeast coast of Corsica. Hitler claimed the American-British force in Africa planned to occupy Corsica first, then proceed to southern France.

This island home of Napoleon, 100 miles from Nice, is being taken under axis "protection," Hitler announced.

Before dawn Hitler informed bewildered old Marshal Petain and "the French people" that he had "known for 24 hours" that the next allied attack would be against Corsica and the French Riviera coast; that therefore German and Italian troops would occupy the Mediterranean shoreline "on the quickest way thru France" and also "take part in the protection of Corsica."

Petain Protests.

Aghast, Petain then replied: "I protest solemnly"; accused Hitler of "suppressing the first assumptions and principles of the armistice," and, it was reported, added that he would in no way interfere with any resistance which the French might offer to the advancing German and Italian troops.

On this 24th anniversary of another armistice, however, the French, disarmed and hungry, had no hope of offering any real obstacle to the extension of enemy occupation.

Tonight Petain and Pierre Laval were still at Vichy, their shadow capital; German officers and their staffs were reported to have entered the hotel occupied by the "government." Earlier reports said that Petain and Gen. Maxime Weygand had left for an undisclosed destination.

Offers Régime Seat at Versailles.

Hitler, in his message, offered to Petain the sop of a "government seat" at Versailles. There was no indication that Petain or even Laval would accept; indeed, Laval, the quondam "chief of government," was reported in some quarters to have refused a military alliance between Germany and France prior to Hitler's decision to occupy all of the country. Laval saw Hitler at Munich early this week.

Hitler set forth the axis position in two parallel communications.

One was addressed to "Frenchmen, officers, and men of the French army." The other was directed to Petain.

Hitler said that the weakness of the French forces in the Mediterranean area would make it easier ground than the German-held zone for allied invasion.

"The German government has known for 24 hours that plans of these operations provide that the next attack will be made against Corsica, in order to occupy that island, and against the south coast of France," he said.

"In these circumstances I felt compelled to order the German army immediately to march thru the unoccupied zone—and this is now being done—and to march to the point aimed at by the Anglo-American landing troops."

Again and again he insisted that,

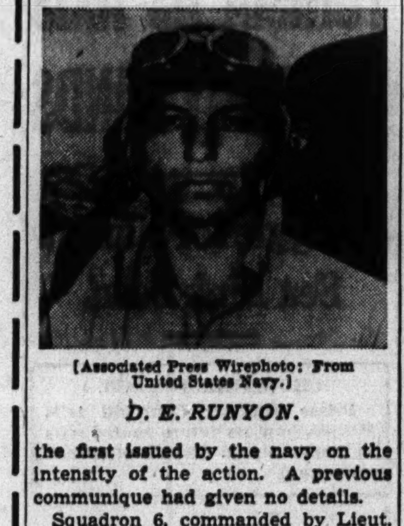
HOW YANKS SHOT ALONG 2 FRONTS ONE BATTLE TOLD

Two Jap Ships Bombed in Kiska Harbor.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—A single fighter squadron from a United States aircraft carrier shot down 27 enemy planes, probably shot down another, and forced still another to fly into the sea when the Japanese made their first major thrust at the Solomon Islands last Aug. 24, the navy disclosed today.

Altho the action took place almost three months ago, today's report was the first issued by the navy on the intensity of the action. A previous communique had given no details.



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From United States Navy.]

D. E. RUNYON.

Squadron 6, commanded by Lieut. L. H. Bauer of Philadelphia, was serving as part of a United States naval task force when it was learned that a strong Japanese air attack was imminent. The Japs had at least two carriers in the vicinity.

The squadron was assigned to take its Grumman Wildcats aloft to protect the American ships, including an aircraft carrier. Seventeen pilots, some officers and some enlisted men, made the big kill and lost only two pilots and four planes.

One Pilot Gets Four.

The best score was made by Machinist D. E. Runyon of Waynetown, Ind., who started his attacks at 18,000 feet where he found an enemy dive bomber and went in against it with the sun behind him. Under his blasting, the dive bomber, an Aichi 99, exploded in the air. Runyon got another dive bomber with the same maneuver. Two other Jap. bombers promptly left the scene.

Runyon then shot down a Jap Zero, pulled up under another dive bomber and sent it down in flames.

The two pilots listed as missing are Ensign D. C. Barnes, Holland, Tex., and Ensign B. W. Reid, New Orleans.

Navy Tells Battle Thrills.

"The first contact was made by a four plane section led by Ensign Doyle C. Barnes. It caught the advance scout of the enemy bombers, a twin float seaplane, and Barnes shot it down.

"In the next few minutes another four plane section, led by Lieut. A. O. Vorse Jr., was attacked by enemy fighters at 8,000 feet. The Wildcats fought this attack all the way up to 20,000 feet, where the Japanese gave up the fight.

"Zeros again attacked at 12,000 feet. Ensign F. R. Register hit one Zero and the pilot was seen to jump without a parachute. Register caught a Messerschmitt 109 in his sights and shot it down in flames. Lieut. Vorse gave a Zero a burst and set it afire.

"Four other Wildcats under Ensign G. W. Brooks intercepted 10 Aichi 99 dive bombers and Mitsubishi 97 torpedo planes about 60 miles from the task force. The Wildcats dove down. Brooks caught one dive bomber from the side and it went into the sea. He switched his guns to the tail of a torpedo plane and it went down. Ensign H. A. March Jr. got a torpedo plane. Radio Electrician T. W. Rhodes shot down a dive bomber and another went down under the fire of L. F. Mankin, aviation pilot first class.

"At the same time Ensign R. M. Disque was diving on one of the Zeros which went into a 90 degree bank, but one burst set it afire. Disque's plane was being riddled with 7.7 caliber bullets from another Zero. This opened up his vacuum tank and he made for his carrier. His Wildcat was counted as a loss when examined on the carrier."

The Fighting in the Solomons

YANKS ATTACK BOTH JAP FLANKS ON GUADALCANAL

Two Enemy Ships Hit in Kiska Harbor.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Destruction of 12 Japanese planes by aerial attacks in the north and south Pacific was announced by the navy today in a communique which also reported that American troops on Guadalcanal Islands in the Solomons were conducting "offensive operations" on both their eastern and western flanks.

Damaging of two enemy cargo vessels by aerial bombardment also was announced.

There was no explanation of the meaning of "offensive operations," and it was not clear whether fighting had once more broken out between the main Japanese and American forces to the west of Guadalcanal air field.

On both flanks the ground operations were supported by United States army planes. The action east of the American positions presumably was a continuation of the advance under way in that sector for several days, with the apparent purpose of bottling up Japanese forces recently landed there.

Ships Caught at Kiska.

Seven of the 12 planes destroyed were float type Zeros caught on Holtz bay, Attu Island Monday. The Japanese abandoned that Aleutians outpost in mid-September, and a naval spokesman said the reconnaissance which disclosed the presence of the Zeros disclosed no other sign of enemy activity there. It was presumed, therefore, that the Japanese had made no attempt to reoccupy the island.

The two enemy cargo vessels were caught at Kiska, the foe's sole remaining Aleutians base, also on Monday. One of the army planes which damaged them was itself damaged by enemy anti-aircraft fire, but managed to return to its base.

Increase Toll of Planes.

The navy's report on the south Pacific increased the total of Japanese planes previously reported destroyed during an attack by American aircraft on an enemy cruiser-destroyer formation in the Solomons last Saturday.

The original report said five float type Zeros and seven float type biplanes were shot down. Today's report said eight craft of each type were destroyed, a net increase of four planes.

In addition the navy said that on Tuesday morning two Grumman Wildcat fighters dived thru a flight of 15 Zeros at an altitude of 27,000 feet near Guadalcanal. One Zero was shot down.

United States aircraft also attacked a force of five enemy destroyers east of New Georgia Island, in the Solomons, Tuesday afternoon.

MAAS DECLARES U. S. IS LOSING WAR IN PACIFIC

Richmond, Va., Nov. 11 (AP).—Rep. Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.], a colonel in the marine corps reserve who recently returned from active duty in the South Pacific, said tonight that America is losing the war in the Pacific and charged that Washington has misled the people in regard to some of our "victories" over the Japanese.

Rep. Maas, speaking at an Armistice day rally here, declared that Gen. James Doolittle's raid on Tokio was successful, but "not one single plane ever got back," altho many of the flyers did.

The sinking of four allied cruisers in the early stages of the Solomons battle, he said, was "one of the worst naval disasters in our history," comparable to Pearl Harbor, because the American fleet was forewarned yet did nothing to defend itself. In another Pacific battle, which he did not identify, Maas said American losses were heavier than the Japs', tho the engagement was described to the American people as a victory.

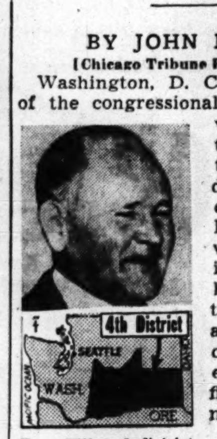
G. O. P. LANDSLIDE VICTIM BLAMES 'DUMB' NEW DEAL

Warns Leaders to Heed Public's Wrath.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. Hill and district he represents.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—One of the congressional victims in last week's defeat of the New Deal at the polls rose today to explain his defeat to his colleagues and to warn the administration that it had better heed the public's wrath against "burocratic dumbheadedness and inefficiency" in the national capital.

The speaker was Rep. Knute Hill [D., Wash.], who came to Washington with the New Deal in 1932, followed it rather consistently and supported President Roosevelt's third term, which, according to intimates, Hill later regretted. Hill lost his seat in congress to Hal Holmes, Republican, after serving five terms.

In addressing the house today, Hill ridiculed the alibis of administration officials, including Vice President Henry A. Wallace, that so many Democrats were defeated because men in the armed forces or in factories didn't vote.

Ridicules Alibis.

"Some commentators say and some disgruntled losers in the recent election think they have an alibi by saying that the 50 per cent or more who failed to vote were either in the army or absent in defense plants," Hill told the house.

"Who has any authority to say that they would have cast their votes for the incumbents? That is merely fatuous reasoning. Let us not deceive ourselves. The people thruout the country are intelligent and are well aware of conditions. They resent many of the things that are going on in the name of 'win the war.'

"The upsurge of the voters was a healthy sign of live democracy," he declared. "For my part I was glad to see it," Hill said frankly.

Predicts Greater Revolt.

"Unless those in authority heed this warning and rectify these unsound and undemocratic practices immediately there will be a more serious and decided revolt in 1944," he warned. "The people of the United States are sound at heart. Jefferson trusted them. Lincoln trusted them. Why should not we who proclaim these two as our heroes also trust them?

"We can and will win this war, but it will be won by the rank and file in these United States and not by burocrats and visionaries here in Washington, D. C. Not only do I abide by the verdict of the voters back home, but I will continue to do my very best to help in correcting the political economic, and social evils too pervalent in our beloved America. This is the duty and privilege of a private citizen the same as of a public servant," he concluded.

Details Inefficiency.

In his message, the defeated congressman detailed some instances of inefficiency in the war effort which the peoples have resented.

"Criminal waste is going on in our camps and in our defense plants," Hill declared. "It is an open secret. The fact that we are at war is no excuse. Unusual wages are being paid in these plants and too often for labor not performed. Dairy cattle have been slaughtered because farm help is unavailable due to high wages in defense industries.

"This is neither economy nor common sense. It is just plain common dombheadedness and inefficiency. The war cannot be won in this manner. Food from our farms and materials for clothing are just as necessary as war implements. The people back home know this and insist on it—swivel chair burocrats and brass hats back here in Washington, D. C., to the contrary notwithstanding."

RANKIN URGES ARMISTICE ON ALL 'HARASSING'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—A plea for an armistice on "harassment" within the United States was made in the house today by Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.].

"Let's stop harassing each other," Rankin said. "There is a resolution being circulated to harrass the white people of the southern states. Let's have an armistice to stop that, to stop labor racketeering, to stop harassing farmers, independent business men and as much as I admire the Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, let's have a stop to their persecution of the independent press."

"Let's put a stop to this harassing of the people at home," he said.

Scott Field Commander Made Brigadier General

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The senate has confirmed the temporary appointment of Col. Wolcott P. Hayes, commander of Scott field, Illinois to be a brigadier general. Complete, Speedy Victory Pledged by Britain's King

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Speaking from the throne at the opening of the new session of parliament, King George VI. today declared his government was committed to complete, speedy victory and the building of a better peacetime world at home and in the colonies. The Atlantic charter, he said, provides the united nations with a foundation for rebuilding international society after the war.

ANDREWS FLIES AFAR TO HONOR 100 AIR HEROES

Pins Medal on Brereton; Pilots Own Plane.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 11 (AP).—The new commander of United States forces in the middle east today moved swiftly from headquarters to advanced air fields and to army hospitals in decorating nearly 100 officers and men who have been fighting the enemy for months in the air.

Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews pinned the distinguished flying cross on Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton. United States air force commander in the middle east, for gallantry last April in an attack on the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal.

Brereton and Andrews, with the latter at the controls, flew many miles to several air bases to honor American flyers who paused just long enough in battle operations to receive the awards. Other decorations were conferred at three hospitals in the Cairo area.

Award Announced Earlier.

Brereton's award was announced Oct. 30 by the war department in Washington, D. C.

Brereton's citation told how he commanded a squadron of six B17s which made a 780 mile flight over water involving 9 hours and 40 minutes flying time. The attack was in direct support of the Burma campaign.

Lieut. Lyman Middleditch, Highland, N. J., received the distinguished service cross for "extraordinary heroism in the Egyptian desert Oct. 27. His citation said in part:

"While a member of a formation of fighter aircraft acting as top cover for fighter bombers, Lieut. Middleditch sighted a formation of enemy fighters. Without thought for his own safety and bearing in mind only his duty to defend our own fighter bombers, he aggressively engaged the enemy and without aid destroyed three Messerschmitt 109s thru his superior skill and unerring marksmanship."

The awards included 51 silver stars for gallantry in action, 28 purple hearts for wounds in action, four distinguished flying crosses, three soldier's medals, two air medals, and one distinguished service cross.

Several from This Area.

Air medal—Capt. Virgil Ingram, Greenville, Ind.

Sell Your Typewriter? U. S. Needs 600,000 Now

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, appealed tonight to owners of standard size typewriters to sell 600,000 of them to the government for use by the army, navy, and war agencies. "The need for these typewriters is urgent," Nelson said. "They won't win the war, but not having them could delay victory."

BEGIN EXCHANGE OF FRENCH AND U.S. PRISONERS

Casablanca, Rabat Taken Over by Americans.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN FRENCH NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 11 (AP).—Adm. Jean Darlan, former French chief of all defense forces, who had been negotiating secretly for days with United States Maj. Gen. Mark W. Clark, today ordered the cessation of hostilities in all French North Africa.

The American expeditionary forces, under Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, thus brought the first phase of their occupation campaign to a lightning conclusion after a little over three days of resistance in Morocco and Algeria.

Darlan's sudden order to the French forces to surrender said "our engagements having been fulfilled and the bloody battle become useless, the order is given to all land, sea, and air forces in North Africa to cease the fight against the power of Americans and their allies as from the receipt of this order, and to return to their barracks and bases and observe the strictest neutrality."

Casablanca Surrenders.

American troops occupied Casablanca this morning following the surrender of the French land and sea forces there by the commander, Adm. Michelier. Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, United States commander in Morocco, conducted the surrender negotiations there.

In ordering cessation of fighting, Darlan said he assumed authority in the name of Marshal Petain. [Petain, at Vichy, however, contradicted this.]

"In Algeria and Morocco the commanders in chief will put themselves in liaison with local commanders on the subject of terms for suspension of hostilities," Darlan's order said. "I assume authority over North Africa in the name of the marshal. Present senior officers retain their commands and political and administrative organizations remain in force. No change will be made without a fresh order from me. All prisoners on each side will be exchanged."

Consider Dakar Isolated.

Altho Darlan's order did not apply in Dakar in West Africa, that naval base was isolated and considered certain to fall now that the Germans have occupied Vichy France.

Military quarters said the German occupation of Vichy France was "not a bad thing from the allied point of view as it now stretches German defenses over new territory, straining them to the utmost to find new occupation troops to keep down the population."

The dramatic dénouement pointed to early establishment of a refugee French government in North Africa and organization of French colonial troops at the side of the allies under Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud.

Darlan's precise rôle in the developments, however, still was obscure except for one thing—he no longer could be numbered among the men of Vichy.

American Troops Pour In.

Resistance in Morocco ended just about 77 hours after Eisenhower had launched his American-style blitzkrieg. Hostilities ceased at 7 a. m. [1 a. m., Chicago war time].

Gen. Eisenhower already had disclosed that American troops were in Rabat, the Moroccan capital, north of Casablanca.

American troops immediately poured into Casablanca. Gen. Eisenhower ordered Gen. Patton, to place a wreath on the tomb of Marshal Louis Lyautey, founder of the French empire, at Rabat.

[A United Press correspondent, whose report was made available to the Associated Press thru a pooling arrangement of military authorities, said "American forces assembled in the main square of Rabat to pay tribute to the memory" of Lyautey.]

Eisenhower's Proclamation.

Gen. Eisenhower's proclamation said:

"As commander in chief of the allied forces I have the honor to participate in the liberation of French North Africa. It is therefore a great privilege for me to salute with deep respect the memory of Marshal Lyautey on the birthday of that great soldier of France who created the North African empire. His work remains and will remain as a permanent monument to the genius and patriotism of Frenchmen everywhere. It is particularly fitting that we should pay tribute to Marshal Lyautey since the forces under my command bring with them solemn assurance that his achievement—the North African empire—shall remain French."

Excellent relations have been established between the French civilian population and the Americans.

The French soldiers at Algiers and Oran drew praise from Maj. Gen. Lloyd Fredendall for their attitude. At Oran, American pilots reported that French workers showed up at the air fields the day after the American occupation, ready and willing to work as tho nothing had happened.

A Closeup of Invasion Developments in North Africa

Lieut. Gen. Kan Anderson, with the crack British 1st army, the vanguard of several divisions sent to Africa to reënforce the Americans, has taken charge in Algeria, with United States Maj. Gen. Charles W. Ryder, the conqueror of Algiers, second in command.

Air Marshal Sir William Welsh has been made chief of the British royal air force in the area under Gen. Eisenhower.

Jump Off Base for Italy.

The northernmost town of Africa, Bizerte is 38 miles north of Tunis, capital of the French protectorate, it would provide an excellent jumping off place for an allied invasion thrust against Sardinia, Sicily, or the Italian mainland, or all three. It has a magnificent land-locked harbor and is at the mouth of a great lagoon.

It was believed Marshal Rommel was attempting to withdraw his battered axis army into Tripoli and sweep into Tunisia.

With anchors at Bizerte and Sicily across the 130 mile wide strait the axis would then try to keep the Mediterranean cut in half. Axis control of this bottleneck would place a heavy burden on Britain's 8th army in Egypt trying to maintain communications stretching back perhaps 1,000 miles to Cairo.

The allies' best chance to wreck such a plan was to smash into Tunisia themselves, in which case Rommel might be forced into a Mediterranean Dunkirk.

Allied bomber squadrons and submarines roamed the Mediterranean and struck repeated blows at enemy surface forces that might have hoped to assist Rommel in his painful retreat.

A British submarine reported scoring two torpedo hits on a force of three cruisers and three destroyers east of Sicily, while torpedo planes operating from Malta reported two hits on a cruiser south of Cape Spartavento. Afterward, fighter planes on a broad sweep from Malta declared there was not an Italian vessel in sight.

More Warships Arrive.

French radio reports continued to emphasize the arrival of American and British convoys in the Mediterranean area, and quoted observers at La Linea, Spain, as saying several thousand British, American, and Canadian troops were now at Gibraltar.

Two cruisers, four destroyers and a large transport entered Gibraltar harbor early this morning, joining a battleship, three aircraft carriers, four cruisers, 11 destroyers, and five transports already in the harbor and 38 merchant ships in the bay, this report said. Among the merchantmen was the French ship Caudebec.

A Lisbon dispatch said a large force of transports, bombers, and gliders was sighted off the Portuguese coast early this afternoon flying southward. The dispatch gave no further details and did not state the nationality of the planes.

Claim Aircraft Carrier Hit.

BERLIN, Nov. 11 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The high command said today that axis air forces attacking the British and American landing fleet off the North African coast scored bomb hits on an aircraft carrier and one merchantman. [One German radio broadcast said the carrier was the Argus.] Fighter pilots were said to have shot down three allied planes.

Italian Naval Claims.

ROME, Nov. 11 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—A communique from the Italian high command claimed today that Italian torpedo carrying planes sank one allied cruiser, damaged another, and presumably sank a 15,000 ton cargo ship in attacks against British and American naval formations off Algiers. The communique also asserted that the Algiers airdrome had been bombed "with great success," starting large fires.

VICHY TELEPHONE GIRL PUTS THRU OWN CALL: FOR YANKS TO COME ON

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 11 (AP).—One Vichy telephone operator saw a red, white and blue lining in the German occupation.

On a call from Lisbon to the Associated Press' Vichy office today she replied:

"I regret more than I can say that the American press is not able to reply. But perhaps in a few days or a few weeks you will not need to use the telephone. We all expect to see you here soon—the sooner the better."

This was interrupted by an irate Spanish operator shouting, "Have you reached your party? Have you reached your party?"

The Vichy operator replied, laughing, "No, dearie, but they will—they will."

GEN. M'NAIR'S WARNING: 'KILL OR BE KILLED'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair told the army ground forces tonight that the prospect before them was to "kill or be killed." McNair, commanding general of the ground forces, spoke over a radio network.

Surveys of the army, said McNair, disclosed that one-fourth of the men wanted to fight, one-half of those in combat divisions expected to fight, and one-half the army expected the war to end in two years. "But your reason must tell you," he said, "that it will end only when you finish it."

McNair said the superb training and combat experience of the Germans and Japanese made them formidable enemies. Training of the American forces has been good, and "you are unsurpassed as potential soldiers," he added.

CHICAGO SISTER AWAITS WORD OF CONSUL IN VICHY

The fate of Leslie A. Weisenburg, 49 years old, an American vice consul at Vichy, France, is causing concern to his sister, Mrs. Gladies Bishop, 2540 East 73d street. She has had no word from him since the American invasion of North Africa.

Weisenburg, a former Chicagoan, recently was sent on a consular mission to Lisbon, Portugal, Mrs. Bishop said, and she has not learned whether he had returned to France before American nationals there were interned.

Her brother has been in the consular service since 1918.

We Did It Before; We Can Do It Again!

Not so many years ago Chicago streets echoed to the "clack-clack" of Stop & Shop delivery horses. But as Chicago grew, so Stop & Shop territory grew. Motor delivery became a necessity.

But now, the hum of motor traffic is muffled by war. For the most part our motor deliveries will continue, unless there should be further governmental regulations of present schedules. But on THE NEAR NORTH SIDE an attentive ear may, again, catch the measured "clack-clack" of our delivery horses as they trail swaying wagons gorged with the grand foods that have made this store famous all over the country.

Our Dobbins know they are no match for the whirling motors they displace, but jubilant with their new-found pride of "work again," they pledge valiant and unfailing service to this nearby section. They hope you'll welcome them.

CHURCHILL TELLS HOW ROMMEL WAS ROUTED IN EGYPT

Asserts Allies Blasted Him with a 'Thunderbolt.'

Church Bells to Ring

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP).—For the first time since June, 1940, Britain's church bells will ring Sunday in thanksgiving for the 8th army's victory in Egypt. Church bells were silenced by the government when Hitler's invasion threat hung low over these islands and were ordered rung only in case of an attack.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today told the house of commons how a "thunderbolt" of the British 8th army broke the back of the axis forces in North Africa and started them on their pell mell retreat. It was a new army corps, the 10th, comprised of two British armored divisions and a New Zealand division, which provided the "ball of fire" to smash the German Afrika Korps, Churchill asserted.

The 40,000 to 50,000 men of the 10th corps, Churchill said, were withdrawn from the El Alamein front to a spot 50 miles to the rear of the lines. There they were given special training in tank tactics to prepare them for their crushing blow.

Altho the enemy's aerial reconnaissance discovered the camouflaged training base and he knew an attack was impending, he was duped when the 10th corps moved to the front because it left behind it a false replica of its camp. Thus fooling the enemy, the 10th corps was able to unleash its blow without the enemy detecting its direction.

Axis Loses 59,000 Men.

This tremendous assault at the outset and the rapid British pursuit of the remnants of Marshal Erwin Rommel's army have cost the axis an estimated 59,000 troops killed, wounded, or captured, Churchill said. These 34,000 Germans and 25,000 Italians were knocked out of the war at a cost of only 13,600 officers and men, he asserted.

When the British on Oct. 23 decided upon their all out assault against Rommel's army, Churchill said, the enemy "was turning the position in front of us into a veritable fortress—blasting gunpits and trenches in solid rock, laying enormous and elaborate mine fields, and strengthening himself in every manner. . . ."

"It was necessary to continue a penetration of about 6,000 yards at the first stroke in order to get thru the hostile mine fields and trenches," Churchill explained. "The breach was made by an entire new corps, the 10th . . . 'that ball of fire,' as it was described to me by those who had seen it at work.

Troops Withdraw to Train.

"This very powerful force of between 40,000 and 50,000 men, including the best tanks—Grants and Shermans—was withdrawn from the battlefront immediately after Rommel's repulse in the second battle of El Alamein and devoted itself entirely to intensive training exercises and preparations.

"It was this thunderbolt, hurled thru the gap, which finished Rommel and his arrogant army. . . .

"The enemy suspected or, indeed, knew an attack was impending. Where, when, or how was altogether hidden from him. This 10th corps, which he had seen from the air, exercising 50 miles away in the rear, moved silently elsewhere in the night, leaving an exact simulacrum [image] of its tanks and other arrangements where it was, and proceeded to its point of attack. . . ."

More Bombs for Italy.

In a message ringing with optimism Churchill told commons it could be sure "that many things are going to happen in the next few days," and sounded an ominous warning to the Nazis' nervous ally when he said: "We shortly shall have far greater facilities for bombing Italy."

It was necessary at times for the prime minister to depart from his set speech, as news of important events continued to reach him even as he addressed the opening session of parliament. He told commons that the news to the fall of Casablanca, Morocco, to American forces was given him just as he entered the chamber.

"Today news reaches us that Hitler has decided to overrun all of France," he said, "thus breaking the armistice to which the Vichy government had kept such pitiful and perverted fidelity at the horrible cost even of sacrificing their ships and sailors in firing on American rescue ships.

"Here is the moment when all Frenchmen should sink personal views and rivalries and think, as Gen. Charles de Gaulle is thinking, only of the liberation of their native land."

Churchill first recounted to the house what he termed "the great battle of Egypt, which is a British victory of the first order, and also about the other half of the combination, namely, United States and British intervention in North Africa."

Long Preparations Outlined.

"There are three points which must be duly examined in matters of this magnitude and violence," Churchill continued. "First, time is required for preparation. Secondly, the need of combination and concert. Thirdly, the importance of surprise.

"I must ask for indulgence of the house if, in any part of my statement, I should lack full historical precision. I have not had time to give to mature consideration of the exact balance between different elements and forces involved.

"Taking the question of time, it is not generally realized how much time these great operations take to mount. For instance, British divisions which reënforced the 8th army for this battle left England in May or early June. Most of the six pounders [guns] we are using in so many hundreds—and have been using—were dispatched before the fall of Tobruk. This also applies to the more heavily armored British tanks and the more heavily gunned British tanks.

United States Gives Up Tanks.

"On the dark day when news of the fall of Tobruk came in, I was with President Roosevelt at the White House.

"Their very best tanks, the Shermans, were just coming out of factories. The first batch had been newly placed in the hands of their divisions who had been waiting for them. The President took a large number of these tanks back from the troops to whom they had just been given. They were placed on board ship in the early days of July and they sailed direct to Suez under American escort.

"The President also sent us a large number of self-propelled 105 mm. guns, which are most useful weapons for contending with 88 mm. high velocity guns of which the Germans have made so much use. One ship in this precious convoy was sunk by a U-boat.

Lost Cargoes Replaced.

"Immediately, without being asked, the United States replaced it with another ship carrying an equal number of both weapons.

"When I was in Egypt in the early days of August, I visited every unit which was to be armed with these tanks and guns. Some of them are the most seasoned regiments we have, including the yeomanry division. But alas, they had no weapons adequate for the fight.

"None of these units were ready to fight in the second repulse of Rommel's attack in the second battle of El Alamein, altho all of them were ready for action by Oct. 23, when we began what I call the battle of Egypt. But you will see that the decision taken by the President on June 20 took four months to be operative, altho utmost energy and speed were used at each stage. Records were broken at every point in unloading and fitting up of those weapons and in their issue to the troops. But it was indispensable that the men should also have reasonable training in handling them.

Five Months Time Elapsed.

"One may say in fact that between taking the decision for reënforcing the middle east for the great operation and the reënforcements coming into action, a period of five months or more had been required. Thus before the vote of censure early in July all measures in our power already had been taken, first to repel the enemy's further assaults, and secondly, to take decisive offensives against him.

"Of course if we had not had disasters, the measures taken in the hope of better fortune would have carried us by now far on the road to Tripoli. But there are consolations. In all this Egyptian fighting enemy losses have been very heavy and he could not have found a worse place to lose a battle.

Third of Nazi Ships Sunk.

"One in three of his ships with their sorely needed cargoes have gone to the bottom of the sea thru our submarines and our air force. The resources of German and Italian shipping are most severely strained now. In this battle the enemy's losses have been mortal so far as this theater is concerned, and he had to employ a great part of his air force, including a third of all his transport and long range reconnaissance planes, merely to keep his army supplied with food, munitions, and fuel.

"His air effort against Russia has been definitely affected during all these last three months. His U-boat activities in the Mediterranean have been considerably reduced. Great as has been the cost and burden to us of the African campaign, many as have been the disappointments and mistakes, it has from first to last been an immense drain upon German and Italian resources and the most effective means we have yet had of drawing a portion of the enemy's strength and wrath from Russia upon ourselves.

Handicapped by Distances.

"Another important point to remember is the need of combining and concerting the operations of various allies and making them fit together into a general design. One great obstacle to the constant unity of the allies is geography. We stand around the circumference of a circle. The main enemy lies in the center.

"Hitler can summon quite easily a conference in Berlin from anywhere he chooses in Central Europe and can bring together, apart from Japan, all those concerned in the war effort of the axis powers without their representative authorities being subject to any serious inconvenience or becoming even temporarily detached from the task which each has in hand.

"For us, thru geography, joint consultation is far more difficult. President Roosevelt has not found it possible to leave the United States nor Mr. Stalin to leave Russia. Therefore, I have had to make journeys in each direction, carrying with me to and fro the most important military authorities and expert authorities, and to labor, so far as possible, to bring all our plans into concert and harmony.

"As far as Russia was concerned, her course and position were fixed. The soviets have had to repel the terrific onslaught of Germany. In defending themselves, they have rendered incomparable service to the common cause. They have rendered this service by killing, or permanently putting out of action, far more millions than Germany lost in the whole of the last war.

"The Russians have borne the burden and the heat of day. Our need was to help them, but to help them in a manner effective and suitable.

"An attack which will be made in due course across the channel or the North Sea requires an immense degree of preparation, vast numbers of special landing craft, and a great army, trained division by division into amphibious warfare. All this is proceeding, but it takes time. Of course, should the enemy become demoralized at any moment, the same careful preparation will not be needed. Risks could be run on a large scale. But this certainly is not the case at the present time.

Nazi Veterans Guard Coast.

"There is a German army in France as large, apart from the homeguard, as is ours in Great Britain. It is not so well equipped as the British or American troops, but it contains many veteran German soldiers, many experienced officers—men who have taken part in the overthrow and massacre of a dozen countries. It has ample weapons of a late type. It has, to aid it, immense fortifications erected along the channel and the North Sea coasts.

"It would have been physically impossible for us to have made an effective invasion of the continent during the summer or autumn of 1942.

"Why then, it will be said, did you allow false hopes to be raised in Russian breasts? Why then did you agree with the United States and Russia to a communique which spoke of a second front in Europe in 1942?

Allies Never Misled.

"I must say quite frankly that I hold it perfectly justifiable to deceive the enemy, even if at the same time your own people are for a while misled.

"There is one thing, however, you must never do, and that is mislead your ally.

"All British promises to Russia have been made in writing or given across the table in recorded conversations with the soviet representatives. In June I gave the Russian government a written document making it perfectly clear that, while we were preparing to make a landing in 1942, we could not promise to do so. Meanwhile, whether or not we were going to attack the continent in August or September, it was of the utmost importance to Russia that the enemy should believe we were so prepared and so resolved. Only in this way could we draw and keep the largest number of Germans pinned along the coast of France and in the Low Countries.

Takes Up Battle of Egypt.

"Now I come to the great enterprise which has just been unfolded.

"Orders for the North African expedition were issued at the end of July. As a very important part of this North African operation, it was necessary to bring the 8th British army into condition to regain the initiative and to resume the offensive in Egypt. At that time there was very great anxiety about our ability even to hold the front at El Alamein.

"I have already told the house about the changes which, with approval of the cabinet, and with advice of chief of imperial general staff, I made in the middle east command and in the command of the 8th army.

"All these changes had to be made in the face of an imminent attack by Rommel's army, preparations for which were plainly apparent.

Rommel Forces Attack.

"During the night of Aug. 30-31, when the August moon was already on the wane, Rommel's threatened attack was delivered. Gen. Rommel immediately found himself confronted with stern resistance and with artillery used on the largest scale and abundantly supplied with ammunition. He did not press south to the extremes and, after about three days, he withdrew.

"The narrowness of the passage between the sea and the Qattara depression which had proved so serviceable to us when we were resisting Rommel's attacks in both defensive battles of El Alamein became, of course, a most serious adverse factor to our own advance when we ourselves were ready in our turn to assume the offensive.

"Our attack had to fit in harmoniously with the great operations in French North Africa, to which it was a prelude. We had to wait until our troops were trained in the use of new weapons that were arriving—if it were possible to wait—but we had to have a full moon, on account of the method of attack."

Churchill then discussed how the 10th corps had been withdrawn and trained for the knockout smash at Rommel's lines. He continued:

"The success of these plans could not have been achieved without substantial superiority in the air. The RAF had a substantial proportion of American manned squadrons, and by hard fighting, before the battle, they had established superiority over the enemy and had reduced the supplies of munitions which were behind lines and which were coming up for the enemy.

"These air attacks prevented the enemy from getting fuel and munitions to the front. When we retreated all those hundreds of miles from Tobruk at such speed, what saved us was our superior air power and what consummated Rommel's ruin was this superior air force, harassing and hammering him at every stage.

Tobruk Avenged.

"The historians may explain Tobruk, but the 8th army has done better. It has avenged it.

"Very full accounts of the course of the battle during these 12 days have been given by intrepid reporters and photographers who have been given a free run over the field at risk of their lives.

"It was impossible to give an estimate of the enemy's casualties, but last night Gen. Sir Harold Alexander gave me the estimate as 59,000 German and Italians killed, wounded and taken prisoner. Of these 34,000 were Germans and 25,000 Italians.

"Of course, there are many more Italians who may be wandering about the desert and every effort is being made to bring them in.

"The enemy lost irretrievably about 500 tanks and no less than 1,000 guns of all types from 47 mm. upward.

British Losses 13,600.

"Our losses, altho severe and painful, have not been unexpectedly high, having regard to the task which our troops have been called upon to face. They are 13,600 officers and men. They were spread over the whole army, 58 per cent falling upon British troops of the United Kingdom.

"Australian, New Zealand, and South African troops were in the forefront of the breakthru. Of the three British infantry divisions, the 51st division bore the brunt and gained further honor for Scotland and the Highlands. The 50th and 44th divisions also acquitted themselves with distinction. The 4th Indian division, 'Fighting French,' and Greek brigades, all played their part with great gallantry.

"Pursuit of the enemy far to the west cannot admit of a forecast where it will stop or what will be left of the enemy. The speed of advance exceeds anything that has ever happened before.

Enemy Cleared from Egypt.

"Egypt is already clear of the enemy. We are advancing in Cirenaica and we may rely upon our generals and airforce to accomplish amazing feats now that the main force of the enemy has been broken.

"Taken by itself, the battle of Egypt must be regarded as an historical victory.

"I must say one word about the third of these elements—about surprise. By a marvelous system of camouflage, complete tactical surprise was achieved in the desert."

Churchill then told how the 10th corps had camouflaged its previous positions when it moved to the front and added:

"The enemy suspected an attack was impending, but did not know when, how, or where, and he had no idea of the scale upon which he was to be assaulted.

Hitler Again Outguessed.

"But what was done by the desert army in the field was accomplished in far vaster scale here at home and in the United States by the gigantic Anglo-American descent upon North Africa.

"Here again Hitler knew something was brewing, but what he could not guess. He even naively complained of the difficulty of divining the plans of military idiots and drunkards. He is quite uncivil from time to time. The working of tortuous minds, he and his staff were unable to discern.

"In fact, however, while he was thus wondering, by far the largest amphibious operation ever conceived was about to sail for a strategic area of cardinal importance, which it reached without the slightest warning as to where the ships on the sea would make their landfall.

"The greatest credit is due to many hundreds of people in Britain and the United States—there may be more—who necessarily had to be informed because of the part they played in the operations, or who could infer from their duties.

"Tribute also is due to the press for the extreme discretion which they practiced and which they were asked to practice, avoiding all speculations on dangerous topics.

"I have completed my account of these operations, and I thought it right to go into detail on them.

Italy to Get "Experience."

"But what is happening now? We, of course, foresaw the reactions which the entry of American and British forces into North Africa would produce in the various countries affected.

"First of all there is Italy, which now will come to a much fuller and better realization of the trials of war, as of the unwisdom of entering into a war when you think your antagonist is prostrate. It will bring home to the people of Italy very much clearer the realization of the trials and horrors of war than they have had opportunity of experiencing up to now.

"The problems of victory are more agreeable than those of defeat but they are no less difficult. In our efforts to capture the initiative we shall be confronted with many perplexing choices, many unavoidable hazards, and I cannot doubt we shall meet with our full share of mistakes, vexations and disappointments. We shall need to use the stimulus of victory to increase our exertions, to perfect our system, and to refine our processes.

"It is in that spirit, sustained by the unswerving support of the house, that we shall bend again to our task."

FBI Questions Vichy Consul Here

Consul General Raymond Imbault-Huart (left) and Vice Consul Francois Martinetti at lunch yesterday in the Cove restaurant of the Belmont hotel.

Status in Doubt

Raymond Imbault-Huart, Vichy consul general in Chicago, continued to maintain silence regarding the American invasion of North Africa as he was questioned for several hours yesterday by a federal bureau of investigation agent in his apartment in the Belmont hotel, 3172 Sheridan road. Closeted with the consul and the agent was François Martinetti, Vichy vice consul.

Jacques Humbert, for five years trade commissioner to the French consulate here, announced he had resigned, effective as of last Monday, severing his relations with the Vichy government. Humbert, a lieutenant in the French army reserve, said he is ready to join French forces fighting against the Nazis.

FIND HARDSHIPS OF WAR TURN MEN TOWARD RELIGION

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN SIDI BARRANI, Egypt, Nov. 10 [Delayed]—(AP).—Virtually all the many thousands of Italians left behind by the retreating Germans in the African desert have surrendered without much fight. Some of the Germans in the pockets have fought it out to the end, as ordered, but many more have given up like the Italians rather than engage in suicidal combats with strong, American made tanks manned by veteran British crews.

The picked men of the German Africa corps remain brave and defiant as long as they are fighting, but wilt once they surrender.

Some Give Way to Tears.

Some give way to tears. Others chatter nervously about the terrific bombings they have taken for weeks.

Most of them seem devout, some wearing crosses about their necks and others carrying Bibles. No matter what attitude a governmental régime may take toward religion, the hardships and dangers of war seem to make men turn toward it.

News of American successes in French North Africa has electrified British and dominion troops already elated by their own victory.

Even during battles, soldiers on seeing an American ask the latest news from Algeria. Developments there give greater meaning to the long, hard fight of the last two years in this desert.

It's a Race to Tripoli.

One jubilant Tommy said:

"Hello, Yank. How are your boys doing in Algeria? It's now only a question of time whether you or we get to Tripoli first."

German prisoners had been told that the United States was a negligible factor, as it was split internally and could not get going until too late.

The Germans knew nothing of the Algerian events, and on seeing letters "U. S." on American correspondents' uniforms they were startled. They thought we were part of an American army.

The axis retreat from El Alamein to Matruh was disorderly, judging by the amount of material left behind. But from Matruh westward the enemy destroyed almost everything that could not be taken along.

One exception was equipment of a chemical laboratory attached to a hospital in Matruh which the Germans entrusted to the Italians for withdrawal. This complete and modern equipment was loaded on a trailer which was abandoned intact on a coastal trail.

Fair Game to Bedouins.

But it did not fall into British hands because the Bedouins regarded it as fair game. In quest for knives, pots, and the other things they valued, they dumped the trailer and within a few minutes they had destroyed $50,000 worth of instruments and apparatus.

Mindful of mines and booby traps, we proceeded carefully along this coastal trail before any British army unit had gone over it.

We saw a trail of kits and their contents where some Italians had broken from a column and made for the main road, apparently to give themselves up. We never caught up with them but we learned their names, ranks, and regiments from what they left behind. There were letters from home and army documents. They were black shirts, and these party garments were among the things discarded. For them Fascism ended on a lonely desert trail.

Greeted as Conquerors.

The Bedouins extended the usual greetings they reserve for conquerors. They wanted us to understand they loved the "Inglees" and had always hated the Germans and Italians. As to the contents of their bulging sacks, they were not looting but merely picking up odds and ends that no one wanted.

Doubtless they had told the Germans the same sort of story they told us. Well, what would you do if you were a Bedouin trying to live a peaceful life with your flocks while great armies were battling back and forth across your desert home?

We saw a skinny white horse that obviously had seen better days. He had been abandoned in the desert and was trying to live on camel thorn and tough grass surrounding a brackish well.

We wondered if this could be the horse Mussolini had sent to Africa so he could ride into Alexandria at the head of his victorious army.

Off to Get Action

Sergt. Edward Seavey with his mother, Mrs. Elmer Anderson.

Bent on getting another crack at the Japanese, Technical Sergt. Edward Seavey, 26 years old, a veteran of 15 months with the "Flying Tigers" in China, left Chicago yesterday for active duty with the air forces.

Sergt. Seavey has been assigned to flight control and operations with a fighter group at Bradley field, Connecticut. From June, 1941, until last July he figured pursuit interception problems for the "Flying Tigers" and experienced a number of severe bombings, but never was injured.

HULL DENOUNCES NAZIS' INVASION, VOIDING OF PACT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull today denounced the German invasion of unoccupied France as an act in complete harmony with Hitler's régime of lawlessness and utter disregard of solemn obligations.

Hull, asked at his press conference whether he believed the German action would bring France back into the war on the side of the allies, replied that it was too early to discuss that phase of the question. It was advisable, he said, to wait for the more complete picture of the new developments.

Hull asserted that the German invasion certainly was further justification of the American action in Africa; that is, if any further justification were needed.

Many Ships Blasted by Japs at Hawaii Back in Service

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, Nov. 11.—Many ships damaged in the Japanese attack of Dec. 7 now are in combat service, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in the southwest Pacific, revealed today. He said repair of the damage done then had been accomplished "far ahead" of schedule.

12 Nazi Armistice Aids Reported Slain by French

LONDON, Nov. 12 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Daily Express reported from Tangiers today that 12 members of the German armistice commission in French Morocco had been "ambushed by French patriots and killed by machine gun fire."

ARABS BEFRIEND U. S. FLYER SHOT DOWN NEAR ORAN

Helped Back to Air Base; Tell of Axis Drain.

HEADQUARTERS OF 12TH AIR FORCE IN ALGERIA, Nov. 10 [Delayed] (AP).—Broken remnants of a strong French tank and artillery column which was beaten away from this American held airdrome straggled back to its base today unmolested by American planes.

The column which moved against this field from the French Foreign Legion base at Sidi bel Abbes had been battered while moving to the attack, but the Spitfires of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's 12th air force didn't harass it in retreat and air force officers explained:

"We don't want to shoot Frenchmen and their troops won't be attacked except when they are moving to attack us."

Seek Out Gun Positions.

Outside Oran scattered resistance continued thruout the day and sniping was reported from some towns and along roads.

Fighter planes sought out isolated gun positions, several of which were silenced by planes, cannon, and machine gun fire. Pilots reported destruction of six French tanks.

Along with the bullets went thousands of leaflets bearing Gen. Henri Giraud's call to the French to welcome the Americans as friends and avoid sabotage.

Whether the dispersed remnants of the strong French defending force would attempt to regroup and continue fighting remained in doubt, but there is every indication that the French generally are inclined to heed Giraud's advice.

[Yesterday, 24 hours after this dispatch was written, Adm. Darlan ordered French resistance to cease in Morocco and Algeria, but Marshal Petain at Vichy called for continued fighting.]

Two Planes Shot Down.

For the second successive day, no hostile French planes rose to challenge the USAAF, but two Spitfires were shot down by ground fire while patrolling over the retreating French force near Les Trembles, nine miles northeast of Sidi bel Abbes.

Lieut. Roland F. Wooten Jr., 27 years old, of St. Stephens, S. C., made a belly landing in his plane after anti-aircraft fire had hit the engine, and he was brought back to this base by friendly Arabs.

The American forces found that where the French decided to fight they fought well, but there was equally strong evidence that many Frenchmen were just as anxious to avoid killing Americans as the Americans were eager to avoid killing Frenchmen.

A number of French prisoners already have asked permission to serve with the American troops and the ranks of these converts are expected to mount swiftly now that Oran has fallen.

Resent Axis Armistice Drain.

The French and Arabs alike displayed strong resentment against the German-Italian armistice commission which systematically has stripped French North Africa of food, cotton cloth, and other essentials.

News travels slowly in this land of few radios and poor communications and many Arabs in this vicinity learned only today of the Americans' arrival.

Among these were two Arabs who saw Wooten's plane make a crash landing and ran to the scene. He showed them a card given every 12th air force flyer bearing in both French and Arabic President Roosevelt's message and additional explanation on why the Americans are here.

Show Shabby Garments.

This quickly dissipated their suspicions and they eagerly brought him on the long trek back to this airdrome. Here thru interpreters they expressed their delight that German domination had ended and displayed their ragged garments as evidence of the hardship caused by the axis seizure of every possible bit of cotton in North Africa.

They said the bulk of their grain and other field products also had gone to Germany and Italy since 1940 and they explained that they long had understood that the Germans were the real rulers of Algeria since the armistice.

Each of Wooten's rescuers was given a gold piece for helping him and they were told they would receive similar rewards if they would return tomorrow to guide salvage crews to his plane.

They accepted the gold pieces and the candy and cigarettes the American flyers showered on them but assured their listeners that rewards were unnecessary, declaring:

HITLER MOVE TANGLES SITUATION OF VICHY'S U. S. REPRESENTATIVES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's invasion of all of France today complicated the status of French diplomats and consular officials in this country.

Former Ambassador Gaston Henry-Haye and his colleagues yesterday were simply Vichy officials awaiting return home in exchange for American officials.

Today the Americans in what was Vichy France seemed in danger of becoming prisoners of Germany, while Vichy officials here found themselves representatives of a government whose territory was being invaded by German troops.

State department officials were reluctant to comment on the situation. Embassy staff members continued to move unhindered.

FORTRESS BEATS OFF FOUR OF FOE, SAVES DOOLITTLE

General Takes Place of Wounded Co-Pilot.

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 11 (AP).—Because a Flying Fortress proved more than a match for four German pilots who did not know what big game they were stalking, Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, chief of the 12th air force, is continuing to direct the United States air attack against the axis, instead of lying dead.

Doolittle and 12 staff officers were attacked by four enemy planes. The co-pilot was wounded in a running gun battle and Doolittle took his place in the fighting ship.

This is the story of how the short handed Fortress crew led by Pilot Lieut. John C. Summers of Lexington, Tenn., saved Doolittle and his staff officers, some of whom did not know they had been in a fight until the co-pilot fell to the floor covered with blood. Among the officers on the Fortress was Lieut. Col. Joe Phillips of New York.

Fortress Short Handed.

The Fortress was short handed because of the large number of officer passengers aboard.

When the four enemy planes were sighted the crew jumped to their posts. The pilot turned and the enemy gave chase. Just skimming the waves, the Fortress was not at its best operational height.

The lead German plane roared down and met a burst from the Fortress' top guns. It wobbled and staggered off, badly hit.

The second and third Nazi planes attacked almost simultaneously. Machine gun bullets smashed into the Fortress and the lieutenant co-pilot was hit in the shoulder. He fell to the floor.

Doolittle Takes Over.

Officers heard the bump of the co-pilot's fall. Opening the door to the pilot's cabin they saw him on the floor and pulled him out. Gen. Doolittle climbed in and took the co-pilot's place.

The last German plane made a half-hearted attack, and turned away.

"If those Germans had known we had the commanding general of the 12th air force aboard, they damn well would have stuck around—or maybe the Fortress was just too much for them," one officer said.

Doolittle, with Summers, whose flying skill played a large part in the battle, flew the plane to its destination and the co-pilot was taken to a hospital.

1,000 Arrested in Lisbon 'Red Revolt,' Nazis Report

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP).—The German controled Paris radio said today that 1,000 arrests had been made in Lisbon, Portugal, in suppression of what the announcer called a "Communist revolt." He declared that Communistis "were trained to subvert military discipline" to prepare a favorable situation for British and American invasion. Germans customarily label as "communistic" any European elements opposed to Nazism.

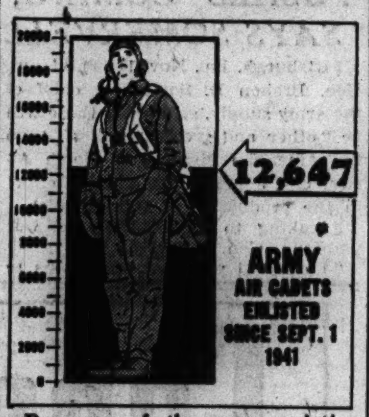
Recruiting News



Progress of the army aviation cadet recruiting campaign.

Two foreign born candidates for army aviation cadet training were on the way toward receiving their flying wings after successfully passing examinations in Chicago yesterday. They are Sven Ingmar Fornell, 19 years old, and Julius J. Muhr, 21.

Fornell, who lives at 4312 Oriole avenue, was born in Sweden. He was graduated from Steinmetz High school and follows his brother, Henry, 23, into the army air force by less than a week. Muhr, born in Austria, attended Lane Tech and is employed by the Continental Can company. He lives at 2045 North Kenneth avenue.

Forty-four more young men were accepted for pilot training yesterday by the army aviation cadet examining board. Since Sept. 1, 1941, the board has accepted 12,647 cadets in Chicago. To speed the recruiting drive, Police Commissioner James P. Allman yesterday authorized air force officials to place recruiting posters in each of Chicago's 39 police stations and at central headquarters.

VICHY INTERNS AMERICAN AND BRITISH CITIZENS

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP).—The German radio broadcast a DNB news agency report today that British and American nationals in unoccupied France have been interned on orders of the French government.

Swiss to Protect Britons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Swiss government will be asked by the British foreign office to protect the interests of between 3,000 and 4,000 Britons in unoccupied France. Most of them are said to be aged persons who have lived on the Riviera for years and their position is uncertain. According to a government spokesman, all British nationals in unoccupied France had been given every opportunity to leave before today's events. A recent arrival was Lady Furness, who owned a villa at Le Touquet and a farm at Cap Ferrat.

Americans Go to Lourdes.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 11 (AP).—The staff of the United States embassy and American newspaper men left Vichy this afternoon on a special train for Lourdes, in the Pyrenees, according to advices from Vichy. They are expected to be interned at Lourdes until an exchange can be arranged.

WILLKIE REBUKE IS SEEN IN DRIVE ON NORTH AFRICA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Belief that "the great meddler Mr. Wendell Willkie" and other critics of the war program "ought to sit in great mental discomfort" as they watch the North African offensive was expressed today by Rep. William R. Thom [D., O.].

When Willkie was telling the country that the flow of war materials from the United States was "tragically small," Thom told the house, "the munitions were flowing in a great stream to back up the expeditionary force that is now throwing confusion and disunion into the ranks of the enemy."

"The little men of the United States and the great meddler Mr. Wendell Willkie," the Ohioan asserted, "ought to sit in great mental discomfort, after their harassing attacks on the President, as they see the grand strategy of his conception developing in North Africa."

MOVE IN FRANCE NO SURPRISE TO SPAIN, PORTUGAL

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 11 (AP).—Hitler's abrupt termination of Vichy France's pseudo independence caused no surprise in Spain or Portugal today, where the action generally was regarded as a necessary defensive move.

The Spanish cabinet, which has been in session virtually continuously since early Sunday, met again today. However, any action taken in Madrid is expected to be away from a state of nonbelligerence sympathetic to the axis. Portugal has adopted a policy of complete neutrality from the first.

Observers on the Iberian peninsula generally agreed that the axis and the united nations would prefer that Spain and Portugal remain neutral. However, Spain has reënforced the Balearic Islands.

BELIEVE DARLAN BRINGS FRANCE'S FLEET TO ALLIES

Hint Former Chief Still Controls Navy.

While these conflicting reports circulated about Europe, the Vichy radio quoting a Havas News agency dispatch also reported that the Germans had reached all their objectives in their march thru France. If this report was accurate, it would mean that German forces were in Toulon today.

In all a considerable force is at stake, at Toulon and Alexandria. Three battleships are believed based at Toulon, the 26,500 ton Strasbourg and Dunkerque and the 22,189 ton Provence, while the 22,189 ton battleship Lorraine is demilitarized at Alexandria. All told, the allies stand to gain in the Mediterranean, if all French ships should come over, an undetermined number of cruisers, a seaplane carrier, 25 destroyers, and 27 submarines. Immobilized at Martinique, in the French West Indies, are the aircraft carrier Bearn and two cruisers.

Ships Ready for Action.

The Toulon ships presumably are in shape for immediate action, but the British threw cold water on any idea that the allies would benefit immediately from French ships interned at Alexandria if they should decide to help the allies.

A British source said it would take months to get the contingent at Alexandria ready, even if there were French crews to man the vessels.

The British admiralty contradicted axis reports that the British had taken over the ships at Alexandria contrary to the gentlemen's agreement by which they were demilitarized.

"Reports issued by the German radio that the French squadron at Alexandria had been taken over by the British navy are entirely without foundation," an admiralty communique said.

Vessels Decommissioned.

Besides the Lorraine, the cruisers Fuguay, Trouin, Suffren, Duguesse, and Tourville, and at least one submarine are at Alexandria.

They were in that port when France fell in 1940 and were decommissioned by agreement. All vital operating parts and the breech locks of their guns have been removed and impounded by the British. Only skeleton maintenance crews are aboard, most of the original complements having gone home or joined the "Fighting French."

"It would take more than a year to put those ships to sea with British crews aboard," the British spokesman said. "The general public seems to think that once you have a warship of any nationality in your hands you can just put a crew aboard and sail away.

"That's not true. And that's why Hitler has never wanted French naval ships as such. German crews could not operate and fight French ships successfully without long training."

The "Fighting French" already have two battleships on the allied side, the 22,189 ton Paris and the Courbet, at least five destroyers, and four submarines, and numerous minor warships.

13 French Sentenced by Nazis to Die for Sabotage

New York, Nov. 11 [Special].—Thirteen Frenchmen in Normandy have received death sentences from the German military court at Saint Lo, the British radio said today. "Nine have already been killed. The other four are being kept alive and the Nazis are trying to extract information from them," the broadcast said. "All the men are accused of organizing sabotage. Others have received light sentences."

Developments in New Guinea

DARLAN VIEWED AS BIGGER THAN PETAIN OR LAVAL

Does Chores Marshal Cannot Do.

Adm. Jean Darlan, who once was heir apparent to the Vichy France rule of 86 year old Marshal Petain and chief of France's armed forces, was No. 2 man in title under the armistice régime which German invasion shattered yesterday and an active No. 1 man in many of the chores which the man in many of the chores which the feeble marshal could not undertake.

Many Frenchmen view Darlan as an admiral "as effective off the sea as on it," and stronger than either the feeble Petain or scheming Laval in the rule of France under Hitler's thumb. Others maintain that the pipe smoking, 61 year old admiral merely switched views in 1940, as always, to suit the man in charge, the latest being Hitler.

Born in Gascony Aug. 7, 1881, Jean Louis Xavier Francois Darlan was reared in a seafaring atmosphere. His father was a minister of justice, but a grandfather and a great-grandfather were sea captains. Jean Darlan started his own naval career in 1899 at the French Naval academy, where he was called "The Bass Drummer" because he waved his arms wildly when he talked.

Most of his naval life was spent in teaching posts ashore or in political positions, but he is known as a navy gunnery expert. During World War I, Darlan, then a captain, commanded 25 mobile naval guns ashore, fighting on the Somme and at Verdun.

Ardently pro-British in prewar statements, he became violently anti-British after the evacuation at Dunkirk, despite a special decoration from King George for the evacuation—which he did not even see. He became minister of marine for Vichy and saw his power at a peak on Feb. 16, 1941, when he was named to succeed Petain if the ageing marshal died—a right which he did not relinquish when Laval squeezed back into political power last April.

OTHER, GREATER PUSHES COMING, SAYS SOMERVELL

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the army supply, said today there will be "other and greater pushes" than the American invasion of North Africa, and appealed for greater effort in the production of war supplies.

Speaking to an assembly of war veterans, Gen. Somervell said:

"I can tell you that our troops in Africa have what they need. While all the free world was shouting for a second front we were piling up the munitions and the supplies, getting them ready for this great push.

"But there will be other and greater pushes. The faster we give our army the guns and tanks and ships and shells it needs, the sooner these pushes will start, the shorter time they'll take, the smaller our losses will be."

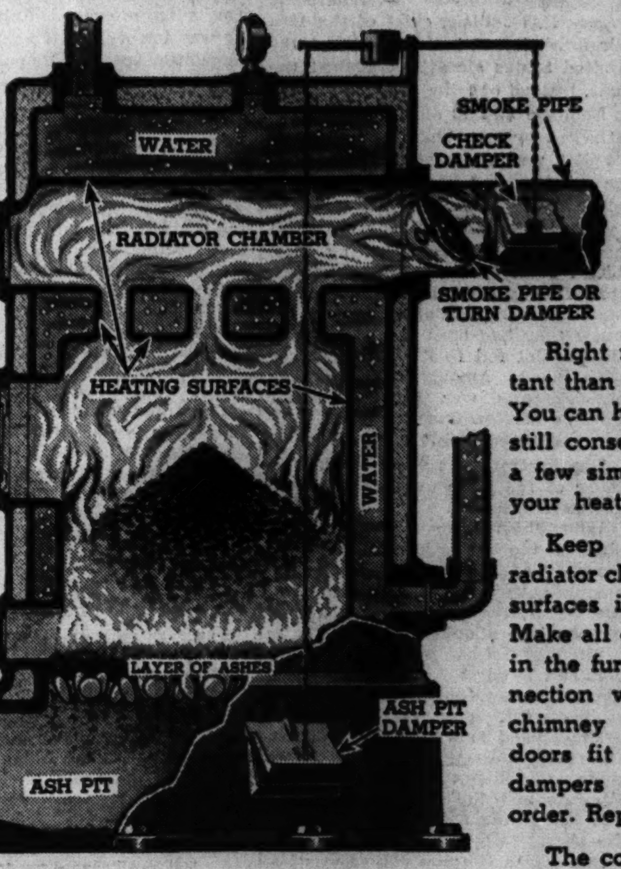
Conserve Coal
Use this Fuel Saving Firing Method



Right now it is more important than ever to conserve coal. You can have plenty of heat and still conserve coal by following a few simple rules in operating your heating plant:

Keep the smoke pipe, the radiator chamber and the heating surfaces in the fire box clean. Make all connections and seams in the furnace, smoke pipe connection with the furnace, and chimney tight. Make sure all doors fit properly and that all dampers are in good working order. Replace any broken grates.

The conical method of firing low volatile Fuel Satisfaction has been thoroughly tested and has proven to be most economical and efficient.

Start this method now — pile (don't throw) coal in the center of the fire box, thus creating a cone-shaped pile for round fire boxes, and a ridge-shaped pile for rectangular fire boxes. Heaping coal in the center results in the larger pieces rolling to the sides, thus permitting a freer flow of air, which makes the fire hottest next to the side heating surfaces. The slack, or fine coal, helps to build the cone; it cokes properly, and holds fire longer. Bank the fire at night with slack coal, and adjust all dampers to retard burning.

When refueling open the smoke pipe and ash pit dampers and close the check damper. After refueling, open the ash pit damper and adjust the smoke pipe and check dampers to meet heating demands.

Before refueling, occasionally it may be well to push a poker through the top of the cone-shaped pile and crack it. Never use a poker in a way that will stir up the fire. If a quick, hot fire is wanted, don't stir; but shake the grates gently, crack the cone slightly, and open the drafts. Do not shake grates violently but rock them gently until first red sparks appear in ash pit — a layer of ashes on top of grates protects them. Keep ash pit clean. Cover the entire grate area with a bed of fuel. A thin fuel bed is wasteful. A thick fuel bed lasts longer and gives more uniform heat.

When using high volatile Fuel Satisfaction, the alternate method of firing is recommended — place coal on opposite sides of fire box each time coal is added, instead of building a cone in the center.

BRITISH PICK UP GIRAUD AND FLY HIM TO ALGERIA

Hint Petain Officials Kept Eyes Closed.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 11.—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, more than ever a legendary hero of the French army now that Adolf Hitler blames the occupation of France on him, crossed the Mediterranean last week in a British plane which took him to Algeria, where he is now organizing the "Fighting French" forces.

He met the plane at an appointed hour at an appointed place near the coast and within a few minutes was off.

His escape from France is learned from trustworthy sources. It shows that even in the service of the Petain government there were persons prepared to help, at least by closing their eyes.

"Arrest" Ineffective.

It is believed in some circles that Hitler's reference to Gen. Giraud in his letter to Marshal Petain is in reality aimed at the clandestine network which enabled the French general in the first place to escape from a German fortress last spring.

[In his letter Hitler said: "It is above all the behavior of one French general which induced me to act as I do. This general, during his captivity, simulated illness and consequently was allowed certain facilities of which he took advantage to escape."]

Since he returned to France Gen. Giraud had been assigned to a residence under police surveillance. This surveillance was ineffective. The general was able to remain in regular communication with his friends, both in France and abroad.

Predicted German Defeat.

On the German side it is alleged that Gen. Giraud simulated sickness when in Koenigstein fortress and took advantages of privileges accorded in order to make good his escape. In France, the answer was that the first duty of a prisoner of war, be he a general or a private, is to escape.

It is recalled that after his escape from Germany the general's first words when he was in safety were: "The Germans are doomed to defeat."

HE'S LUCKY THRU 4 SEA BATTLES, BUT NOT IN AUTO

Clarence Stevens Parker, 21 year old navy gunner's mate, went unhurt thru the battles of Pearl Harbor, the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, Coral sea and Midway. Then he came home to Belleville, Ill., on leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parker, and was seriously injured when his father's automobile overturned on a slippery Missouri highway.

Now he faces weary and painful weeks in the Great Lakes Naval Training Station hospital, convalescing from a broken knee cap, a fractured jaw, and a fractured wrist.

Parker wears two service bars on his navy jumper. One signifies foreign service before Pearl Harbor, and the other is for service in the Yangzte river patrol. He has four more bars and four gold stars coming to him, one for each of the major Pacific sea battles in which he participated.

He is eager to get back to the fleet. "Boy, I hate a hospital," he said.

SINAI MEN BUY $135,000 BONDS; DEDICATE PLAQUE

The Men's Club of Sinai oversubscribed its war bond drive quota by more than a third, announcing total purchases of $135,000 in bonds at a meeting in Hirsch center, 4622 South Park way, last night, attended by some 500 members and guests. Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Sinai temple dedicated a plaque bearing the names of 143 club members who are in or have sons in the armed services.

Bud Singman, chairman of the club's victory committee, interviewed two sailors who survived the sinking of the aircraft carrier Lexington. They are Clarke Jones of McCook, Neb., and Raymond Fortney of Corbin, Ky., now aviation machinists' mates stationed in Chicago.

The war bond drive, which had a $100,000 quota, was directed by Singman, Jack Rose, co-chairman of the victory committee, and Lee J. Furth, chairman of the club's program committee. Adrian J. Eichberg is president of the club.

STRONGEST LAND LINE IN WORLD GUARDS TUNISIA

Tunisia is a key to the central Mediterranean, for thru its bottleneck the main coastal rail and road routes link northwest and northeast Africa; its reaching promontory of Cape Bon is less than 90 miles across the Sicilian channel from Italian Sicily; it commands the Italian base at Tripoli in Libya, and in Tunisia is the splendid naval base of Bizerte and numerous airfields, all within very easy range of Sicily, Italy and British Malta.

The main defenses of Tunisia are natural—mountains and desert. But along the 300 miles of the Tunisia-Tripolitania border runs the strongest system of fortifications in the world—the Mareth line. This line has been built up steadily by the French since 1918, to meet the possible threat from Italian Libya.

Fortifications 60 Miles Deep.

The line and its tunnels, emplacements, bastions, and complicated blockhouses and trench system is 60 miles deep along the whole frontier, and perhaps as strong as the Maginot line and the German West Wall together, London military spokesmen have declared.

From the direction of Tripolitania it has been regarded as absolutely impenetrable. Just how vulnerable the line may be from the rear is less certain.

In Tunisia, the principal rail and road lines funnel along the coast and come to a bottleneck between Gabes and Medenine. There is no other really practical approach. There are some desert tracks and caravan trails, but most of the inland approaches from Algeria lead only to roadless wastes, desert, mountain, or gravel plains without water. The Sahara almost reaches the Matmata mountains, which form the western flank of the French defensive positions.

Strong Anchor Point.

The Matmatas mountains are the backbone of the Mareth defensive position, and the line is anchored landward by a strong fort on the desert-reaching spur of the Matmatas at Foum Tatahouine. From Foum Tatahouine, the Mareth line stretches along the ridge of the Matmatas, taking advantage of folds of the ground and long groves of palm trees, thru a strong point at Toujane, and thence thru the Mareth to the sea.

To the south and eastward of this so-called line are other strong points and areas. The important road junction of Medenine is one such point; near the frontier with Libya are Ben Gardane and Kear Morra, important road junctions.

BRITISH HAMMER AXIS REAR GUARD IN EGYPT, LIBYA

Allied Airmen Destroy 22 Planes.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 11 (AP).—The rampant British 8th army continued to hack away at the fleeting axis Africa corps both inside Egypt and across the Libyan border today.

Altho there was no word here as to the progress of the battle within Libya, where Gen. B. L. Montgomery's advance forces were attempting to head off and destroy the Nazi army to the last man and machine, it was indicated that operations were proceeding satisfactorily. There was no suggestion that the British had been delayed or had lost contact with the remnants of the German armored forces.

Fight Rearguard at Buqbuq.

A joint British headquarters-RAF communique said that a Nazi rearguard was driven from Sidi Barrani yesterday and that another axis delaying force had been engaged at Buqbuq, 25 miles farther west and about 30 miles from the Libyan frontier.

[A communique of the Italian high command at Rome said that military movements on the Egyptian front "continued according to plan."]

Allied bombers continued to attack retreating axis transport columns thruout the battle area, piling up destruction, while single motored fighters swept the skies in thoro protection of the bombers and the pursuing 8th army on the ground. Twenty-two enemy aircraft, including eleven Junkers dive bombers, were destroyed by the allies from dawn today until the early afternoon.

May Set a Trap.

Absence of news of the struggle inside Libya led military observers to speculate on the possibility that Gen. Montgomery, instead of continuing a direct pursuit of the disorganized Nazis, might be setting a trap that would cut them off well short of Tripoli.

Gen. Archibald Wavell, they pointed out, demonstrated nearly two years ago the feasibility of an overland dash directly across Cirenaica to a point on the coast road near Agedabia.

One source estimated that Field Marshal Edwin Rommel, when finally brought to major battle again, might have as many as 100 tanks and 60,000 troops of all classes at his disposal. This figure was considerably higher than previous estimates.

34 OF 38 MAN CREW DROWN AS FREIGHTER IS SUNK BY AXIS SUB

An East Coast Port, Nov. 11.—Thirty-four of a 38 man crew drowned in the sinking of a small united nations merchantman by an enemy submarine in mid-Atlantic last month, the navy announced today.

Heavy seas overturned a lifeboat into which most of the crew had crowded during a near gale. Survivors, who managed to hold onto one of two lifeboats thrown overboard, were picked up seven hours after the encounter by an allied vessel.

The latest victim of enemy U-boats raised to 521 the Associated Press tabulation of announced western Atlantic ship losses since Pearl Harbor. In these sinking, 3,527 persons are known to have lost their lives. There have been 1,958 reported missing, and 15,872 announced as rescued.

SOVIET CHUTISTS RAID AIRDROME, FIRE NAZI PLANES

Use Ruse to Attack Field, Burn 23 Aircraft.

MOSCOW, Nov. 12 [Thursday]—(AP).—Cold weather and a bold parachute fire raid on a German airdrome cheered the Russians today while their lines held firmly all along the front.

The broad picture was one of limited activity and increasing cold that is counted on to simplify the Reds' defense problems, particularly at Stalingrad, now in its 80th day of siege, and to multiply the hardships of the German invaders.

Dramatic spot of the high command's midnight communique was the brief account of a parachute raid on a Nazi Black sea airport, which told how 23 enemy planes were set afire, 13 of them being destroyed and the others damaged.

How Airdrome Was Raided.

Soviet bombers flew over this target several times to bring on the searchlights and start the anti-aircraft guns to banging. Then attack planes dived in to smash the lights and silence the cannon.

Immediately after this, "parachutists jumped from transport planes. When they landed they set fire to planes on the airdrome and then made their getaway."

The high command said several attacks were repelled in the Stalingrad sector.

German thrusts also were declared to have been turned back in the Tuapse area along the Black sea and sharp tank fighting was reported southeast of Nalchik, in the eastern Caucausus, with no German advances acknowledged.

Reds Attack in Stalingrad.

In the Stalingrad area, the Reds also took the initiative in one assault, reporting that two German companies were wiped out.

The banks of the Volga river were frozen and great chunks of ice in the stream presaged an early freezing that would aid the defenders of the battered city.

Yesterday's midday communique told of sharp fighting on Tuesday southeast of Nalchik, when German infantry and tanks attacked Russian positions in an attempted drive toward Ordzhonikidze, northern terminus of the Georgian military highway thru the Caucasus mountains. The assault was repulsed.

Report Red Attacks Repulsed.

BERLIN, Nov. 11 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Numerous enemy attacks were repulsed in bitter fighting in the western Caucasus and Terek sectors of the Russian front, the German high command reported today. Only shock troop activity was reported at Stalingrad.

GERMANS REACH SPANISH BORDER, MEDITERRANEAN

Italians Occupy Nice, Land Troops in Corsica.

as far as the French were concerned, it was a friendly maneuver.

"It has a single aim—to repel, together with its allies, any landing attempt by the Anglo-American forces," he said.

Immediate withdrawal of the troops across the line was pledged "as soon as the situation in the Mediterranean is improved to the point that it is no longer imperiling the interests of the reich in maritime France."

London believed that Hitler's move would tie down at least 15 of the 30 divisions which he is reputed to have had in France.

Moreover, it was reported that the axis is feverishly fortifying Sardinia, between Corsica and Tunisia.

CALL FOR RESISTANCE

ON THE FRENCH FRONTIER, Nov. 11 (AP).—Marshal Petain protested Hitler's move into the former unoccupied zone of France today, but the Vichy radio reported later that he and his cabinet had called upon French forces in North Africa to continue resisting the allies "to the limit of their powers in the interests of France and the empire."

With Hitler's forces sweeping across southern France toward the Mediterranean on the pretext of countering an allied attack, the Nazi controled Vichy radio reported nothing was known there of reports abroad that Vichy French resistance had collapsed in North Africa.

Immediately after broadcasting the Vichy order for continued resistance in Africa, the radio broadcast an appeal by Hitler to French soldiers there to keep up the fight against the Americans and British.

Vichy broadcast this brief communique on the cabinet meeting: "The marshal and the government have rendered homage to the fidelity and bravery of the army in Africa and they are counting on it to continue the struggle to the limit of its forces in the interests of France and the empire."

Africa Situation Serious.

The radio acknowledged that the situation of the African troops was serious and admitted that Casablanca had asked for an armistice.

Upon the return of Pierre Laval from the Munich conferences with Hitler the Vichy radio dropped all mention of Petain's protest to the German occupation of all France.

In connection with Laval's trip, it was noted that Hitler's declaration that "all special questions" would be settled "in accord with the French authorities" had inspired immediate speculation that Laval had brought back some outline of terms for peace.

There was no confirmation of this, however, and everything depended on further decisions of the cabinet, which continued in session.

It was learned that Marshal Petain had rejected an offer from Hitler to take up residence in Versailles. The Fuehrer had informed Petain that he now had no objection to the Vichy government putting its headquarters in Versailles.

The call to the colonials came soon after Laval stepped out of a plane bringing him back from the conferences and almost simultaneously with the announcement from North Africa that the "captive" Adm. Jean Darlan had ordered all French colonials to lay down their arms and return to barracks.

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister County Galeazzo Ciano were reported to have sat in on one of the talks Laval had with Hitler.

Vichey Tells of Parleys.

The French communique on the Hitler conference in Munich said:

"Events of the last few days caused a number of discussions to take place between the French and German governments. In view of the seriousness Laval left Vichy Monday for Munich.

"He had several interviews with Hitler and Ribbentrop. Laval was kept informed hourly by telephone of developments in North Africa and maintained contact with Petain.

"At one of his interviews with Hitler, Ribbentrop and Ciano were present.

"As Laval was leaving Munich he received a copy of Hitler's letter to Petain.

"Certain events which had occurred during the night had determined the decision of the German high command.

"Laval left Munich in the morning and arrived in Vichy at 2 p. m. [8 a. m. Chicago war time] where he saw Petain and afterwards made a report to the cabinet."

Vichy circles said that in expectation of the German entrance into the unoccupied zone, prefects of all departments, acting under Petain's orders, had during the last 48 hours burned official papers that might reveal their attitude.

Nazi armored cars passed thru Limoges and Lyons at 10 a. m. and uniformed Germans appeared in Vichy's suburbs.

NAVY CROSS AWARDED TO CORAL SEA HERO; TO HEAD GREAT LAKES

At a ceremony attended by 5,000 officers and men in the main drill hall at Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday, Capt. Frank J. Lowry, who will succeed Rear Adm. John Downes as commandant of the station on Dec. 1, was awarded the navy cross for distinguished service in the battle of the Coral sea.

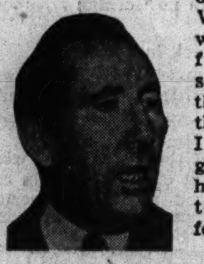
The occasion served to induct Lowry in his new temporary post as executive officer and to bid farewell to Capt. T. DeWitt Carr, his predecessor, who has been transferred to sea duty.

The change, to be effected Dec. 1, when Capt. Lowry takes over command of the station, was ordered to enable Adm. Downes to devote his full time to his duties as head of the 9th naval district. He has been combining both jobs and the dual assignment was said to be "too big for one officer to administer."

PEPPER, REUTHER DENOUNCE WPB AT CIO SESSION

Senator Attacks Churchill and Army Generals.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Sen. Claude Pepper.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11. — Attacks upon the War Production board and other agencies in Washington, which have been frequent and severe ever since the convention of the Congress of Industrial Organizations began here Monday, took on new force today.

Walter Reuther of Detroit, head of the United Auto Workers, declared that big business had taken over the production program, had barred labor from any participation in the councils of war winning, and by its inefficiency had reduced the possible output of American factories by one-half.

Increasing Red Tape.

"There is an increasing amount of red tape in Washington," Reuther averred. "It is made by big business men, who are controled in their thinking by normal business habits—they are looking to their businesses now and their prospects after the war.

"If the war was being fought on an all-over basis we'd have twice as much production with the same labor forces."

Before Reuther spoke, Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, a thoro going New Dealer, made a surprising speech in which he coupled denunciations of "isolationists" and the WPB with a criticism of Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and of American and British generals.

More WPB Criticism.

Sen. Pepper spoke in favor of a bill he sponsors, which would carry centralization of power over American life further than anything yet attempted.

The plan envisages the setting up of a war mobilization board with four subordinate agencies and an advisory body on supply requirements. The subdivisions would be production and supply; man power supply, technological mobilization and economic stabilization.

Pepper forecast that his recommended office of production and supply would do a much better job than the present WPB.

NAVY DISMISSES AROFF, WHO GOT TONY MARTIN CAR

Court Martial Ruling Not Revealed.

Maurice N. Aroff.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Lieut. Marvin McCarthy, naval press relations officer, said tonight that Maurice N. Aroff, who held the rank of lieutenant commander in the navy, has been dismissed from the service. He was tried by a court martial at San Francisco last summer on charges of misconduct and falsehood.

One of seven charges on which the six man naval court martial tried Aroff was that he had accepted a $950 automobile from Tony Martin, the singer, to facilitate Martin's enlistment in the navy.

Denied Charges.

Lieut. McCarthy declined to give out any other information regarding the dismissal action or say what disposition the court martial had made of the charges.

Aroff was an assistant to the 12th naval district director of naval officer procurement. He denied most of the charges against him, including that relating to the automobile which he insisted he had arranged to pay for.

Paid Balance Due.

He gave the court a check as the balance in full on the car, having previously paid the singer a $375 war bond.

The court martial findings were sent from San Francisco to Washington for review but no decision ever has been announced.

FRANKIE PARKER STAYS IN JAIL; LOSES 2D PLEA

Frankie Parker, known as the millionaire airplane bootlegger during prohibition, must spend a year in jail. So in effect ruled the Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday when it dismissed, without comment, his petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

It was the second such rebuff to Parker from the high court in his three years battle to escape serving a jail sentence. Parker was convicted in May, 1939, of conspiracy to forge traveler checks and sentenced to one year in jail.

Subsequently he served 19 months in a federal prison. He contended that he concurrently served the county jail sentence, and that the jail sentence should accordingly be forgiven. The Supreme court at a previous hearing had ruled against him on the same point. Parker began serving his jail sentence Monday.

The Truth About Coffee

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE COFFEE CONSUMERS OF AMERICA

Dear Friends:

It is possible that you have suffered some inconvenience, because of the temporary shortage of coffee.

The NATIONAL COFFEE DEPARTMENT OF BRAZIL, representing the coffee planters of Brazil, who grow most of the finer coffees imported into the United States, greatly sympathize, as good neighbors, with you in the situation which has made it temporarily necessary to reduce the quantity normally used in your household.

There is no shortage of coffee in Brazil. However, a temporary shortage of ships prevents regular delivery to American roasters.

Under the circumstances, patience will become a virtue while the shortage exists, for as shipping improves there will be plenty of real, rich, full-flavored Brazilian coffee for everyone.

In publishing this open letter, we believe it our duty to sound a warning to safeguard, if possible, American coffee consumers against those seeking to take an unfair advantage of the emergency by dumping on the market adulterated coffees as substitutes for the rich, delicious beverage you have been accustomed to buy.

Purchases of these coffees will unwittingly align the purchaser with unjustifiable, ruthless competition for highly reputable American coffee roasters, who are willing to continue to serve the American public with genuine products. They should not be expected to compete with producers of adulterated coffees. May we repeat, your purchases of adulterated coffees will drive reputable and responsible American coffee roasters out of business, or compel them to change their existing high quality standards.

As a constant user of good coffee, you are entitled to know these facts, to exercise caution when buying coffee. If your dealer cannot supply your favorite brand and offers you a new one in its place—make sure you are getting pure coffee and see that it is labeled accordingly. That is your government's guarantee of complete protection against adulterated, or "doctored" coffee. Don't waste your ration coupon by giving it in for one pound of a mixture that is only 50% coffee. No one should be unduly alarmed over the present situation, but above all don't hoard coffee and don't waste it. It is unfair to your neighbor to hoard, and coffee is TOO GOOD TO WASTE!

Sincerely,
EURICO PENTEADO
General Representative to the United States

How to get the best service from your refrigerator

by Helen Scott, home advisor

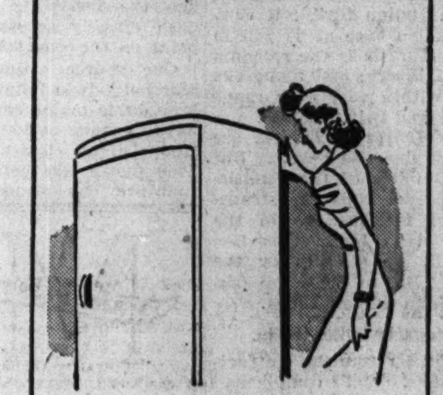
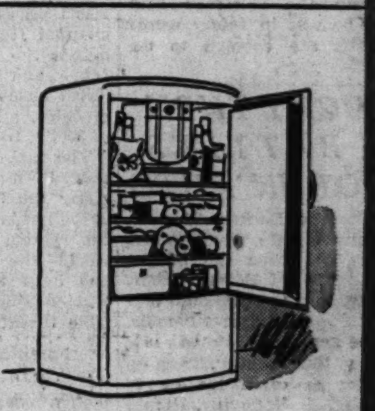
I've been talking with many homemakers lately. Most of them are interested in keeping their appliances in good repair so they will last longer. I agree with these women because, during wartime, appliances are more important than ever, and deserve the best of care.

Refrigerators are particularly important at this time of year. So here are several important ways to care for your electric refrigerator . . . ways which have been scientifically tested and proven worthwhile.

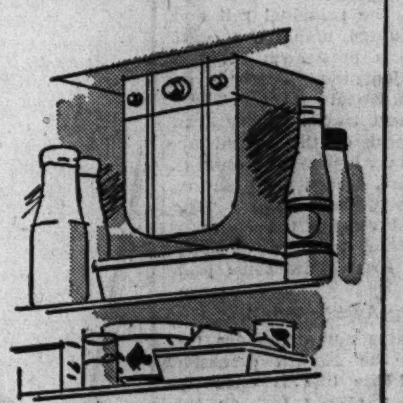
Read these suggestions thoroughly and start following them right now. Keep them handy as a daily reminder of how to get the best service from your electric refrigerator.



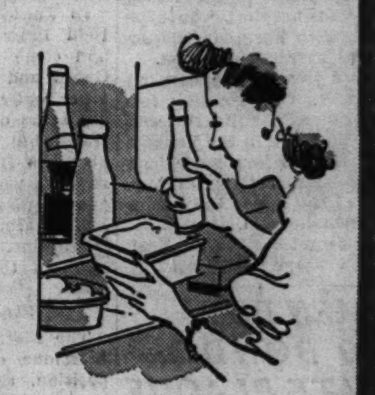
1 Be sure your refrigerator is placed away from the wall at least an inch or more. The mechanism needs proper ventilation at all times for longer and more economical operation.



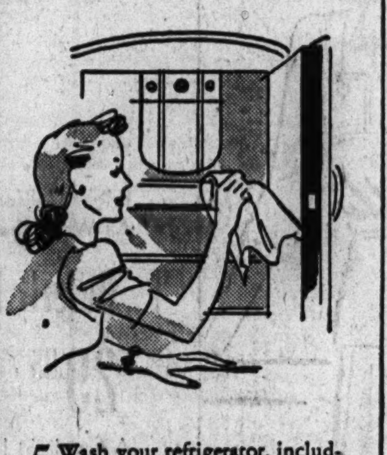
2 Defrost the freezing unit regularly according to your service book. A thick coating of frost on the freezer makes your refrigerator run too often. Don't put hot water in trays to speed defrosting.



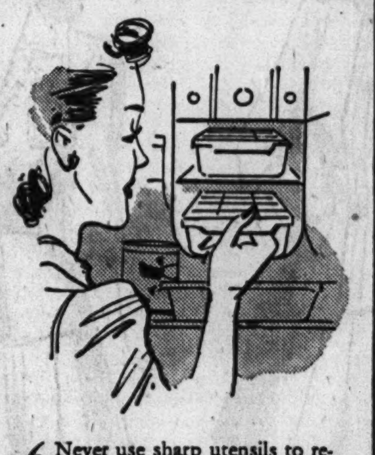
3 Don't place food against the freezing unit. This interferes with the circulation of cold air throughout the refrigerator and reduces its efficiency.



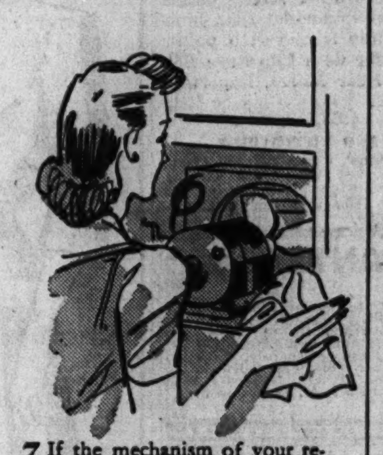
4 Cut in half the number of times you open your refrigerator. Take out the things you need at one opening of the door. This helps conserve the freezing mechanism.



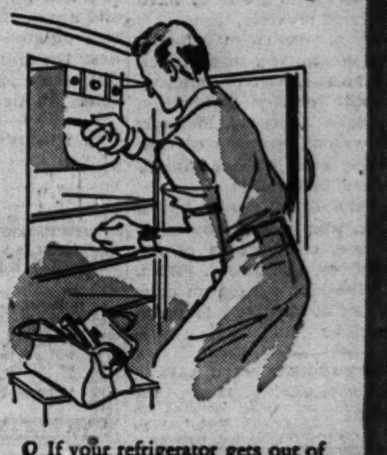
5 Wash your refrigerator, including shelves and trays weekly, with baking soda and water. Wash rubber insulation around door, dry, and dust with talcum powder to keep rubber from sticking.



6 Never use sharp utensils to remove cube trays. Be sure trays are dry on the outside before you put them back in the refrigerator, and be sure the compartment is thoroughly dry, too.



7 If the mechanism of your refrigerator is not sealed, keep it free of grease and dust. Make sure that your refrigerator is disconnected before you wipe off the motor.



8 If your refrigerator gets out of adjustment or gets noisy, call a serviceman for a complete check-up of the mechanism. In the long run this will save money and inconvenience.

TELLS OF $2,550 CACHE UNDER RUG IN HAUPT HOME

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Discovery of $2,550 in $50 bills under a rug in the home of Hans Max and Erna Haupt, 2234 Fremont street, was described yesterday before Federal Judge William J. Campbell and a jury in the trial of the Haupts and four other Chicagoans on charges of treason.

The money, according to a statement already in evidence by Mrs. Haupt, was hidden by their son, Herbert, Nazi saboteur who came to this country aboard a German U-boat after having been trained near Berlin for a mission of wartime destruction financed with $50 bills by the Nazi sabotage command. The find, made on June 27, the day of Herbert's arrest, was related by Joseph W. Kriofske, agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who told also of taking the first of four statements from Hans Haupt.

Government Climax Near.

Thus the government began setting the stage for the trial's climax, expected today with the introduction of all Hans Haupt's confessions, including a final 23 page account of his son's Chicago doings and his plans for sabotage.

The statement is expected to involve all the defendents who, besides the Haupts, are Herbert's uncle and aunt, Walter and Lucille Froehling, and two friends, Otto Richard and Kate Wergin. The six are accused of sheltering and aiding Herbert Haupt.

They sat silent at 11 a. m. as taps was sounded in the vast rotunda of the federal courthouse. The plaintive notes were soft but clear as heard in the closely guarded courtroom. For Hans Haupt and Wergin they must have brought memories of Nov. 11, 1918, when the armies of the Kaiser, in which they had fought, laid down their arms in defeat.

The government, thru Agents Frank Meech and Elmer R. Fletcher, also traced an additional $900 in $50 bills to Karl Eggert, a friend to whom Hans Haupt had entrusted it after Herbert's arrest, it has been testified.

Says Haupt Claimed Money.

Examined by Earle C. Hurley, assistant United States attorney, the agent said Eggert handed over the 18 bills without question when they were asked for. Hans Haupt, however, insisted the 51 $50 bills found in his home were his life's savings, according to Agent Kriofske. He added that even when Agent M. E. Shaeffer, also on the raid, questioned Mrs. Haupt, she replied: "If that is what Hans says, that is right."

When Shaeffer asked Haupt why the money was all in $50s the father replied that he used it as working capital; that he often had $100 bills in the envelope. Again Shaeffer turned to Mrs. Haupt, who said: "If Hans says so, then it is so."

Confirms Amount of Cash.

As Agent Shaeffer began counting the money found in the Haupt home he asked the father how much was in the envelope. Kriofske said Haupt replied there was about $2,600. When the count was finished, Shaeffer asked Haupt how he had known this. The defendant then pointed to a penciled notation on the envelope, Kriofske said.

The agent also told of finding a blank selective service card with the money. It had been testified previously that Herbert was given such a card by the German sabotage command.

Among Herbert's baggage, the agent said, was a tie bearing a Paris label. [The saboteur gang stopped in Paris en route to Lorient, France, where they boarded the U-boat.] There also was a pair of maroon swimming trunks to which much white sand had adhered. It has been testified that Herbert wore swimming trunks after disembarking from the U-boat on a Florida beach.

Statement After Six Hours.

The witness continued that on the following afternoon Haupt was taken to FBI headquarters, where, after he was questioned from 5:30 to 11:30 p. m., he gave the first of his four statements.

Kriofske said that during this period a lunch of hamburgers and coffee was brought in for the defendant at his request. In accordance with FBI custom, Haupt was examined by a physician, who pronounced him sound. This testimony went in over strenuous objections by Paul A. F. Warnholtz and Benedict J. Short, defense attorneys.

For the first time yesterday, the time and place of Herbert Haupt's arrest were disclosed. Agent Earl Hirsch of the FBI testified that the young saboteur was seized within two blocks of the home from which he had set out just a year before to serve the German reich.

Recalls Previous Objection.

As Hirsh was called to the stand, Warnholtz demanded that the record should show that the agent has been in the courtroom, seated at the government's table, since the start of the trial. He asserted he had objected previously to Hirsh's presence.

"The record may so show," said Judge Campbell. "But I recall no previous objection by defense specifying Hirsh. I recall a general objection to any government agents who were to be witnesses and I recall that the court ruled any FBI agents who were assisting government counsel might remain. That ruling will stand now."

Q. [by Hurley]—When did you first see Herbert Haupt? A.—On June 27, 1942, at 9:08 in the morning when I took him into custody.

Q.—What did you do then? A.—I took him to the FBI field office in the Bankers building.

Tells of Search.

Apparently this was only a few minutes after young Haupt had left his home at 2234 Fremont street. Mrs. Gerda Melind, his fiancée, who was to have dined in the Haupt home that night, has testified that Herbert's mother had expected to hear from him during the day and was nervous and agitated when she did not.

Agent Hirsh then told of searching Herbert at the FBI office and he identified objects taken from the prisoner. These included:

A gold finger ring, a gold wristwatch and billfold which, it has been testified, Herbert purchased in Jacksonville, Fla., after disembarking from the German U-boat; a selective service registration card, and the forged social security card.

All were admitted as evidence over Warnholtz's objections. On cross-examination, Warnholtz inquired into Hirsh's personal history. He approached with great caution the subject of Haupt's arrest, however.

Avoids Confession Mention.

Agent Hirsh is understood to have assisted in taking the young saboteur's detailed confession which, witnesses have testified, involves the six defendants. Mention of the confession on cross-examination would have enabled the government to delve into its details on redirect questioning.

Q. [by Warnholtz]—Had you ever seen Herbert Haupt before the morning of June 27? A.—Yes, on June 26.

Q.—Where did you see him? A.—That would be impossible to relate. We followed him practically all over the city of Chicago.

Q.—And who were "we"? A.—A. H. Johnson, agent in charge, and Agents P. V. Robe, E. R. Fletcher, Agent Lynch, and Agent Meech.

Q.—You were in one or two cars? A.—In three, as I remember.

Warnholtz's last question was as to whether Herbert had been walking or riding when arrested. Hirsh replied that he was in an automobile.

Present Photo Exhibits.

Government counsel then began offering as evidence all the exhibits thus far used in the trial. These included photographs of the seven other saboteurs, five of whom were executed with Herbert last Aug. 8, photographs of TNT blocks, detonators, infernal machines, incendiary devices, and other sabotage paraphernalia the submarine gang brought from Germany.

There were photographs also of FBI agents uncovering the explosives cache on the Florida sands where one of the U-boats landed June 17. Also introduced was the bill of sale for an automobile, which the government charges was bought for Herbert by his father to assist him in his sabotage mission. Warnholtz objected to each exhibit.

During the morning session, the court admitted to evidence a statement made July 3 by Mrs. Froehling. It told of Herbert's appearance at the Froehling home immediately after his return to Chicago on June 19 and placed him in the company of all the defendants. Mrs. Froehling told of allowing Herbert to sleep in their home and admitted she knew of a money belt in which Herbert carried part of the several thousand dollars given him by the sabotage command.

Illness of Mrs. Marion Cavins, juror from Aurora, caused a change in the jury lineup yesterday. Alternate Earl Quain was designated to take Mrs. Cavin's place and she was excused.

The remaining alternate, Mrs. Lacey Winter of Barrington, and 11 of the jurors will be hosts Sunday to Juror Alfred Ackerman, Crystal Lake, who will be observing his 25th wedding anniversary—away from Mrs. A.

ASSERTS SUBWAY CAN CARRY ONLY EXPRESS TRAINS

'L' Official Is Witness at Hearing by ICC.

The State street subway, main north-south artery of the proposed new Chicago traction system, will handle only half of the peak rush hour traffic now carried around the loop on the elevated, it was disclosed yesterday at a hearing in progress before examiners of the Illinois Commerce commission on the proposed transit merger. Plans now call for the subway to carry only the express trains of the "L" system, the local trains continuing to use the elevated structure.

William R. Morgan, assistant to Attorney General George F. Barrett, brought out that when the State street subway is put in operation it will take only 20 trains going north and 20 going south in the two rush hours of 7:50 to 8:50 a. m. and 5 to 6 p. m., and that there are now nearly twice this many elevated trains.

Plan to Use Wooden Cars.

Dwight L. Smith, assistant executive officer for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, operating the "L," testified that some wooden cars will have to be used in the express service the company plans for the subway. It has only 456 steel cars and 700 will be needed.

Under questioning by Morgan, Smith said that the State street subway will be completed next spring. He admitted that some materials are needed for completion but said priorities had been obtained for them and they had been purchased. The track, Smith testified, is 75 per cent complete.

Junctions Are Not Complete.

Smith said that junctions between the "L" tracks and the tube are not complete and that structural steel is needed, but the priority rating is "believed to be adequate."

From his testimony it was indicated that a great deal of material has yet to be obtained for the Dearborn street subway, altho the tube is complete. Maj. R. F. Kelker of the city transit department said that certain changes of design found necessary have saved $250,000 in cost.

BROTHER OF WINANT HEADS MIDDLE EAST SUPPLY COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Frederick Winant, brother of John G. Winant, United States ambassador to Great Britain, has been appointed chairman of the executive committee of the middle east supply center, the Office of War Information announced today.

The center serves the nonmilitary needs of middle east countries. It operates as a part of the middle eastern war council, on which the United States army command in the middle east sits along with the British.

Winant will be assisted by Marshall MacDuffie of the Board of Economic Warfare and Ben H. Thibodeau of the department of agriculture. Winant also acts as lend-lease representative.

The center serves countries having a population of nearly 80 million and an area exceeding that of the United States.

33 FIREMEN HURT, $500,000 LOSS IN HOUSTON BLAZE

Houston, Tex., Nov. 11 (AP).—Thirty-three firemen and one coast guardsman were injured while fighting a four-alarm fire at a department store early today. Twenty-one of the firemen were injured when a wooden canopy on which they were standing, collapsed.

Damage was estimated at $500,000.

Firemen poured thousands of gallons of water into the windows of the three story brick building for more than two hours before the fire was brought under control.

The 21 firemen had just climbed to the roof of the canopy, about 50 feet in length, when it collapsed.

INDUCT 649 NAVY AIRMAN CADETS; 149 GO TO IOWA

Chicago and its suburbs yesterday contributed 265 of the 649 youths composing the largest group of navy pilot cadets ever sent into training from this area at one time, said Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson, senior member of the naval aviation cadet selection board.

The navy preflight school at Iowa City, Ia., was the destination of 149 of the men who are members of five special navy air squadrons, and the remaining 500 were assigned to optional civilian pilot training courses provided for those who want extra instructions before starting the navy program.

Of the 149 who left for preflight training, 90 per cent were CPT course graduates, Commander Olson said. He said the navy enlisted 19 new pilot cadets yesterday for the Chicago area.

PASSAGE OF 18-19 DRAFT WITHOUT CURBS DUE TODAY

Year's Training Provision Appears Doomed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Speedy final approval of the 'teen age draft bill in the senate tomorrow was predicted tonight as proponents of the 12 month training requirement for young soldiers before sending them into battle virtually abandoned their fight for this restriction as originally passed by the senate.

House and senate conferees unanimously eliminated the restrictions when the bill went into conference and the house yesterday completed its consideration of the bill to reduce the minimum draft age from 20 to 18, without strings attached, when it approved the conference report by a voice vote.

Face Call Early in Year.

Tomorrow the senate will consider the conference report and upon approval—which is expected with little opposition, if any—the legislation will be ready for President Roosevelt's signature. This will set in motion the machinery to bring young men 18 and 19 years old into the draft, and they will be called beginning early in 1943.

Senate supporters of the 12 month training restriction, which the house never supported, met today at the call of Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.], who sponsored the amendment in the senate. Those attending the strategy conference said approval of the conference report probably would be unanimous.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] said he had been assured by the war department that "the boys will be given adequate training before being sent into actual service."

"I think we can get it all straightened out and it seems that just about everybody will vote for the bill without the training amendment tomorrow, after being assured that they will get enough training," he said.

Call for Essential Men.

Meanwhile it was disclosed by selective service headquarters that local boards had been advised that increasing demands of the armed forces require that large numbers of men in essential activities who are liable for service be released for induction.

The boards also were notified of the classification by selective service of three more activities as "essential to the war effort." This brought to 37 the number so listed.

The additional essential classifications and the number of jobs in each, subject to superior claims for deferment were:

Production of rubber products, 31 key positions; production of apparel for the armed forces and work clothing, 8 positions; production of finished lumber products, 19 positions.

Konradt, who was in Chicago on furlough, was a son of William Konradt, 3113 Irving Park road.

TUGWELL UNDER NEW ATTACK ON OUSTER OF AID

Puerto Ricans Roiled by Malcolm Removal.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Removal of George A. Malcolm as attorney general of Puerto Rico by President Roosevelt brought comment today by Bolivar Pagan, Puerto Rican resident commissioner, that "no American officer deserves more prompt removal than Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell," according to a statement by Pagan to the Associated Press.

George A. Malcolm.

Pagan's reference to Tugwell was in connection with his discussion of reports that Malcolm's removal resulted from clashes with Tugwell's policies. When the removal was announced here yesterday neither the President nor the justice department would discuss reasons.

"People Sick of Tugwell."

The Puerto Rican commissioner told the Associated Press that it would be "most unfortunate" if Malcolm has been ousted to please Tugwell. He added that the people of Puerto Rico have been protesting against Tugwell and are "sick and tired" of him. He also expressed a hope that a Puerto Rican lawyer will be assigned to fill the vacancy.

"We have many able lawyers in Puerto Rico who are well fitted for the office," Pagan was quoted by the Associated Press. "I think that the department of justice in Washington and the President should pick a lawyer who is acquainted with legislation in force in Puerto Rico for the job."

Refused to Resign.

Pagan said he believed it would be "only fair" to give Puerto Ricans a share in the insular government thru choice of a native for the attorney generalship.

Malcolm, whose home is in Concord, Mich., has been described by Rep. Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.] as "the greatest career man in the insular departments of government." At the justice department it was said the removal order was issued after Malcolm had been requested to resign and had refused.

8 Get Panama President's O.K. on Joining U.S. Army

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Nov. 11.—President Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia has granted eight young Panamanians permission to join the United States army without loss of citizenship, according to a decree issued yesterday. The decree stated that Panama's present inability to form an expeditionary force made it necessary to let Panamanians join the services of friendly nations.

CHICAGO HONORS 1918 HEROES WHO DIED FOR PEACE

Armistice Day Ceremonies in City Are Brief.

Chicago, a city engrossed in winning a second World war, paused briefly at 11 a. m. yesterday to honor the dead of the first World war in observances vastly different from Armistice days in years of peace.

The forms were the same, but there was no air of celebration; there was no long procession of armed might which marked the day last year. Instead, at State and Madison streets, a brief memorial program was held with only a scattering of uniformed men among the 10,000 civilians who faced the east for the traditional minute of silence and prayed for another victory and another and more permanent armistice.

150 Join Merchant Marine.

Sponsored by the Carson Pirie Scott post, the Marine post, and the Mandel Brothers post of the American Legion and the Allied World War Veterans' council, the program at State and Madison streets was featured by the induction of 150 men of the United States maritime service.

Thruout the city there were simultaneous observances. Floral tributes were placed on memorial plaques and the echo of firing squads' volleys mingled with the sounding of taps. But all were brief ceremonies and consisted of brief talks, with the general tenor of the utterances a plea for a complete victory followed by a lasting peace.

Impressive examples of the spirit of the wartime Armistice day were found in the war plants of the city, where at 11 o'clock whistles sounded and the employés faced east in silence for a minute, then returned to their task of making tools for war.

Day of Work at Great Lakes.

At Fort Sheridan and at Great Lakes Naval Training station the day was one of work, with only a minute of silence at 11 a. m. in observance of Armistice day.

Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, made concrete the sentiment of the day when he addressed 350 men who met at the Union League club at a luncheon that marked both Armistice day and the anniversary of the Marine corps.

"Make this Armistice day a day of rejoicing and celebration a hundred years from now, instead of the hollow celebration of today," Adm. Downes said. "Let us dedicate ourselves this day to win this war and upon its successful conclusion to secure ourselves and the world that forevermore wars will be part of the history of the past—not of the present or the future."

Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, commandant of the 6th service command, who spoke at the Union League club program, referred also to postwar military strength. "Our armed forces have one objective—to bring about a new armistice at the earliest possible date," he said. "It is up to you to back preparedness after the war so our next armistice may be a permanent cessation of hostilities."

Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, officer in charge of the central recruiting division of the U. S. Marine corps, represented his corps at the Union League club luncheon, and traced the 167 year history of the organization. Other guests of honor at the luncheon included Lieut. Col. James G. Gannon, commanding officer of a marine tank company, who is en route from the Solomons to Washington, D. C.; Lieut. Gene Drake, Wilmette, of the army air forces, who has been decorated for his service against the Japs, and Corp. Tullio Bianchi, 2428 Polk street, of the marine corps, who was wounded in south Pacific action.

Downers Grove Officer, 6 Others Given D. S. M.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The award of additional decorations to army officers who distinguished themselves in the Philippines was announced today by the war department. The distinguished service medal was awarded to seven officers, all but one of whom are believed prisoners of the enemy in the Philippines. Among them was Brig. Gen. Charles P. Stivers, a native of Downers Grove, Ill., who was assistant chief of staff for personnel in the Philippine department, and left Corregidor for Australia in March.

MRS. JOY BROWN.

New York, Nov. 11 [Special].—Mrs. Joy Brown has settled for $50 the first damage suit brought in the New York area under OPA price regulations. She filed the suit against a women's shop which overcharged her for three pairs of nylon hose. She complained to the OPA that $4 a pair was exorbitant. The ceiling price was $2.98. The shop settled out of court.

BLOOD AND TEARS VICTORY'S PRICE, ARMSTRONG SAYS

Americans must be willing to shed "blood and tears" to win this war, Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois selective service director, declared last night at an Armistice day observance in Medinah temple, held under auspices of Cook county council of the American Legion.

"Victory will require the utmost sacrifices on the part of the civilian population," he said. "If this means longer hours, we'll have to work longer hours."

He added that he is convinced we shall never have peace until our soldiers have marched into the very capitals of the enemy. "Armistice day should should never be abolished," Armstrong said. "We should rededicate ourselves to the job of winning the peace in this war since we failed to win it in the last."

The director was speaking with the knowledge that his son, Don, 20 years old, soon will be in service. Young Armstrong was notified yesterday he will be inducted with the next group taken from his local board, No. 151, at 1791 Howard street. He is a student at Northwestern university.

Declares Canadians Will Lead Allies Into Berlin

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 11 (AP).—Canada's overseas army "is ticketed to be the spearhead of the European second front," Gillis Purcell, assistant general manager of the Canadian Press, said tonight in an address to the Hamilton section of the Canadian Medical association. "To Canadians, the new offensive in North Africa has a special significance," said Purcell. "It means that the Canadian army is nominated to be the dagger that strikes into Berlin."

ALLIES GAINING EDGE OVER AXIS, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Dooms Japan, Germany in Armistice Day Talk.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Germany and Japan "face inevitable, final defeat," President Roosevelt declared today, in leading the nation in the observance of Armistice day.

The chief executive spoke in the amphitheater in Arlington National cemetery after laying a wreath at the nearby marble tomb of the unknown soldier. At his side was Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary forces in the World war.

"Today, as on all Armistice days since 1918, our thoughts go back to the first World war, and we remember with gratitude the bravery of the men who fought and helped to win that fight against German militarism," he said.

Hits Jap, Nazi Savagery.

"But this year our thoughts are also very much of the living present, and of the future which we begin to see open before us—a picture illumined by a new light of hope.

"Today Americans and their British brothers in arms are again fighting on French soil. They are again fighting against a German militarism which transcends a hundredfold the brutality and barbarism of 1918."

Mr. Roosevelt charged that the Nazis and the Japs have tried to drive history into reverse, to drive civilization into prehistoric savagery in their effort to conquer the world.

The President reported that while the "opponents of justice and decency" have passed their peak, the United States, Britain, Russia, and China are growing rapidly to full strength.

"And—as a result of recent events—the United States forces are being joined by large numbers of the fighting men of our traditional ally, France," he continued. "On this day, of all days, it is heartening for us to know that soldiers of France go forward with the united nations."

No Parades in Capital.

Washington paused but momentarily to pay homage to the World war dead on the first wartime observance of Armistice day. Government offices were open and, except for private enterprises, the slogan was business as usual. There were no parades.

GEORGE VI. OBSERVES 24TH ARMISTICE DAY WITH BRIEF SILENCE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

King George VI. canceled the usual services at the Cenotaph, Britain's London memorial to her war dead, and observed a two minute silence in Buckingham palace as the world's democratic nations yesterday marked their 24th Armistice day.

The "Fighting French" organization in London asked its fellow countrymen in the home country to observe the day with quiet and a prayer. Gen. Charles de Gaulle addressed an Albert hall rally.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spent most of the day with American marines and naval men at the United States naval base at Londonderry, Northern Ireland, and laid a wreath on Londonderry's memorial to the dead of the last war.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and cabinet officials gathered in Ottawa to commemorate "the loyal service and sacrifice of Canadians in the first war.

CHILD SALUTED BY ADMIRAL AS NATION'S FUTURE

Yesterday's Armistice day program at the Union League club had an unexpected guest. He was Paul Gerding, 6½ years old, of 5419 Magnolia avenue.

Rear Adm. John Downes, as he started his address to the members and guests of the club, mentioned that he had seen a young lad in the hall listening to the talks by Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand of the army and Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney of the marine corps.

"I wish some one would bring that boy in here to sit in my chair while I talk," Adm. Downes said. "On our actions depends his future."

Paul, who had been visiting the club with his grandfather, Joseph V. Sullivan, an official of the Chicago Surface Lines, had fled, but he was found and proudly took his place by the admiral and among the other distinguished guests, including Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Brig. Gen. Nathan William McChesney, Brig. Gen. Chester R. Davis, and other leaders in army, marine, navy, and civic life.

BEGIN BUILDING FOOT SPAN OVER MICHIGAN AVE.

The park district yesterday erected the framework of a foot bridge which will span Michigan avenue just south of Balbo avenue. The bridge will facilitate the daily passage of thousands of soldiers from the air forces schools in the Stevens and Congress hotels to their drill and calisthenic sessions in Grant park. The mass crossings have been obstructing traffic on the avenue.

The span, which will be 12 feet wide and have 14 feet of clearance for vehicles, will be constructed of wood and old steel left over from A Century of Progress Exposition building in 1933-'34.

'17-'18 MOTHERS FRET ABOUT NEW LADS OVER THERE

Memories of World War Lived by Gold Stars.

Gold Star Mothers of the World war turned their thoughts to the new boys yesterday. Still misty eyed with memories of the morning pause for facing east, a band of 55 gathered in the Morrison hotel to hold their 23d annual Armistice day dinner and worry, motherlike, about the lad next door, the boy from across the street.

Of course, the troops in Africa are rested. Mrs. Anna Brucker, 321 Courtland avenue, Park Ridge, remembered how well her son, Charles, 19 years old, who was killed in the Argonne forest, was trained.

Speed Shows How Boys Feel.

"They have lots of pep," she said. "They could go for three days at a time without sleeping. The boys aren't lie-in-beds like they are when they're home. I know. You can tell how wonderful they feel by how fast they're going down there."

And Mrs. Brucker's daughter-in-law, Charles' widow, Esther, 2700 North Drake avenue, smiled. She knew how lively the new boys are. Her son, John Charles, 24, was trained at the same camp as his dad.

Mrs. Mary Hastings, 3434 Jackson boulevard, knows, too. John Hastings is in the army. James Hastings is a third class petty officer.

Both the Brucker mothers have advice for mailing packages, for understanding why letters are late. Mrs. Anna Megary, 1535 Cornelia avenue, who had two sons in the World war, nods.

New Gold Star Mothers There.

All cast admiring glances at the distinguished service cross awarded posthumously to Bugler Frank B. Swift, who was killed in the Chipilly ridge battle. His mother, Mrs. Mabel Swift, 664 Circle avenue, Forest Park, took it to the dinner with her. Also present were two gold star mothers of this war.

They are Mrs. Ella Dreesbach, 1502 North Lorel avenue, and Mrs. Lucille Novak, 4005 Sheridan road, whose sons, Herbert, 23, and Donald E. Hamel, 19, both went down on the Arizona at Pearl Harbor. Mrs. Dreesbach and Mrs. Novak didn't know each other until the casualty lists came out.

Launch Freighter Named for Ex-Chicago Alderman

Sausalito, Cal., Nov. 11 (AP).—The 10,500 ton Liberty freighter William Kent, named for an old time Chicago councilman, got a double send-off today when Kent's twin granddaughters crashed champagne against its gray bow and sent it sliding down the ways. The girls are Marty and Nancy Kent, 16 years old, daughters of Thomas T. Kent, a welder in marine shipyards where the launching took place. William Kent was a member of the Chicago city council from 1895 until 1897.

AURORA TO GET BIG AIR FIELD IF IT PAYS FOR SITE

The Civil Aeronautics administration announced yesterday in Washington that Aurora has been designated as the site for an airport to have 4,000 foot runways for military use.

At least 400 acres, and perhaps as much as 640 acres, of land will be required for the project, CAA spokesmen said. Whether Aurora gets such an airport is dependent upon the city, which must buy the acreage. The CAA is permitted to spend its appropriation only for surfacing runways, drainage, lighting, fencing, and any grading necessary. That work would cost about $1,200,000.

Besides furnishing the land, the Aurora officials would be required to maintain the airport and its buildings for civilian use after the war.

CITY BUS FIRMS AWAIT ORDER TO SLASH SERVICES

List Changes Proposed to Reduce Mileage.

Bus operating officials of the Chicago Motor Coach company and the Chicago Surface Lines yesterday awaited the formal order by the Office of Defense Transportation slashing bus mileage on the Chicago systems 15 per cent below corresponding 1941 levels.

The curtailment order was designed to shift passenger traffic from rubber tires to steel wheels and was the first issued affecting transit routes and schedules in local communities.

Work Out Own Program.

The companies are allowed by the ODT order to work out their curtailment programs in any manner which will keep public inconvenience at a minimum.

Altho the ODT suggested that the Kimball, Homan-Kimball, and Ogden avenue bus routes of the surface lines be eliminated, officials of the company were not prepared to say whether they will follow this suggestion.

The motor coach company was urged to cut service between rush hours by 20 per cent and to abandon short feeder lines. Last spring the company submitted to the ODT a proposed curtailment program which would save 4 million tire miles a year.

List Proposed Changes.

The routes affected in the proposed motor coach curtailment program and the number of tire miles expected to be saved in a year follow:

Route 55 [Howard street-Ashland avenue]—Service in off-peak periods would be confined to Howard street between Western avenue and the elevated line, 483,000 tire miles.

Route 1 [Drexel and Hyde Park]—Service south of 71st street would be discontinued between rush hours, 504,000 tire miles.

Route 2 [South Park way and Hyde Park]—Daytime service on weekdays between rush hours would be limited to between Drexel square and 51st street and South Park way, and on evenings and Sundays from Drexel square and 35th street, 697,800 tire miles.

Route 36 [Douglas]—Service on Independence boulevard and Hamlin avenue would be curtailed by turning back every other bus at Independence square during slack hours, and also at Jackson boulevard and Laflin street, 600,000 tire miles.

RIVER FOREST SAILOR KILLED, NAVY REPORTS

Joseph John Clarke, 35 years old, 621 Franklin avenue, River Forest, has been killed in action, the navy notified his wife, Mrs. Ruth Richardson Clarke, yesterday. Clarke, formerly manager of Ruddy's Bakery in Oak Park, joined the navy a few days after the attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7. He was in Chicago at Easter, when he visited his mother, Mrs. P. V. Clarke, 2244 Lincoln Park West, and was last heard from on Oct. 1, when he reported he was "in good health."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

L. C. T. writes: "Mr. Hershey has said that if barbers would stop barbering and sweep the defense plant floor, they would be deferred longer than they would as barbers. Isn't there some branch of service that barbers can get into where they can be barbers instead of janitors?"

ANSWER: Barbers who have owned or operated shops for at least two or three years may enlist in the naval construction battalion as barbers and qualify for a rating of seaman 2d or 1st class. The Chicago office is at 225 South Clark street, second floor.

T. T. P. writes: "I thought there was some place in the army for linguists. I write and speak French, Spanish, Russian, and Portuguese, and just because I operated a switchboard and teletype in civilian life, I'm assigned to the signal corps."

ANSWER: The war department has asked commanding officers to report directly to the classification and enlisted replacement branch of the adjutant general's office the names of every qualified switchboard operator who can speak, read, and write French fluently. Communicate with your commanding officer or the adjutant of your center about obtaining a transfer.

C. C. O. asks: "Can you give me the age limits and where to write for information on the navy nurse corps?"

ANSWER: The age limits for the regular corps is 22 to 28 and for the reserve corps 22 to 40. Write to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, navy department, Washington, D. C.

F. E. M. writes: "A bunch of us men just stationed here are from Chicago and we are miles from any town where we can get things we need. If any of your readers have any athletic equipment, small radios, or flatirons they aren't using, we'd appreciate receiving what they can send."

ANSWER: This letter bore the signatures of scores of the men. If you can help them out, send your gift in care of Special Service Officer, Provisional Training Battalion, Fort Taylor, Key West, Fla.

C. N. A. asks: "Can you tell me what the draft officials mean when they speak of a 'normal 1-A man'?

ANSWER: A "normal 1-A man" is a registrant who, on original classification or on an applicable "change of status"—such as [1] death of a sole dependent, [2] divorce without alimony or mandatory support of some nature, or [3] removal of dependency or other cause for deferment—should properly be classified in 1-A. The following types of registrants would be included: Single men without dependents; men who married or acquired other cause for deferment on or after Dec. 8, 1941, and at a time when their selection was imminent; married men not living with and not supporting their wives and/or children; single men whose amounts of payments to claimed dependents do not properly entitle them to be properly considered as "men with collateral dependents."

CUT IS ORDERED IN PETROLEUM USE ON EAST COAST

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—A War Production board spokesman announced tonight that Chairman Donald M. Nelson has ordered a reduction in the civilian use of petroleum products in 17 states on the east coast.

The spokesman, WPB Information Director Stephen E. Fitzgerald, explained that Nelson's directive provided merely for an over-all cut in petroleum products, and no decision has been made yet as to how much of the cut will have to be borne by gasoline, fuel oil or other types of petroleum.

"You can assume," Fitzgerald said, "that we will try to cut elsewhere before we reduce fuel oil for heating homes."

OIL CONSUMERS, DEALERS ASSAIL RATIONING BODIES

Overstepping of authority and a "nasty attitude" were charged against members of some rationing boards in suburbs in the metropolitan area yesterday by fuel oil dealers and consumers. One dealer with customers in western suburbs, speaking particularly of the rationing boards in Downers Grove and Wheaton, said:

"Every member of these two boards thinks he's Leon Henderson himself. They are often high handed and discourteous. I have seen them herd people around like cattle, when all the people wanted was a little cooperation."

Both dealers and oil users said in several instances they had met either with discourtesy or with confusion and inability by board members. There appeared to be, they said, an inability to help homeowners who must have fuel, and said they were becoming apprehensive.

Engineers to Aid Boards.

Michael F. Mulcahy, rationing administrator for the Chicago metropolitan area, said he had heard no complaints either from consumers or dealers. He added, however, that he has arranged to send heating engineers to all boards to help the rationers. He said another group of experts on oil rationing will visit all local boards to help with purely rationing problems.

Confusion, lack of experience by the rationers, and the fact "the whole oil rationing program is off in its timing," were charged by F. B. Caldwell, secretary of the Burning Oil Distributors association.

"There have been a lot of changes and the machinery for proper rationing of fuel oil has been behind time in forming," Caldwell said.

Some Ask for Assistance.

"I think most of the rationers are doing the best they can, but the best they can do doesn't seem good enough. I have checked some boards in the suburbs, in fact, where the members have been so anxious to learn what to do they have asked me to help them."

An official of Braun Brothers, one of the companies selling fuel oil to customers in Lake Forest, Lincolnwood, Highland Park, Mount Prospect, Wilmette, Winnetka, and Evanston, said that while rationing started Oct. 1, applications were received by few boards until Oct. 27 or 28.

"With 2,000 fuel oil users in Winnetka, 6,000 in Evanston, and comparable numbers in other north shore suburbs, simply processing the applications is a big job," this official said. "It takes from 10 minutes to half an hour to process each application. The board members are liberal enough in their interpretation of the law, but there is your trouble."

HITLER'S NEW FRONT.

Hitler's counter to our occupation of northwest Africa was the announcement that he would occupy all of France to prevent an American invasion of the continent thru France's Mediterranean ports.

In his recent speeches Hitler has made it clear that he no longer expects to end the war with a knockout. That was his original idea. After conquering Poland, Norway and Denmark, the Low Countries, France, and the Balkans he invaded Russia in the expectation that after Russia was knocked out Britain would have to accept such terms as he might offer, for even if America entered the war this country could not arrive in time to be effective.

Now he is singing a different tune. His present purpose is to hold what he has and prevent his enemy from invading Europe. He must prepare to defend at every point the long western face of Europe, from northern Norway to the Spanish border, as well as the long southern coast from Spain to the Balkans. His lines of supply have lengthened steadily as his conquests have proceeded. He has lost many of his best troops and he must spread those that remain to him over an ever longer front, stretching now from Cherbourg to Stalingrad.

Hitler's note to Marshal Petain disclosed the essential weakness of Hitler's relations with the peoples he has overcome. From the first he pretended that he was the protector of Europe, the man divinely appointed to bring peace and order to a continent divided by irrational economic and political frontiers. That was his story, but his acts have abundantly proved its insincerity.

Had his words been genuine he would long ago have taken at least a first step toward constituting his new Europe. More than two years have passed since the defeat of France, yet he has persistently refused to give a treaty of peace to France. His program for Poland was destruction and enslavement. He has offered little more to the Norwegians, the Danes, the Greeks, and the other conquered peoples. If there was at any time any disposition on the part of his victims to take at face value his promises of a better order in Europe all such hopes have long been shattered.

FOUR 20-MULE TEAMS.

The Citizens' Bureau of Governmental Research, a nonpartisan New York organization for the study of efficient governmental technic, has attracted attention by its recent proposals for the reorganization of the war administrative structure.

Much of the confusion in Washington is admittedly due to extremely faulty organization of the war agencies and the war effort itself. The citizens bureau has listed a total of 81 federal departments, boards, commissions, committees, and war agencies that report directly to the President. It is, as the bureau comments, "like trying to drive four 20-mule teams at once, with the mules not lined up in harness but each one hitched by a separate lasso to the driver's seat, all managed by a crisscross of reins and pulling in independent directions. This draws the wagon forward, but not with the speed demanded in danger."

As a substitute for the present chaos the bureau recommends a war cabinet, with its membership reduced from the present 10 to 7 members, thru the consolidation of functions of the secretary of war with those of the secretary of the navy, of the commerce and labor departments, and of the departments of agriculture and the interior. All of the functions now performed by the 80 odd organizations reporting directly to the President would be assigned to one of the seven cabinet members. Instead of transmitting his orders thru four score channels, the President would give them thru seven.

On paper the reorganization represents notable improvement. In practice it might represent an equal one. Whether it did or not would depend upon something that the draftsmen of charts of organization so often neglect. That is personnel. One reason for the creation of all of the separate, independent, and often conflicting war agencies is that, with the fewest exceptions, the members of President Roosevelt's cabinet are second raters and some of them are tenth raters. They were so thoroly incapable of carrying on their peacetime routine that none dared trust them in war.

It is proposed that the unified direction of the fighting forces, including all matters of transport and lend-lease, be placed under a secretary of war and navy. Would the Bureau of Governmental Research suggest that this job be given to the bombastic Mr. Knox or would it prefer the senile Mr. Stimson? The secretary of commerce and labor would govern all production agencies, man power, wages, and industry engaged in the war effort. How would Mme. Perkins look in that job? And which would rattle around worse as secretary of agriculture and the interior, running food control, economic stabilization, and price fixing, Secretary of the Interior Ickes or Secretary of Agriculture Wickard?

Obviously, it is the bureau's idea that if these positions of great responsibility were established, partisan and political motives would be set aside and men would be sought capable of meeting the responsibility. That is a hopeful but not a certain prospect.

FOR CLASSES IN FRENCH.

These are the days when it must be very easy, indeed, to be a teacher of French. All you have to do is bring the morning paper to class and let the boys and girls go to work on it.

Leaflets were dropped from airplanes over North African cities to inform the people there of our invasion and its purposes. The facsimile printed in THE TRIBUNE on Monday was an exercise made to order for translation. Even the beginners ought to find no great difficulty in putting into English such phrases as "Fidele a l'amitie traditionnelle et seculaire du gouvernement et du peuple des Etats-Unis pour la France et pour l'Afrique francaise du Nord, une grande armee americaine debarque sur votre sol." [We're not going to ask our printers to put in the accent marks.]

The more advanced classes can take Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Marshal Petain, which was published in English, and turn it back into French. That shouldn't be too difficult. The class might try its hand at such sentences as these:

"As an old friend of France and the people of France, my anger and sympathy grow with every passing day when I consider the misery, the want, and the absence from their homes of the flower of French manhood. Germany has neglected no opportunity to demoralize and degrade your great nation."

The opportunity is there to capture and hold the attention of the pupils and to give them the sense that French is a living language; we wonder how many teachers of French have taken advantage of the day's news.

THE SCARCITY BOYS KEEP IT UP.

Ten per cent less beef is to be made available to the civilian market, during the remainder of this year, than is now to be had in the butcher shops. The current supply is already held by executive fiat to four-fifths of what was sold a year ago.

The beef reduction order comes from the Office of Price Administration. The OPA acted at the direction of the War Production board's food requirements committee, after military and lend-lease authorities asserted that they were unable to obtain enough beef.

The obvious solution to a shortage of beef is to stimulate the production of beef. This didn't even occur to the scarcity boys in Washington, altho the shortage of beef is largely the result of their tinkering with the price structure, which has made it unprofitable, or at least unduly risky, for middle western farmers to buy range cattle and fatten them on pasture and grain. In consequence of this burocratic interference, we will get not only less beef but poorer beef, because the range cattle lack the quality obtained in the feeding lots.

The reaction of the New Dealers to any shortage is virtually automatic. Henry Wallace has moved on from the holocaust of little pigs, and is now advocating the rationing of the Bill of Rights, but the gospel of scarcity, of which he was the great apostle, is still firmly intrenched in the administration.

It extends, of course, far beyond the field of beef, or foodstuffs. The whole New Deal philosophy is that our economic system has stopped expanding and thus that the great task of government is not to encourage the production of more goods and comforts, but to take the existing supply and redistribute it. The New Dealer is never appalled by a shortage. It gives him an opportunity to step in as an umpire and say who is to have how much.

A surplus would present an entirely different problem. Obviously, if every one has all he wants, there is no job for the grand rationer. America may be the pantry of the united nations, but the Supreme court says it is still all right to fine a farmer 49 cents a bushel if he raises more wheat than Secretary Wickard says he can. The New Deal isn't 100 per cent efficient as yet, but give it time and we'll all be on short rations.

Mr. Henderson assures us that we are not going to have to pay high prices for beef. Secretary Wickard tells us that that's right, only we'd better get down to the market early if we want any at any price.

THE TORPEDO PLANES AT MIDWAY.

The navy has a new torpedo bombing plane, the Grumman Avenger, which is said to be one of the deadliest of the new types of ships in which naval flyers are taking the air. This would be welcome news to the torpedo bombing pilots who took off from American carriers in the battle of Midway, providing they were here to hear it. Most of them aren't.

It was announced on Nov. 4 in Hawaii that of the 12 planes in Torpedo Squadron 5 which took off to attack the Japanese carriers in that great victory only two returned. Of 14 planes in Torpedo Squadron 6 only four returned. It had previously been announced that every one of the 15 planes in Torpedo Squadron 8 had been shot down by the Japs with the loss of all but one man from their crews.

The fate these flyers met was described a few weeks ago in the Saturday Evening Post by Lieut. Clarence E. Dickenson, who flew a dive bomber in the attacks which destroyed four Jap carriers. Lieut. Dickenson recounted his surprise when his dive bombing squadron sighted the first of the Jap carriers without being attacked by Jap fighter planes.

"Then I saw some of their fighters milling about close to the water," he said. "They were finishing a job. Our torpedo squadrons, one from each of the American carriers, had met and attacked at noon. In considerably less than the 25 minutes that elapsed before we made our bombing attack they had been destroyed, except for a few who got back to the fleet."

And of the pilots who made this torpedo attack Dickenson said: "They had done a magnificent thing. They had made their attack on the Japanese carriers just before us. I had been afraid they would be wiped out. Those old torpedo planes in which they flew were practically obsolete when they were delivered in 1936. Unarmored and unprotected as they were, I can't help but believe that they made their attack with no expectation of getting back."

No finer tribute could be paid to the unequaled gallantry of the torpedo pilots than these words from their comrade in action, who was himself shot down at sea and rescued only by great good luck. "Old planes . . . unarmored and unprotected . . . practically obsolete in 1936."

Who in the navy department was responsible for sending young Americans out to their deaths in such obsolete planes? The Grumman Avenger was used in the battle of Midway, but from land bases, not from the carriers. Why? Why was the navy so long in replacing planes that were virtually obsolete six years ago? Did it have any better planes and, if so, where where they sent if not to the carriers that formed our first line of defense in the Pacific?

These are some of the questions that the committee on the conduct of the war, which it has been proposed congress organize, should ask of the navy department. The greatest tribute the nation can pay the gallant men who gave their lives against such frightful odds at Midway is to see to it that burocratic stupidity does not send other American fighters into battle under the same sort of handicap.

But the man power shortage isn't apparent when a new commission has a few thousand jobs to hand out.—Portland Evening Express.

HIPPODROME OF HISTORY.

This is North African week; the news on the first page is too surprising and stirring to permit the mind to dwell on less global subjects.

* * *

The first time we landed [in imagination] on that coast was in the company of a war-worn refugee from a conquered city in Asia Minor; his name was Aeneas. We were welcomed by a queen of Phoenician ancestry named Dido, who ruled over a promising young colony called Carthage. Ah, well, it's an old, old story. Poor Dido.

* * *

We landed again, centuries later, with the legions of a Roman general named Scipio, who fulfilled his people's ancient oath, "Carthage must be destroyed." Exit Carthage.

* * *

The flood of time rolled on and we came again, with the help of a historian named Gibbon, to see a wandering tribe of northern barbarians called Vandals storm the many cities of this coast and settle there to establish a kingdom. They gave Carthage, long since sanded over, its revenge by crossing the sea to sack weary old Rome.

* * *

Then, still aided by Mr. Gibbon, we galloped with the fanatic horsemen of Arabia all the way along this hippodrome of history from Egypt to Gibraltar, carrying the fierce faith of Mohammed. Ever since, whatever flags have floated over the ports, the land has belonged to Allah.

* * *

And now this new invasion, more fantastic than any of the others, comes to give the ancient coast its greatest chapter in history. A new Rome trembles, and no doubt the spirit of long-dead Carthage chuckles under the sand.

HIFALUTIN SALUTIN'.

When I salute, the Squadron stares
And envy lights each eye.
Lieutenants, singly and in pairs,
Just look at me and sigh.

The Corporal, a husky lad
But mentally a mote,
Said, and quite roughly I might add,

The Sergeants come and call me down
(Their jealousy's acute);
For no one really goes to town
Like me when I salute.

When I salute I go to town!
It's very plain to see
That from the General on down
No one salutes like me!

Officer, They're Fighting Again.

Hon. Linemaster: I'm glad that No-Shoes Al tole ya [Nov. 6] about me needing blood cause it reminded me of tha time when he saw a ad in tha paper saying as how donors wood get 5 bucks a pint at tha county hospital if they had tha proper type of gore. Seems there was a drunk brought in from a pent-house souse party an tha guy thought he was in a saloon an it happens tha French doors aint swinging doors an when he lit on tha sidewalk he was short 4 qts. of blood an 2 of bourbon.

Well, it seems you gotta have tha same kind of blood as a patient, and Al having been cured [many times] he was accepted. Course when they hooked him up to the gent they hadda cover his mouth with gauze cause if tha guy wood of gotta whiff of Al's breath he might of got tight all over again. Ennyway Al figgered this racket was better than working, so he moved next door to tha hospital to save tha car-fare.

Tha drunk was cured but it seems Al's gore has got something in it that aint to tha guy's liking, cause now tha guy finds himself wanting to live in trees an swing from branch to branch an throw coconuts. Al heard of this strange goings on and figgers he now will never hafta work again as he has decided to take on another sideline, that is if he can find some organ grinder who needs a monk. This all proves the old adage.

A DREADFUL DREAM.

I dreamed a dream last night
That had me paralyzed with fright.
I bought a Line Book, '42
And looked, as any one would do,
To see what verse of mine was there.
I couldn't find one anywhere!
I turned each page and scanned each rhyme.
I hadn't made the book this time!
O, nightmare vile! I wept and wailed,
To know how sadly I had failed.
Dear Mr. Collins, tell me, do:
Is there a chance that dreams come true?

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BANISH RATS AND AVOID WEIL'S DISEASE.

SOME of these days, let us hope, we will exterminate the house rat. These rodents not only consume millions of dollars worth of food but pollute far more than they destroy. In addition, they are potent carriers of disease. Bubonic plague is spread by infected fleas which they harbor while their bite gives rise to a vicious variety of fever.

Then there is Weil's disease which is far more common than we realize, altho the number of deaths in the United States each year is not large. Nevertheless, practically every domestic rodent harbors within his body the causative parasite. Contaminated urine from these loathsome creatures may pollute kitchens, become mixed with edibles, and thus transmit the disorder to human beings.

In mild cases the patient complains of pain in the stomach, nausea, and loss of appetite. The temperature and the pulse are raised moderately, while jaundice may be so slight as to be overlooked. Vomiting is usually present and will recur. Tenderness in the region of the gall bladder is characteristic. Such episodes terminate in from 7 to 10 days and the victim is as well as ever.

The severe form is a far more serious ailment. Chills are followed by high fever, digestive disturbances, and soreness in the muscles, particularly the calves of the legs. Bleeding from the nose may be observed. About the third or fourth day the skin becomes markedly jaundiced altho, in a few instances, this symptom will be lacking. As a rule, however, the pigmentation increases until, by the 10th or 12th day, the urine will be loaded with bile, with the cuticle saffron yellow. During this interval the patient is strikingly prostrated. Intense headache may be complained of, and the toxemia may influence the nervous system profoundly.

Fortunately we have the agglutination test so that the diagnosis may be made with a simple laboratory check. Infected patients may fail to call the physician until illness has become acute. If the onset is slow, the victim will endeavor to fight off the malady on the assumption that he has eaten something and is suffering from indigestion.

When the siege is light, little treatment will be required other than rest in bed and good nursing. But great care should be taken in disposing of the discharges which are probably contaminated with the responsible organisms. In serious cases immune serum from horses or goats is advised. If this is not obtainable, blood from a patient who has recovered from the ailment will be helpful. One thing must be kept in mind—namely, that liver damage may be extreme. This means that the diet must be high in glucose. In fact, it may be necessary to administer sugar solution directly into a vein.

We can avoid all this if we will rid our communities of the sources of the infection. Vermin will breed wherever they can find nutriment. At this season of the year these animals will seek warmer quarters within buildings where food can be procured. Thus the kitchens, granaries, and storehouses become havens of refuge.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE HICKS HAVE LANDED.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Maybe the "hicks" did elect Mr. Brooks, as W. E. Earl charges, but this is still a free country and their votes still count just as much as the votes from people in Cook county. What is more important is that there are a lot of "hicks" out in the Solomon Islands, over in Africa, and in many other places all over the world, who are giving their lives so as to defend that right to vote. And Mr. Earl, in case you don't know it, they are fighting so that you will be able to vote for whomever you please, so that you can write a letter to the Voice of the People, so THE TRIBUNE can print it, and so I can answer it if I wish. YEOMAN 3/C.

Woodstock, Ill., Nov. 9.—I am proud to be one of those co-called hicks. I take it W. E. Earl hasn't a son in service. I have one overseas fighting to protect Mr. Earl. I don't think it is necessary to explain why we mothers selected Curly Brooks. MRS. C. F. D.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—If any one who votes as his own mind dictates is a hick, then I'm glad to be one, instead of being a tool of the Kelly-Nash outfit who votes as he is told to vote, as they are in Germany. FRANK G. FELLINGER.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Does Mr. Earl realize that the President of the United States voted as a "hick" and seemed proud to be one? EMMILY FITZ.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—I would rather be called a hick than a crook.

H. PEBELUSKY.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—It is extremely regrettable that your liberalism compelled — or permitted — you to perpetuate in print today the vile outpouring of W. E. Earl of Park Ridge. Just what does he mean by "hicks"? If he means the people of this sovereign state who have their feet firmly planted on the clean soil of the Illinois prairies instead of in the filth of metropolitan politics, perhaps he is right, and thank God for the "hicks." But if I am any judge of their temper, let him crawl back in his bombproof sewer to seek protection from their wrath. A "hick" from Livingston county, and proud of it. JEAN HUSTED.

KELLY INVITED TO QUIT OCD POST.

Cicero, Ill., Nov. 9.—The administration of civilian defense in the Chicago metropolitan area should be taken out of the hands of politicians. Politics obviously should have no part in civilian defense. Have you noticed that a block flag dedication could not possibly be complete without a word from an alderman or ward committeeman? There are a good many Republicans taking part in civilian defense who resent being called un-American by his honor, the coördinator of civilian defense—yes, the man whose appointments and responsibilities have been accepted by Democrats and Republicans alike. This job is much too serious and important to be entrusted to Chicago politicians. In an effort to avoid bungling the civilian defense effort it may be wise to take steps to divorce this job from politics and place it in the hands of the army for complete control and supervision. Perhaps Mr. Kelly will graciously step out of his present post in the OCD now that he has started to clean house because certain individuals are in politics.

SUBURBAN AIR RAID WARDEN.

CHARGES DRAFT BUNGLING.

Berwyn, Ill., Nov. 1.—I have just completed reading the statements of the draft officials in today's TRIBUNE about starting to take married men this month. Why don't this man Hershey make up his mind to tell the truth?

At my place of business they have taken a man who is 38 years old, married, and has a child 8 years old, and his wife has been told she could go to work, after not working for over five years. Another man goes tomorrow. He is 37 years old, married two years. His wife never worked.

At the same time we have three men, single, in the first draft, who have never been called for a physical examination.

Who do these draft officials think they are kidding? CHAS. H. BROWN.

RED CROSS HOURS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—I agree with G. D. D. in regard to the American Red Cross blood donor station. I gave blood to them once before and last week I called up and asked for an appointment. All was fine until I told them I couldn't make it until 4:15 p. m. Then they told me they were sorry but no one would be there at that time. I think they should have some one there in the evening to take care of the working people. Or maybe they don't need any more blood.

ARTHUR GROVANNONS.

BUSY POSTMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—D. H. thinks postmen should make an effort to sell defense stamps. It seems to me any postman has enough responsibilities handling our mail.

If a postman started selling stamps in the morning he would still be delivering morning mail when he should be on his afternoon route.

D. H. says it would be a convenience for the purchaser. I don't believe there is a store in Chicago that doesn't sell defense stamps. Surely people aren't going to get the idea they have to have defense stamps delivered. That is practically what D. H. has suggested.

MRS. MABEL MAGUIRE.

POLITICAL DICTATION.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 6.—In New York President Roosevelt tried to dictate a defeat for Hamilton Fish. In this the President succeeded only in defeating his own purpose. In Nebraska he tried to dictate the reëlection of Sen. Norris, and here again he succeeded only in defeating his own purpose. The President should know by now that the people of this free country do not take kindly to dictation, especially to political dictation.

R. J. EMIEL.

BELOVED ENEMY.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—I know that many a French soldier who has been ordered by Vichy to resist the Yanks is firing his gun into the sky and surrendering with the words: "Praise the Lord, I'm out of ammunition." EDWIN O. SCHIEWE.

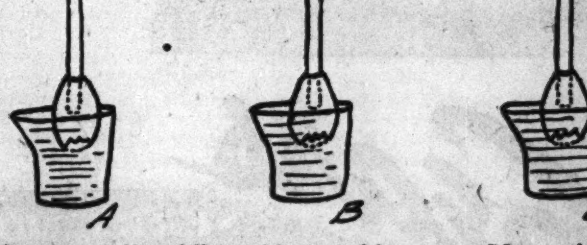
Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 33.

1. Which one of these terms suggests the western Pacific ocean region?
   Cyclone Tornado Typhoon Hurricane.
2. Which one of these terms indicates the highest wind velocity?
   Cyclone Tornado Typhoon Hurricane.
3. Which one of these most nearly resembles cabbage?
   Kale Rutabaga Salsify Parsley.
4. The Dewey decimal system is linked primarily with which of these?
   Shorthand Business Trigonometry Library.
5. The last organ of the body to die, after a patient stops breathing, is his Brain Heart Liver Kidney.
6. The fresh eggs pictured below have had a hole punched in the top and their contents mixed or stirred. Then an open glass tube has been inserted halfway in each and sealed there. The bottom of each egg has had the shell gently peeled away without breaking the white membrane that lies immediately under the shell. At "A" this membrane rests in a beaker of distilled water. At "B" it is in well water, while at "C" it is in a strong salt solution. In which of the tubes will the egg contents rise the highest and why? In which will it rise the least? What is the name of the process demonstrated here? You get two points credit for each of the first two questions above and the final point for naming this process.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

"Y'know, Dad, I doubt if this kind of thing will have any place in the new world after the war."

15,000 SELECT CITY JUDGE BY WRITE-IN VOTES

J. P. McSweeney Slated to Take Bench Soon.

A Democratic candidate for Municipal judge, John R. McSweeney, who received some 15,000 write-in votes, only a little more than 2 per cent of the votes given the top nominee chosen in the regular manner in the Nov. 3 election, seems sure to take his place on the bench within a few days.

The Chicago election commissioners are expected to proclaim the results of the official canvas of the returns soon, probably tomorrow, it was learned yesterday.

McSweeney, a Democrat who was state representative from 1924 to 1938, according to unofficial returns received his votes in a last minute write-in campaign as successor to Municipal Judge Lambert K. Hayes, who died last July 17, and whose term does not expire until 1944. No election for the vacancy was called, and there was no Republican candidate.

May Go in Next Week.

Democratic leaders said they expect that after McSweeney's vote is proclaimed, his certificate of election will be issued in a day or two, and that he will be sworn in as judge early next week, inasmuch as the winning candidate for a vacancy need not wait until the regular judicial induction date in December.

Republican attorneys were reported to be studying the law to see whether its provisions had been complied with. They gave no indication that they will make an effort to block issuance of a certificate of election.

"For associate judge of the Municipal court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lambert K. Hayes, John R. McSweeney, 3953 Jackson boulevard," and after McSweeney's name draw a square and place a cross within it.

Recall Case of 1912.

Only one similar write-in case could be recalled by veteran observers yesterday. In November, 1912, Joseph E. Ryan received 543 write-in votes for the vacancy caused by the death on the previous June 15 of Judge Max Eberhardt.

The election board refused to issue Ryan a certificate of election on the ground that he had received fewer votes than the lowest ranking candidate on the regular judicial ticket. Ryan carried the case to court, won his seat on the bench, and was reëlected in the next regular election in 1914.

U. of Georgia's Medical School Put on Probation

The University of Georgia school of medicine has been restored to the list of approved medical schools "on probation," the Journal of the American Medical association reported yesterday. The action, the Journal said, was taken at a meeting of the council on medical education and hospitals of the association here last Sunday. The Georgia school was dropped last Feb. 15 after Gov. Eugene Talmadge was accused of "political interference" in university affairs.

THE QUESTION.

What is one of the first things you intend to do when you get back into civilian life?

WHERE ASKED.

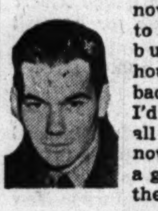
THE ANSWERS.

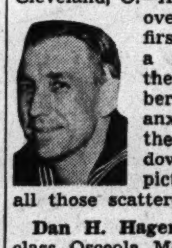
L. G. Torgerson, gunner's mate 3d class, Sioux City, Ia.—Nothing in civilian life seems very important to me right now, so when the time comes I'll probably just relax in some simple manner. I think I'd enjoy putting the hammock between two trees, and then be awakened by the bugler so I could turn over and go back to sleep.

Milton Borta, private 1st class, infantry, 1047 Dewey avenue, Evanston—I'm not making any plans for life in civilian clothes again. I'm going to keep right on in the army. There's plenty of room to work up and the regular routine of army life seems to agree with me very well.



Bill A. Tyrrell, sergeant staff pilot, RCAF, 5819 Ohio street—Between now and then, I'm going to have lots of time to build up my flying hours. As soon as I'm back in civilian clothes, I'd like to fly low over all those areas that are now restricted. I'd like a good aerial view of all the new developments.

William J. Hart, corporal, medical corps, 1431 North Lockwood avenue—We never know for sure when our plans will be altered, so as soon as I'm back into civilian clothes I'd like to make plans for a whole week in advance and be able to keep them. Part of the fun of going places is in the planning, and we don't get in on enough of it.



H. F. Young, storekeeper 2d class, Cleveland, O.—As soon as the war is over I hope to catch the first boat to Java. I had a nice quiet job out there working on a rubber plantation, and I'm anxious to get back on the same job. While I'm down there I'll take a picture of our flag on all those scattered little islands.

Dan H. Hager, gunner's mate 3d class, Osceola, Mo.—Before this thing is over, I'll probably have many opportunities to improve my skill behind the gun. After that, a whole week's hunting trip to the Ozarks should prove worth while. I think I look forward to that more than anything.

MANTENO FUGITIVE FOUND DEAD.

The body of Mary Koslewicz, 47 years old, formerly of 1515 Thomas street, who escaped from the Manteno State hospital last Aug. 29, was found Tuesday night by a hunter near an abandoned clay pit north of Manteno.

SCHROEDER SAYS HE'LL HEAD G. O. P. ONLY IF DRAFTED

Illinois Committeeman Is Not Seeking Votes.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, said yesterday that he was not making any campaign for the chairmanship of the G. O. P. national committee. The chairmanship, according to a Washington dispatch, may be headed his direction.

"My position is that if an overwhelming majority want me, I would serve," Mr. Schroeder said. "I haven't asked any one to be for me."

As to a Washington report that several other members of the committee favored him, the expert counselor of the Republicans in Illinois commented only that he could not disclose what various persons had said to him.

Committee Meets on Dec. 7.

On Dec. 7, the committee will meet in St. Louis to select a successor to Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, resigning because of his increased duties as leader of the Republican congressmen elected on Nov. 3.

Meanwhile, Ben Berve, chairman of the Republican state central committee, cited reasons for Illinois' claim to the national chairmanship. These include, he said, the fact that while the G. O. P. thruout the country lost seats in the national house between 1938 and 1940, in Illinois there was a tremendous gain.

Illinois Progress Steady.

Despite the halt or demarche in Republican gains in many states in 1940, Illinois, with Schroeder in command, continued to advance. Here 16 G. O. P. congressmen were elected in that year, compared with 10 in 1938.

Wendell L. Willkie, defeated in the 1940 Presidential election is opposed to Schroeder. The Washington dispatch said Willkie's first and second choices for national chairman were reported to be Kenneth Bradley of Connecticut and Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts.

2 CONGRESSIONAL RACES STILL IN DOUBTFUL CLASS

Eight days after the election two congressional races still had not been conclusively decided yesterday.

Former Rep. Chester H. Gross, Republican, held a lead of 58 votes over Rep. Harry L. Haines, Democratic incumbent in Pennsylvania's 22d district, upon completion of the vote tabulation, but the winner won't be known until Saturday, when election boards will tabulate ballots of 243 soldiers who voted by mail.

In California's 23d district Rep. D. V. Izac, Democrat, held a 597 vote lead over James B. Abbey, Republican, in the unofficial count from all but four of the district's 734 precincts. The tabulation included 1,092 absentee ballots. The official count is expected to be completed Friday.

On the basis of the leaders in the two contests being the winners, the outcome will not upset the previously announced political strength in congress. Exclusive of these two races, the election score is: Democratic, 221 seats, three over a legislative majority; Republicans, 208, a gain of 42 seats, and minor parties, 4.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Lieut. Roma Ann Scott.

A two day conference devoted to the college woman's rôle in the war effort, the first meeting of its kind since the war began, will open at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university. Northwestern is sponsoring the conference, to which representatives of 110 colleges have been invited. Registration will be in the lounge of Scott hall.

President Franklyn Bliss Snyder of Northwestern will open the first program, which will be devoted to the college women and armed services. With Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar college, as chairman speakers will be Lieut. Mary Daily of the WAVES and Lieut. Roma Ann Scott of the WAACs. Miss Alice Lloyd, dean of women at the University of Michigan and a member of the educational council of the WAVES, will be discussion leader.

College women in industry is the subject for tomorrow afternoon. Those taking part in the program will be William R. Spriegel, chairman of the Northwestern department of management; W. E. Tarr, general office manager of the Studebaker corporation, and Jack Staehle, director of industrial relations of the Chicago Mail Order company.

Substituting women for men in factory operations and supervision and women in technical operations also will be discussed. Speakers and leaders will be C. T. Reid, director of training for Douglas Aircraft; Garrett A. Holmes, director of training for the Western Electric company, Ovid W. Eshbach, dean of Northwestern Technological institute, and Dr. Paul Klopsteg, president of the Central Scientific company.

College women and community services will be the theme of tomorrow evening's talks. Speakers and leaders will be: Miss Lucia R. Briggs, president of Milwaukee Downer college, chairman; Mrs. Aneita Tidball, executive secretary of the Travelers' Aid society; Arthur J. Todd, Northwestern sociology professor; Dr. R. W. De Busk, director of Evanston hospital, and Mrs. Arthur Spiegel, director of Red Cross nurses aids.

Summaries and recommendations will be heard Saturday morning. Dean Margaret S. Morriss of Pembroke college, Providence, R. I.; C. Wilson Cole, engineering supervisor of Curtiss Wright corporation, and President Edward C. Elliott of Purdue university will be on the program.

President and Mrs. Snyder will hold a reception for conference members and other guests in Scott hall at 4:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The Federation of Telephone Clerks of Illinois has joined that vast army of those giving donations to the Red Cross blood bank. Two groups already have appeared at the new blood donor center at 5 North Wabash avenue, and the third is scheduled for tomorrow. Eventually the entire membership in the Chicago area between the ages of 18 and 60 will be recruited, according to Joseph H. King, chairman of the Red Cross blood donor service in Chicago.

The first group of ensigns in the WAVES has arrived at Great Lakes Naval Training station to relieve men for active duty. They are Dorothy Ell of Newtonville, Mass., a former vocational counselor for NYA, assigned to enlisted personnel section; Marion K. Knight, a former school teacher from Salt Lake City, in 9th naval district security office; Marjorie N. Lytle, Indianapolis, who formerly did work training in a Newark, N. J., department store, in district education office; Nancy A. Hale, Morristown, Tenn., school teacher, in district securities office; Audrey Hollingsworth, former physical education instructor from Fullerton, Cal., in personnel office, and Marjorie Gillette, Akron, O., school teacher, also in district securities office.

A group of Chicago's prominent business and professional women have joined forces to operate the Officers' club at the Hotel Knickerbocker. Dues are $1 a month, and expenses are based on the pay of the lowest ranking officers in the services. Commissioned men who do not plan to become members, or those passing thru Chicago, are welcome.

Mrs. Georgia A. Hunt, honorary life president of the Hotel Women of Chicago, is director of the club; Mrs. Celia Howard, war activities chairman for the state federation of the Alliance of Business and Professional Women, is secretary, and Miss Alma Koch of the Continental Illinois bank is treasurer. Assisting these officers is a large committee of women representing various fields of business.

The American Women's Voluntary services, which sponsored and has staffed the club since its organization two weeks ago, will devote the time spent there to the many other ramifications of its wartime program, in collaboration with other Chicago agencies.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Red Cross Unit Sponsors Display of Home Wares

Canned goods, needle work, pastry, knitting, and woodcraft will be on display at a fair to be held today and tomorrow at 2704 Hoyne avenue under the sponsorship of the Red Cross production unit of the Julia C. Lathrop Homes, a federal housing project at 2,000 Diversey parkway. The fair will be open from 6:30 to 11 p. m. both days, and exhibits will be entered in classes both for adults and youths.

Soldier V-Mail Gets to Africa Within a Week

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—A letter written today to a soldier serving with the American expeditionary forces in Africa probably will be delivered to him next week if the sender uses V-mail, army postal authorities disclosed today.

V-mail is a special service for communication with soldiers made available in June of this year. V-mail letter blanks may be obtained from any post office, rural mail carrier, or store handling stationery. On this blank the sender writes his letter, with pencil, pen, or typewriter.

The letter may be as long as 700 words. A space is provided on the blank for the soldier's address and no envelope is required. It is dropped in the mail just like any other letter. When the letter reached New York or San Francisco, it is microphotographed onto a small roll of film which is placed in a carton, and put on the first plane flying to the post at which the soldier is stationed.

When it arrives overseas, an enlarged print is made of the photograph on a sheet of paper, and the letter is folded and put in a special envelope for distribution.

The original V-mail letters are held at New York or San Francisco until the film has arrived safely overseas.

Brig. Gen. C. S. Adams, director of the army postal service, reported members of the postal service landed in Africa along with the first troops and set up facilities for distributing the mail.

Gen. Adams, a native of Champaign, Ill., disclosed that V-mail letters are being received from army posts in the world's most distant corners in 10 days or less. He described the army's postal system as the largest and most extensive ever attempted.

"V-mail has reached us from Karachi, India, in 10 days," he said. "Our schedules show that it has arrived from Cairo, Egypt, in eight days; from Australia and England in six days; from Iceland in three days, and from Hawaii, in one. Mail from England has been delayed by censorship regulations that now have been ironed out and faster service probably will be available.

"V-mail can be delivered to our farthest army posts in two weeks or less, where regular mail takes from 60 to 70 days or more," Gen. Adams said. "We can guarantee the delivery of V-mail, while a certain percentage of regular mail is bound to be lost thru ship sinkings."

He said the closest of coöperation between the postoffice department and the army postal service made such rapid delivery possible.

"The disappointing thing about V-mail is that more people do not avail themselves of this service. It is the surest, fastest, and most patriotic way to write a soldier."

Gen. Adams said that less than 2 per cent of all mail sent overseas last month was V-mail. But the volume is rising rapidly as more people learn the value of its service.

Use of V-mail has gone up 126 per cent in the last month, he said. In August something over 650,000 pieces of V-mail were sent overseas. The number of V-mail letters jumped to just below the 2 million mark in September and it is indicated they exceeded 2¼ million in October.

"V-mail is a new thing and people haven't gotten used to it yet," he explained. "We only started an ambitious campaign to tell them about it two months ago.

"Some seem to think V-mail letters are projected on a movie screen to be read, which is entirely erroneous. All technical operations employed in transfering the letter to a film are conducted in total darkness.

"Others seem to think that V-mail will be read by many pepole before it reaches its destination, while regular mail won't. Every piece of mail that goes overseas is subject to censorship. There is no more loss of privacy in a V-mail letter than in regular mail."

Gen. Adams said there is no limit to the volume of V-mail the army signal corps can handle. The army can photograph 1,000 V-mail letters on a film that will weigh only 4 ounces. One thousand ordinary letters weigh 22 pounds.

It estimates that 150,000 ordinary one sheet letters will weigh 2,575 pounds and they will require the space and use of 37 full sized bulky mail sacks. The same number of letters which have been microfilmed under the V-mail process will weigh only 45 pounds and occupy a single V-mail sack, which is just one-half the size of an ordinary mail sack.

Gen. Adams said the V-mail is sent only on United States planes, while regular mail may go, and does go, on any ship of the united nations. Thus, whenever any ship of the united nations is sunk hundreds of letters to American soldiers overseas are lost.

V-mail letetrs may now be sent to the British Isles, North Africa, Australia, Iceland, the Hawaiian Islands, the middle east, and the near east, including India.

V-mail may be sent at the regular domestic first class postage rate of 3 cents and it gets air mail service overseas. If the sender desires to have his V-mail letter transported by air from the point of mailing to New York or San Francisco, whence it is placed on a plane bound overseas, he may have this service by paying the 6 cent air mail rate.

Her Mother Is Benefit Aid

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Anne Speed, whose mother, Mrs. Kellogg Speed, is chairman of the Thanksgiving offering committee of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital. The committee is arranging a number of teas for the benefit of the hospital's charity fund, among them one the Brookline church will give on Sunday, a musical the Fourth Presbyterian church will hold on Nov. 22, and one Mrs. Robert H. Herbst will give at home in Highland Park on Nov. 23. Miss Speed is a student at Vassar.

Weddings

Miss Virginia Keppel and Lieut. Evan J. McIlraith Jr. will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the apartment of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McIlraith of Evanston. Miss Keppel arrived yesterday from San Rafael, Cal., where her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Keppel, reside. Lieut. McIlraith is here on a short leave from his Massachusetts camp. He and his bride will live in Hyannis, Mass. Miss Keppel attended the Kingswood school, Penn Hall, and the University of Southern California. Lieut. McIlraith attended the Tome school and Colby college.

Miss Evelyn Clyde Peck of Quincy, Mass., and Walter J. Moberg, dean of North Park college, were married on Nov. 7 in the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Kendrick of River Forest. The former Miss Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sumner Peck, was graduated from the Lesley school in Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Moberg is a graduate of Harvard university.

Malko Directs Woman's Band in Fine Concert

Concert by the Woman's Symphony orchestra, Nicolai Malko, conductor; Philip Manuel and Gavin Williamson, duo-harpsichordists. Presented in Orchestra hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 11, 1942. The program:

Chorale-Prelude, "O Man, Bemoan Thy Fearful Sin"'.................Bach
[Transcribed for string orchestra by Frederick Stock.]
Symphony No. 94, G major, ["Surprise"].................Haydn
Entr'acte from the opera, "Lady Macbeth of Mzensk"......Shostakovich
[First time in Chicago.]
Concerto, C major, for two harpsichords and strings.................Bach
Suite from the opera, "The Invisible City of Kitezh"........Rimsky-Korsakoff

BY CECIL SMITH.

On paper last night's Woman's Symphony orchestra concert—the second of the season—looked like a curious, and perhaps rather indigestible, hodgepodge. In actual performance it proved to be exceptionally well planned, with many effective contrasts of mood and great diversity of style and content.

Under the continuing discipline of Nicolai Malko the orchestra has continued to grow in both technique and musical wisdom. Last night's concert, almost from start to finish, offered the most highly professional, the most polished, and the most communicative playing the orchestra has yet attained.

The choicest period of the evening was devoted to Bach's C major concerto for two harpsichords and string orchestra. Philip Manuel and Gavin Williamson, the soloists, surpassed their own excellent standard, presenting the highly figurated music with irreproachable cleanness and precision and with immense spirit and vitality. Employing a mere handful of strings, Mr. Malko devised an accompaniment that was perfect in tonal balance and sensitive in its relationship to the solo parts.

The Shostakovich entr'acte, drawn from the last intermission of the sensational opera, "Lady Macbeth of Mzensk," after an abandoned heroine named Ekaterina has done her husband in, started with an awe inspiring burst of cacophony, and then proceeded to set forth a series of 11 dissonant variations, in passacaglia form, upon a rather inchoate theme. The main interest of the music lies in its rise to a peak of climactic orchestral sonority and its subsequent descent to a pianissimo, rather than in any great skill of thematic development.

After one of the longest stage waits in the history of Orchestra hall, while the two harpsichords were returned to the basement on the unique stage elevator, the concert closed with what was probably the first local hearing of the suite from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Legend of the Invisible City of Kitezh." Full of premonitions of "The Golden Cockerel," this music has probably failed to attract notice because of the superior ideas and treatment of the later work. Mr. Malko conducted it, however, with truly superb authority and theatrical imagination.

The concert opened with a chorale-prelude of Bach played in honor of Frederick Stock's 70th birthday. It was perhaps a trifle unfortunate that the grim doctrinal title of the work was not concealed from public knowledge on this particular occasion.

Music Note

The Chicago Opera company announces two changes in the cast of "Carmen," to be sung at the Civic Opera house Saturday afternoon, Nov. 21. Coe Glade replaces Gladys Swarthout in the title rôle, and John Charles Thomas replaces George Czaplicki as Escamillo.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

The Retort Complete.

A detachment of sailors was marching across the Randolph street bridge to the naval armory the other day, presumably en route to classes, for each sailor carried a small duffel bag of books. A buxom lady standing at one edge of the sidewalk to let them pass noted their bags and commented, "My, their packs are light, aren't they?" and a marching sailor paused to bow slightly and say: "Yes, madam. Man wants but little here below."

They Moved.

Early morning workers on a crowded northbound Halsted street car were startled the other day to hear the conductor boom out lustily with, "Praise the Lord and all change your positions." He then continued in a matter-of-fact tone, "Move forward to the front of the car, please."

A Woman's World.

From Geneva [Ill.] comes news of the man who was reared by his mother and sisters. He married, his mother-in-law came to live with him, and he had two daughters. When he enlisted in the navy his wife said he did so for a respite from women. He now is at Northampton, Mass., training a unit of WAVES. His wife and daughters have joined him there.

The Pity of It.

Item from the Joliet Herald News:

Big Time.

By remote control we have learned of the theatrical producer, temporarily in Chicago, who the other day telephoned his secretary in New York and dictated a telegram to be sent to Washington.

A Woman's World—II.

Percy Wood, Tribune writer who enlisted in the navy, came back to pay a social call the other day at the conclusion of his indoctrination period as a lieutenant. He was resplendent in blue and gold and widely acclaimed by his fellows, but an end came to all this when the secretary for the Women in War Work department regarded him curiously and asked, "O, is he the WAAC's husband?"

'Cook's Night Out' Party to Be Given at Casino Club Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Casino club really was in earnest about making tonight's buffet supper a "cook's night out" party. Before supper is served at 7:30 o'clock some of the members will don black dresses and starched aprons and caps to take over as maids and cloakroom girls. The husbands, too, will be doing their share as bartenders, dressed in bar aprons and chef's caps.

No one has volunteered yet to play doorman, for most of the candidates have been frightened out by the thought of the cold East Delaware place breezes. For the entire evening the club will be manned by members excepting for the kitchen, where professional cooks will be on duty. At a later date, however, the Casino is hoping to give its members a chance to test their culinary skills.

Mrs. Frank Hibbard and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham have planned an informal evening of games, bridge, and piano music following supper. Among those whose parties are included in the 150 reservations are the Orville J. Taylors, the John L. Cochrans, the Augustus A. Carpenters, the Hibbards, and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins. There will be two club tables for those not in large parties.

Athletic Club's Juniors to Have Dinner-Dance.

The Woman's Athletic club and the Tavern club don't serve dinner on Thursdays, but each has special events on its calendar for this month. The former club's junior associates will meet for a dinner-dance on Nov. 20. The Tavern's first Sunday breakfast of the season will be a gathering this week-end to which naval officers and their wives will be invited. Motion pictures of Pacific battle scenes will be shown.

The Saddle and Cycle club discontinued its Thursday buffet suppers a month ago, but the Chicago College club continues to be a convenient "maid's night out" solution for dining out. The latter club serves dinner every night.

Marcia Williams to Be Wed to Navy Lieutenant.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Williams of Hinsdale announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia, to Lieut. [j. g.] Montgomery Sears Bradley, U. S. N. R., son of Mrs. James Donald Cameron Bradley and the late Mr. Bradley of Southboro, Mass. Miss Williams attended Chatham Hall in Chatham, Va., and at present is a senior at Smith college. Her fiancé prepared at St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., for Harvard university, where he received his degree in 1940. No date has been set for the wedding, as Lieut. Bradley is on active sea duty.

From Syosset, N. Y., comes word of the engagement of Miss Olivia Brewster Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Taylor Jr., to Martin Bice Travis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis of Hinsdale. Miss Taylor was graduated in 1938 from Bryn Mawr college. She was introduced to society in 1935 and also attended the University of Heidelberg. Mr. Travis, a private in the army air corps stationed at Manchester, N. H., is a graduate of Amherst college. He studied at Heidelberg, received his master's degree from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, and was a fellowship student at the University of Chicago.

Miss Margaret Soule's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte M. Soulé of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Charles Bliss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bliss, also of Evanston. Miss Soulé is a senior at Wellesley college. Her fiancé was graduated in September from Harvard university.

The Chauncey B. Borlands and the John R. Reillys are the latest Chicago families to be following the activities of women in service with interest, for their daughters soon will be on duty with the WAVES. Miss Harriet Borland has left for the east to take the officers' training course at Smith college, where she will be commissioned an ensign. Miss Hester Reilly, who will start her yeoman training next month at Stillwater, Okla., is the sixth member of her family to enter the services. Her father, Maj. Reilly, is at Metuchen, N. J. Lieut. J. Dunham Reilly is with the navy; Lieut. John R. Reilly Jr. and Pvt. Henry J. Reilly III. are with the army, and Robert D. Reilly is with the naval reserve at Northwestern university.

Cradle Society Auxiliary Doll Sale Starts Today.

The annual doll sale of the senior auxiliary of the Evanston Cradle society will be held for one week starting today at the Edgar Stevens store in Orrington avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Robert G. Bear is chairman of the auxiliary, which has hundreds of beautiful dolls, doll clothes, and stuffed animals and toys in stock.

The Roycemore Association of Mothers is holding its annual book sale for the benefit of the school library today and tomorrow at the school gymnasium. Mrs. Winthrop Sullivan is general chairman of the event. The glee club will sing during the tea hour. Mrs. Herbert Nock is president of the association.

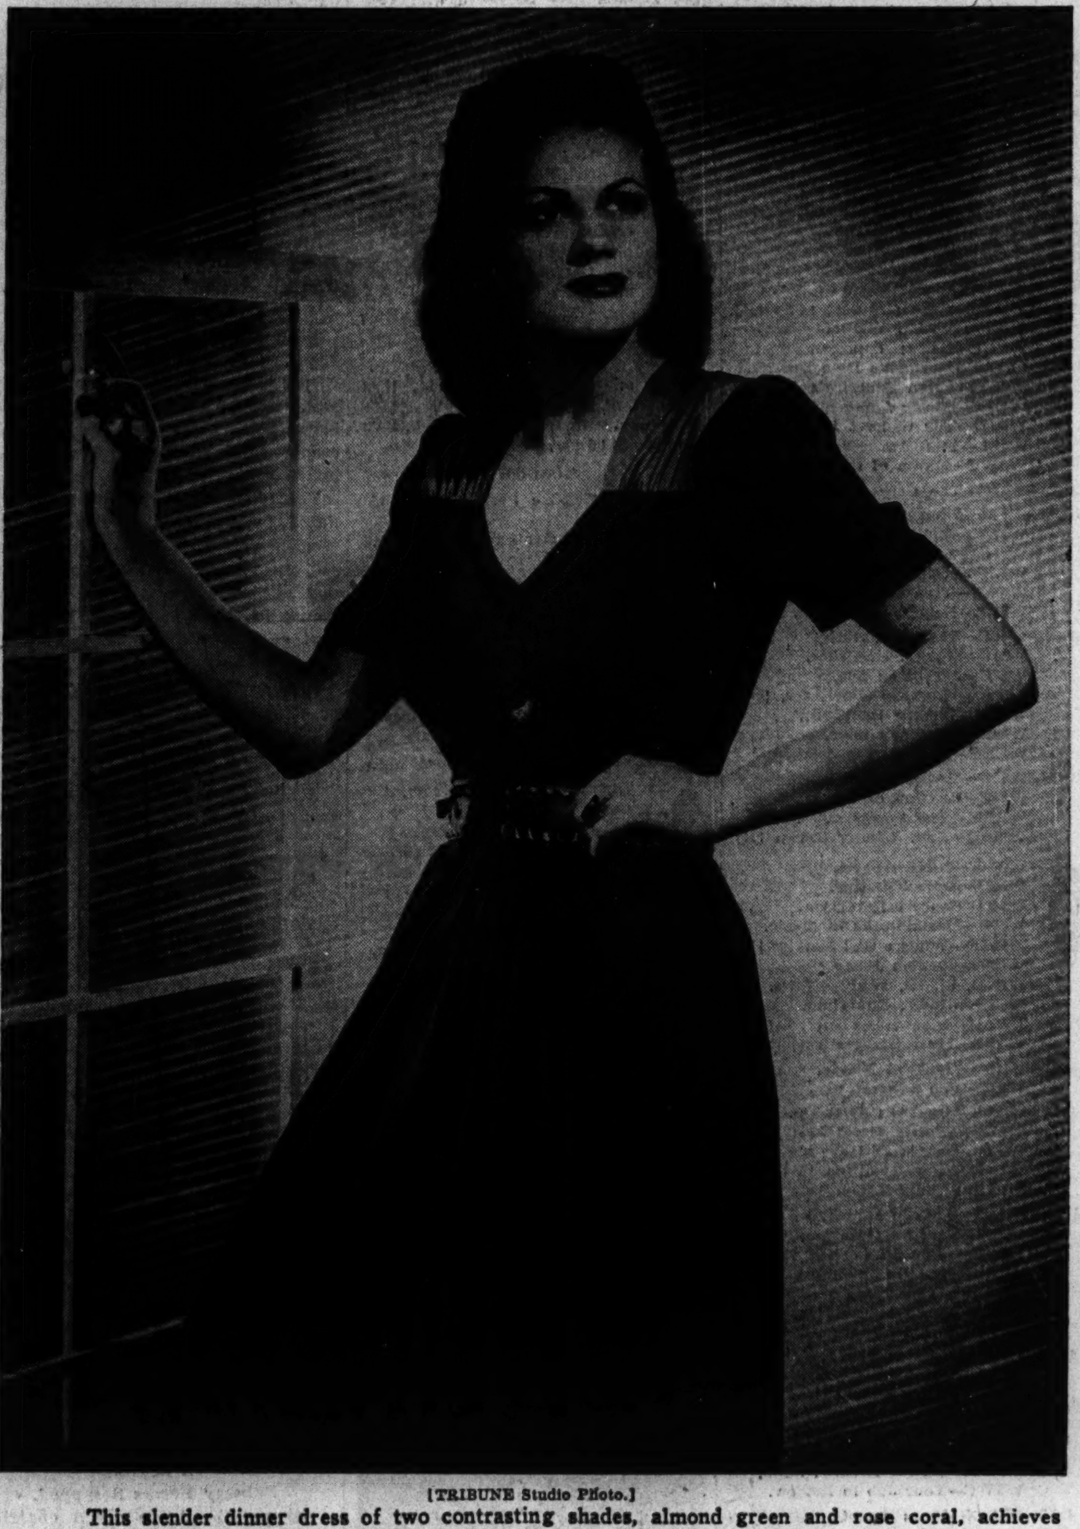
Josephine Hull, Jean Adair, and Boris Karloff of the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be special guests of the Chicago Drama league at luncheon today at the Arts club following a lecture at 11 o'clock by Kenneth Horan, author and critic, on "Let's Read for America."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Harvey are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Jan Holub, on Nov. 7 at the Passavant hospital. The baby and his sister, Brett, are grandchildren of Mrs. William L. Harvey of Minneapolis, Minn.

School of Domestic Arts Adds More Night Classes

Because of the increased demand for evening classes in food preparation and clothing construction the School of Domestic Arts and Science has found it necessary to hold classes on Monday and Wednesday nights as well as on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The executive committee board of trustees of the school will hold a meeting tomorrow.

Dinner Gown of Two Contrasting Shades



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Dream Dancing Dresses Are All Froth and Frills

BY REA SEEGER.

Party dresses for the dancing crowd, all foam, and froth, and frills, will stampede the most blasé stag lines in or out of uniform. Naughty black affairs of airy net are accented with soot black velvet ribbon along the bodice tops and in rows over the full skirt. Drop shoulder, or off the shoulder outlines are ruched with thick double net; shoulder straps are of narrow velvet to repeat the bands in the skirt.

In direct contrast to the sophisticated blacks come the all whites dusted in hundreds of tiny twinkling rhinestones or combined with frosty silver striped brocades. Wide billowy skirts of white net swish with soul satisfying glory over taffeta petticoats or underskirts. Bodice tops are rib-hugging and extend well down over the hiplines to define a handspan waistline. Confectionery models in pink and blue are made in the same delectable combination of net with taffeta. Some are also spattered brilliantly with tiny rhinestones.

Combinations are featured in taffeta gowns, black with powder pink or blue, the light shades effectively contrasted with the black both in wide flaring skirt and tiny bodice. More glamorous creations, just what the girls have dreamed about for seasons, use smart fitted short sleeved jackets of shiny metallics and slinky black skirts of dull crêpe or such festive affairs as almond green with rose coral. They are draped so cleverly as to the skirts that dancing is easy and graceful, tho the dresses do look like sheath dinner clothes.

There are all kinds of "dream" dancing dresses in the current showings, and the best news of all of it is the modest price marks.

Demonstration Series Is Arranged to Teach Wartime Use of Meat

A series of demonstration meetings in connection with the government's "share the meat" program will open in Chicago Monday, Mrs. William H. Stanley, director of the consumer information service of the Office of Civilian Defense, announced yesterday.

The demonstrations will be given at division meetings at which community consumer information chairmen and block information wardens will receive instructions. The meetings will be open to the public, however, and housewives are urged to attend to learn how to stretch meat portions and to make the most of lesser known cuts.

A Division 1 meeting will be held at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon at Hyde Park High school, and a Division 4 session is scheduled for 2 o'clock that afternoon in Marshall High school. Tuesday meetings will be held at 1 o'clock at Steinmetz High school and at 2 o'clock at Sullivan High school. Both afternoon and evening sessions will be held thru Nov. 24.

'Lucia' Is Sung Expertly and in Best Tradition

"LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."

Opera in three acts and seven scenes, with music by Gaetano Donizetti, libretto by Salvatore Cammarano, based on Sir Walter Scott's novel, "The Bride of Lammermoor." Presented by the Chicago Opera company at the Civic Opera house Wednesday evening, Nov. 11, 1942.

THE CAST.

Lord Henry Ashton	Richard Bonelli
Lucia	Josephine Tuminia
Edgar	James Melton
Lord Arthur Bucklaw	Giuseppe Cavadore
Raymond	Virgilio Lazzari
Alice	Sheila Vogelle [debut]
Conductor	Pietro Cimara [debut]
Stage director	Louis Raybaut

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

"Lucia di Lammermoor," or the case of the ailing soprano and the tumbling tenor, was staged at the Civic Opera house last night, and despite its sad subtitle, it was a routined and reasonably good performance, tho by no means an exciting one. The ailing soprano, of course, was Lily Pons, still the victim of laryngitis, who was replaced by Josephine Tuminia, a well trained coloratura with a small voice and little vocal fire.

The tumbling tenor was James Melton, who made a Commando entrance into the garden scene, tripped and fell headlong down a flight of steps, only to come up singing on cue. There were two schools of thought about that tumble. The conservatives held that he stumbled over a loose board. The faction I prefer held that Mr. Melton, an indubitable Irishman, was tripped by the little men [Irish fairies to you] in a last vain attempt to keep him from stepping into even a make-believe Scotland. Whatever happened, Mr. Melton postponed his limping until the act was over, and the audience considered him, with justice, a hero.

Recently signed for his first chance at the Metropolitan, the young American tenor has a great deal to offer opera, and a great deal to learn from the best in opera. His voice has a warm lyric quality, and the Irish bravura that rivals Italian fire. He has range, a sympathetic approach, and that rare blessing among tenors, height. The average operatic soprano, no doubt to her astonishment, comes about to his shoulder.

Wherever she came, Miss Tuminia was competent, tho often inaudible. Her voice is neither beautiful nor thrilling, but when she reached the mad scene, she sang it accurately and with a certain drab skill that could be admired, if not deeply enjoyed. The great coloratura tradition is so far from us today that we accept its inferior substitute without much quarreling.

But tradition was present last night in at least two major singers. Richard Bonelli's beautiful baritone was in its finest form, pouring like liquid velvet into the score, and Virgilio Lazzari, one of the great bassos of our day, sang magnificently.

The chorus did good work, particularly in the sextette, and the new conductor, Pietro Cimara, gave Donizetti's florid score a silkiness that sounded like more rehearsals than he probably had. Giuseppe Cavadore sang the luckless bridegroom with loving care, and Sheila Vogelle gave indications of an agreeable soporano in the ungrateful rôle of Lucia's confidante.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Two Girls with Ginger.

This is a tale of four young lads in China and a Michigan avenue office, 800 pounds of candied ginger, and a man who dropped a note to this column, saying, "If you will telephone such and such a number I think you will get an interesting sidelight on the 'after hours' service of two white collar girls."

I called and found a story which spans some 7,000 miles and had its beginning when four youthful Chinese cousins escaped from Hongkong as the city fell. They were especially in danger because they came from a prominent family, active at the beginning of the war. Their names were on the list of the secret files of the Japs and they were placed under arrest. In peasant disguise the four boys—age 11, 15, 16, and 19—stole out of Hongkong and walked 300 miles to Ping Shek to continue their schooling. Their clothes were ragged; they had used up their money and had bartered along the way.

Two of the boys have a sister in Chicago whose husband, Theodore Chin Foin, is a chemical engineer. A while back the Foins received 800 pounds of candied ginger from China which they wished they could sell to help these eager young students willing to undergo such hardships to finish their education.

This is where the two white collar girls, Florence Costello and Dorothy Svoboda, enter the story. They work for the same company as Mr. Foin. Like other girls, they had tried to fit themselves into useful war work. But here was something right on their desk tops! Altho eggs are $1 each in Chinese money, shoes $400 a pair, and rice $3 a pound, $350 in American money will take care of one boy for a year. So, the girls got busy. Evenings and week-ends they boxed and undertook the job of selling the 800 pounds of candied ginger, the proceeds of which they cable—as they sell it—to China to feed, clothe, and educate the boys. A relative of the Foins still in China [at one time secretary to Mme. Chiang Kai-shek and at another time dean of women at a Chinese university] receives the cabled money and uses it for the four cousins, thus assisting in the task begun by the two white collar girls in Chicago.

Gleaned from the Filing Bulletin.

"The war department has 25,000,000 draft records from the first World war stored up. It registered these draft records on microfilm and turned in the paper for salvage. And even the filing cabinets were surrendered to be processed as scrap."

"In London there is a war savings record office where 2,000 women work on an index file. They keep up to date the 580,000 cards on which the records are kept. It is estimated that if the cabinets were piled on top of each other they would stack as high as Mount Everest."

"Many executives have private filing equipment twice their actual needs. Some executives have file drawers which have not been revised or in active use for years. . . . Not one executive in five can soundly justify the demands he makes for filing equipment."

1,400 Volunteer Trucks Join Salvage Drive.

Chicago cleaned house yesterday with a patriotic zeal that crammed the junk yards high with scrap, but brought worries to many a scrap dealer.

From attics, basements, closets, garages, back yards, and other places where old and useless things accumulate, Chicago dragged out its broken bedsprings, rusty garbage pails, decrepit kitchenware, and a motley lot of other junk.

Volunteer crews on 1,400 trucks donated by the city, trucking companies, newspapers, and other fleet operators passed thru the streets all day gathering scrap from the curbstones in the first all day scrap harvest ever held in Chicago.

3,000 Tons of Useful Scrap.

Lloyd M. Johnson, city commissioner of streets and electricity, estimated that more than 3,000 tons of useful metal scrap had been collected during the day.

Johnson said that a score of truckloads had to be diverted to city dumps because of the poor quality of the scrap.

William L. McFetridge, Chicago metropolitan area salvage director, explained that rubber, tin cans, paper, and rags were excluded from the scrap harvest in order to expedite the movement of the scrap metal to the mills.

McFetridge praised the more than 4,000 city and county employés who contributed their holiday to help gather the scrap. They were aided by 1,000 other volunteers as well as by Boy Scouts, members of the American Legion and block salvage wardens.

The flow of scrap to the 28 major scrap yards was so heavy early in the afternoon that as many as 25 and 30 trucks waited in line at several yards before they could unload.

At the Kingsbury Iron & Metal company, 1900 Fullerton avenue, salvage officials in a spot check found trucks lined two blocks away. Magnet cranes were transferring heaps of scrap to a pile several stories high. The inspection was made by McFetridge, Johnson, and Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director for the War Production board.

Subway Forms Scrapped.

Among the large scrap contributions in the Armistice day drive was more than 56 tons of steel forms given by the Paschen Contractors, Inc., 2739 Elston avenue. The forms had been used for pouring concrete in the subway.

John Moore, principal of Grant Community High school in Fox Lake, Lake county, reported that the school's 260 pupils had gathered a total of 299,740 pounds of scrap since Oct. 1.

PRESENT APPEAL TO REINSTATE U. OF C. EDITOR

Supporters of Phillip Rieff, ousted editor of The Maroon, weekly student newspaper of the University of Chicago, yesterday submitted petitions they said were signed by more than 1,000 students asking his reinstatement. The petitions were turned over to Howard Mort, dean of student activities, who did not indicate that any faculty action would be taken.

Rieff was discharged Monday by the three-girl board of control of the newspaper after they voted to exclude the only man on the board, Werner Baum, the sports editor. The girls are associate editors. The Maroon appeared for the first time yesterday under the control of the three girls. Rieff, who resides at 6656 Glenwood avenue, has been editor since the fall quarter started in September.

The girls charged he "dominated" the paper and failed to emphasize social activities. They are Beata Mueller, chairman, 6325 Sheridan road; Minna Sachs, 5100 Ellis avenue, and Elizabeth Jane Watters, 6717 Ardmore avenue.

ARRESTED AFTER DRAWING GUN.

Donald A. Michaels, 31 years old, was arrested in a tavern at 114 South Clark street last night after customers who saw him draw a gun summoned police. Michaels, who said he is a bank clerk and lives at 1620 Ainslie street, told police he took the gun from his home in an effort to effect a reconciliation with Marcella Cosgrove, 19, of 5450 North Normandy avenue, who was with him in the tavern.

JOHNSTON TELLS OF NEGRO HEROES UPON LEXINGTON

Unnamed but not unsung, two Negro members of the crew of the sunken carrier Lexington formed the keynote of the lecture by Stanley Johnston, Tribune writer, in the Du Sable lounge, 764 Oakwood boulevard, last night. Johnston was the only correspondent present at the Coral sea battle.

Johnston told of seeking one mess attendant, known to most of the crew as "Duke," because he had been in Ellington's band before Pearl Harbor sent him to the recruiting station, only to find him dead at his battle station.

In the heat of battle, Johnston said, Comm. Mort T. Seligman, the Lexington's executive officer, called for volunteers to rescue men from the lower decks of the carrier and another Negro mess attendant was among the first to volunteer. A decoration will be given to that sailor as soon as his name can be ascertained, Johnston said Seligman had assured him.

Maj. C. Udell Turpin presided at the meeting; a minimum purchase of $100 war bond was the admission price.

CRITICIZE PLAN TO INFORM CITY OF PREGNANCIES

The Chicago Medical society has characterized as "a dangerous move to extend the power of bureaucracy" the recent proposal that pregnancy be reported to the city board of health as soon as diagnosed.

Such a requirement would be "an invasion of personal and family privacy that no democracy can tolerate," the society report said. "So far as we know, the only governments that have ever tolerated such a rank disregard for the citizen's privacy are the axis powers."

The report said many women work for companies that would refuse to have pregnant women in their employ and that they would stay away from doctors as long as possible if pregnancy had to be made public at once.

SPEAKER FOR OWI DEPICTS RADIO'S POSTWAR HELP

The radio will contribute greatly to postwar activities by keeping issues before the people clearly, Lyman Bryson of the bureau of special operations of the Office of War Information last night told 100 delegates to the annual dinner of the School Broadcast conference at the Morrison hotel.

"The people themselves will have to do the deciding on these issues, however," he added, "because radio, unlike the newspapers, is unable to mold public opinion to any great extent."

The annual conference award of merit for outstanding service went to Robert B. Hudson, director of the Rocky Mountain Radio council of Denver, Colo. Hudson, recently named OWI regional consultant, was cited for producing wartime educational programs.

MEAT GOES FARTHER
With Quaker's Delicious "Extender" Meat Loaf!

Give your family meat oftener, with this delicious recipe that stretches meat supplies and meat dollars. Actually makes meat go up to 40% farther! Most important, whole-grain oatmeal, like meat, is rich in body-building Proteins. As rich, ounce for ounce, as pork chops. Richer by far than any other cereal! It's triple-rich* in Vitamin B_1—needed for growth, energy, good nerves!

------TRY IT TODAY!------

1¼ lbs. Beef Chuck (Ground)
¾ lb. Pork Loin Ends (Ground)
¾ cup Onion (Cut fine)
1 cup Quaker or Mother's Oats (Quick or Regular, uncooked)
2½ tsp. Salt — ¼ cup Catsup
¼ tsp. Pepper — 1 Egg (Well beaten)
1 tsp. Mustard — 1 cup Water

Combine all ingredients in order listed and mix well. Pack firmly into loaf pan (about 3½ x 8½ in.). Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) for one hour. Slice. Serve hot or cold. (Serves 8.)

YOU DO NOT NEED SO MUCH MEAT when you eat delicious, hot Quaker Oats breakfasts daily. For Quaker Oats is rich in both Proteins and Vitamin B_1. Children love Quaker Oats. Get its extra healthful benefits! Serve hot Quaker Oats every morning!

WHO WANTS APPLES?

ASK FOR MICHIGAN APPLES
HEALTH · FLAVOR · JUICE

Fresh apples by the bushel are yours for the eatin' . . . so help yourself to plenty! Big, juicy Michigan apples are a real treat, raw or cooked. Remember, fruit is a "must" on a balanced diet . . . and Uncle Sam particularly recommends home-grown fruit. Canned Michigan apples and canned apple sauce supply the flavor and wholesomeness of fresh Michigan apples in convenient form.

WALDORF SALAD

4 apples cut into balls; 1 cup celery; 1 cup seeded grapes; 1 package cream cheese (shaped into balls). Blend first three ingredients with mayonnaise, arrange on curly endive or lettuce, garnish with cheese balls.

BAKED APPLES

Select medium-sized apples; core and pare about 1 inch down. Fill center with small piece of butter and sugar. Put 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water around apples. Bake 375° F. for 45 minutes, basting several times. If syrup is not thick enough, remove apples and boil syrup on top of stove until it thickens. Serve warm or cold with cream, milk or whipped cream.

Nature Smiles on MICHIGAN Apples

Thru the Looking Glass

There is something about the new clothes, as well you have undoubtedly noticed if you've tried any on, that reveals figure defects. With a curtailment of fabric it just isn't possible to make use of voluminous, clever drapery, and trick cuts that soften the outlines of the all too heavy structure.

It's that current front drapery, if you want to call it that, that makes the thickened waistline look even thicker than it is. We don't know what's to be done about the dress situation . . . but we do know what must be done about figures. Its up to us to do that "bend down, sister" routine until the silhouettes are whittled down to the proportions they should be.

There is everything to recommend in the practice of morning setting-ups. They mold the figure and revitalize you. But we have no illusions about the average woman's ability to be characterful about doing them day in and day out. It's one of those things we make resolutions about but never quite get to.

That's only one reason why we suggest an exercise course. If you pay money for exercise instruction you'll set new value on it. You'll do your exercises with the instructor, too—which is heaps pleasanter, for some reason, than doing them alone. And most important, you'll learn to exercise correctly.

You'll learn just what ones you need for your individual figure defects. For every one, on small budget or large, an exercise course [and they are priced to fit all pocketbooks] is well worth spending money on.

Correct exercise will help you feel better and look better. And what it does for your figure will help you dress well for less money.

Child Should Not Be Scolded for Accidents

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

One doesn't have to be a deep thinker to realize what a marvelous thing the human hand is. Compare it with the paw of any of the lower animals; compare what man's hands can do with what a lower animal's can do, and you see at once how skilful, how strong yet delicate, how practically limitless in the variety of accomplishment man's hands are.

It was some such idea that we dwelt on recently, only it was in connection with the hands of those very young members of the human race—our smallest sons and daughters. We were pointing out how their hands really bring their world to them through the fresh, very aware sense of touch that resides in their fingers. And how we must keep that thought to the fore when our little children reach the "touching age."

But it may be that you would like some definite suggestions if your small son or daughter has just reached the age where he or she wants to touch everything and get into everything, and where your impulse to date has been to punish or call him naughty.

First, remember that it is right and normal for your child to want to touch things.

Next, make up your mind to satisfy, rather than starve his sense of touch. To do this, don't deny him the opportunity to learn what objects are like by taking them in his hands. Give him every chance [within reason] to do so. For example, most kitchen utensils and equipment fascinate small children. This is true of many objects in the other rooms. Where such belongings as desk accessories shouldn't be accessible to him, provide him with some substitutes and little gadgets of his "very own." Provide him, too, with a low comfortable broad chair and table, so that every horizontal surface isn't above his eye-level.

Naturally you'll have some household objects or personal possessions that are precious or fragile. They certainly shouldn't be left within the reach of a very young child. Put them away, though in many cases his curiosity might be satisfied by letting him look at or touch them first.

Stop slapping his hands. Don't expect him to remember every object which is forbidden.

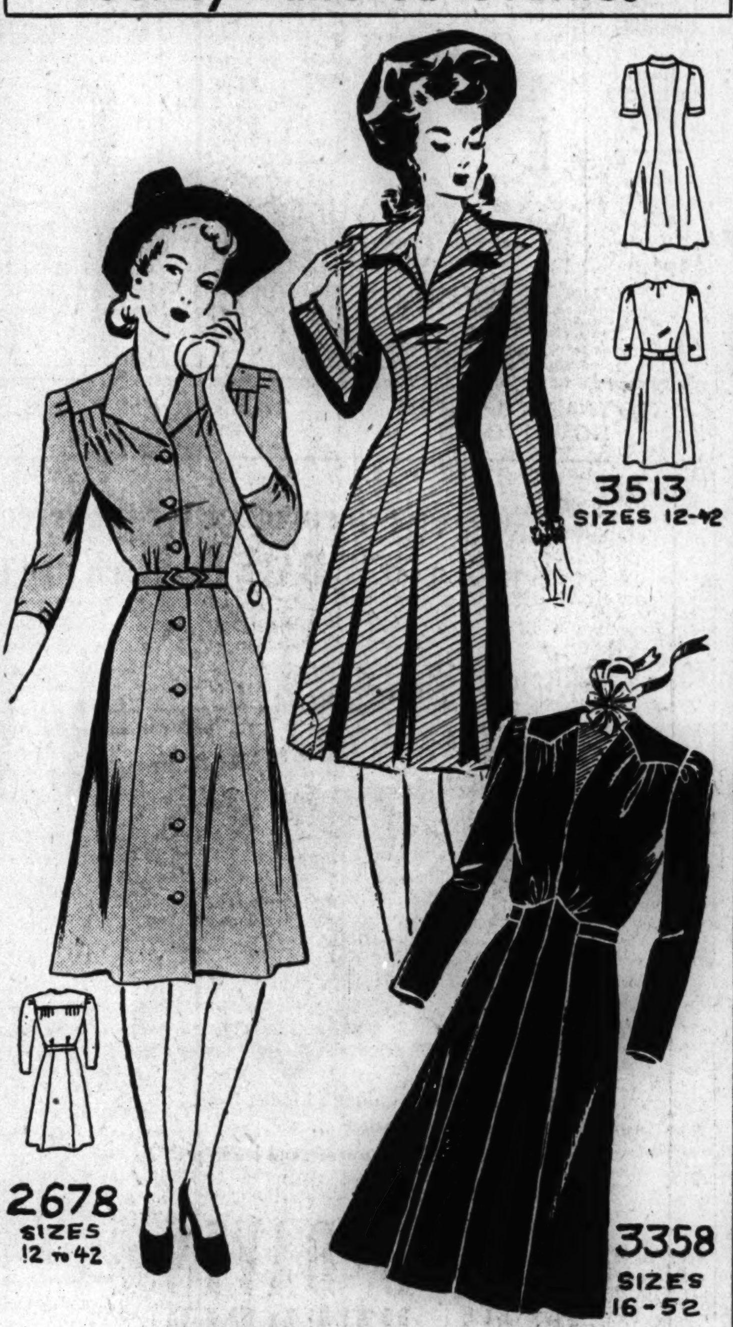
If, in all innocence or in the clumsiness of untried muscles, your small child breaks or spills something, don't scold him or punish him, especially before other people.

Try to think of your home as your child's home. It tends to make him intelligent and careful, rather than destructive. It may at first take more of your time and interrupt your work to allow the little boy or girl to handle many household things besides his toys, but it will pay in the end and give you a child who knows how to amuse himself.

This is the ninth in the series of articles on You and Your Young Child.

How can you develop your small child's skill in handling objects? Tested methods in child training which every mother should know are given in the book, "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. On sale at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

Softly Tailored Clothes



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESSES.

Softly tailored clothes are the most versatile. They go everywhere, to business, to school, to war work centers, and play a social rôle, too. These three versions of the fashion are a trio you'll like.

Style No. 2678 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards of 39 inch fabric.

Style No. 3513 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 3358 is designed for sizes 16, 18 and 20 and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost (coin preferred—wrap it carefully), for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The autumn pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Southern Woman's Club Holding Luncheon Today

A Man of 51 Not the One for Girl of 21

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I'd be willing to have one year of happiness with him compared to a lifetime with some one else!"

The him in the particular case is 30 years older than the 21 year old correspondent. It requires the inexperience of a very young person to measure happiness that way. When you get older, one year of happiness as compared with a possible lifetime of it, is but a breath of time. The trouble with the kind of reasoning is that it has no substance. With the year of happiness dissipated, what then, little woman? Last year's happiness is not sufficient to this year's needs.

Yes, they're very young when they talk that way. A girl of 21 who looks for fulfillment of her romantic young dreams from a man 30 years her senior is very, very young.

Her parents are distressed naturally. Her father especially so. The elder suitor, speaking in comparative terms, is her father's senior. There's a fine young man who meets favor in both mother's and father's eyes. They have known the joy themselves of compatible agemating. They've known the fun of dreaming, planning, working, worrying together and maybe even battling, of raising a lovely little girl like you; perhaps other children. No matter what the older man has to offer in financial ways, he can never give you what a worthy young man can.

We do hope, young woman, that you'll leave him to his just desserts of an older girl or woman.

There's this thought to bear in mind, too, since, regardless of how you may argue, the man's money is a factor. He can buy you things, take you places, shower you with attentions, but in today's world of money insecurity you'd better not plan even a year of cushioned plenty. We insist money must be a factor tho we may be wrong. We simply cannot see a normal young person becoming so intrigued with age unless it were gilded.

It's not necessary to spend much money to acquire an attractive table lamp these days. A collection of nicely styled, well made models we saw the other day were all priced around five dollars. Bases were of floral patterned china on wooden standards and shades were of eggshell toned rayon. Or you could select an all-white lamp, if you prefer. One of the prettiest in the display copied the popular old blue and white Canton ware, and had a small, gold metal standard and a trim silk shade.

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 15: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding goes:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
4 spades	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠A J 8 4 ♥Q 2 ♦K 10 5 3 ♣Q 6 2

What call do you make?

Answer: Four no trump [Blackwood], five spades, five diamonds, and five clubs are all acceptable answers. The point is that South should not pass. North's four spade bid, following his opening heart bid, announced that South would have a play for game with practically nothing but a spade suit. Actually, South can supply a good hand and should indicate that fact by a slam try. This situation should be compared with Question 14 in which North's jump to four spades was of an entirely different character. [Ten points demerit for 6 spades; 20 points demerit for a pass; 40 points demerit for any other call.]

TODAY'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	3 hearts	4 hearts	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds	[fin. bid.]

West opened a low spade. Dummy's king won, and declarer, after carefully studying the situation, led a low diamond from dummy, and when East played low, put in the jack. It not only held but West showed out. A low heart then was ruffed with dummy's seven spot. The spade ace was cashed, declarer discarding a club, and a low spade was ruffed with declarer's three spot. The second heart was ruffed with the nine, and declarer entered his own hand by leading a club to the king, then ruffed the heart king with dummy's last trump. Now he led a spade and East was helpless. It would do him no good to ruff, because declarer would overruff. So he let go a club. Declarer ruffed with the diamond six, then led a club to the ace. Declarer was "home." He could lead a club, giving East the trick and taking the ace-queen of diamonds for the last two tricks, or he could lead a spade and in that way assure himself of the ace and queen of diamonds.

If declarer had led the ten of diamonds at the second trick and let it ride [a persuasive play], the contract inevitably would have been defeated.

"Blind Man's Bluff"

By Baynard Kendrick

INSTALMENT XL.

THE MURDERER.

The captain's hands moved down until he felt the heavy twine which bound the unconscious man's arms secure to a post of the railing. He put a foot on the twine where it ran along the balcony floor. Seizing the man by the collar, the captain pulled him farther up.

Then, reaching down, he unloosed the impeding twine. He dragged the man on over the railing and stretched him out on the floor.

It was easy to follow the twine he had held in place with his foot. He wound it up as he went along 15 paces to where it disappeared thru a crack in the elevator door. There was a weight on the end. Maclain hauled it in as a fisherman might land a prize from a well. Undoing the end of the twine from the trigger guard, he pocketed the weight, a heavy gun which he recognized as his own.

Knock your victim on the head. Hang him feet outward over a railing and keep him there by binding his arms around a post with twine. Tuck one loose end in, not too tight, for the friction will hold him until he moves—he's almost on balance, anyhow. On the other end of your twine you hang a weight. Any sort of a weight will do—a paperweight, a bottle of scotch, a watchman's clock, or a gun. The weight goes down a shaft or out another window, any good place where the twine it takes with it won't be found too easily.

Your victim does the rest. He recovers consciousness after a while and struggles to get free. That's easy, for the cord that holds him is only tucked in. You've seen to that. When he tries to stand—well, down he goes and you're way off uptown some place at the time his watch is smashed in the fall. And they'll never prove that you hit him on the head—it's just as if you covered a little cut by making a bigger one. Who could ever find it, huh? Who could find a little bump covered by the big ones made in a fall?

Have you got it, boys?

A time bomb made of string, and a scream. An infernal machine that the victim sets off himself when you are far away. A death trap loaded with gravity, doubly loaded this time—Duncan Maclain and another.

As Davis says, "Some fun!"

The captain headed back for Hadfield's office. There was water there to revive the unconscious man. Making his way thru the files, he heard a whimper, and terrible lines of hatred made his strong face momentarily ugly. He tightened his fingers around the butt of his gun.

"Dreist!" he called as he opened the office door.

The whimper sounded again, and paws scratched feebly on the carpet. The captain knelt down and felt the warm tongue on his hand, and something warmer staining the office floor.

He stood up slowly and went to Hadfield's phone. It was disconnected, and suddenly the unconscious man on the balcony was forgotten, angles were forgotten, and counting his steps.

Blundering out of the office, he crashed into a chair, shoved it aside, and struck a desk. The shock of pain brought calmness. Feeling his way, step by step, he crossed the building and located the switchboard. He made three tries at plugging in before he reached central and heard police headquarters answer.

Davis and Archer were out.

"What's the time?" Maclain demanded.

"It's 20 past 1."

"Get a veterinary over to the M. T. & T. building on the double," the captain ordered.

"But Capt. Maclain!" The man at headquarters sounded doubtful. "Inspector Davis' orders were——"

"The hell with his orders!" said Duncan Maclain. "My dog's been shot." He pulled the plug from the board and left the phone.

The captain made his way slowly back to the washroom in the foyer of Hadfield's office. He soaked a face towel and went outside again to kneel by the man and apply the icy wet of the towel to his forehead.

The man on the floor said nothing, but ceased to moan.

Duncan Maclain went downstairs slowly. His muscles ached and his head was still spinning wildly. He was on the bottom landing, 11 steps from the lobby, when he heard the sound of voices and the scrape of a key in the little door.

The door swung open and a man stepped in. A torchlight clicked, and suddenly the little door slammed shut again. Fists beat on it, and Davis' strong voice shouted:

"What do you think you're trying to pull? Let us in!"

The man standing down on the lobby floor said just one word, "Maclain!"

"You weren't satisfied with murdering four people and trying to kill two more tonight. You had to shoot my dog," said Duncan Maclain. "Well, this is journey's end. You're in here now, back to see if the victims fell as per order, or maybe you thought you'd be in time to see them fall. I am quite alive, and you'll never get out again."

The captain dropped like a man struck with a sledge. A bullet whined above his head and threw up talcum from the plaster wall. He fired four times, shooting in an arc at the sound of the gun which had fired first, then walked on down and opened the door.

"Lawson shot my dog, so I killed him, Davis. Bentley's up on the balcony. If Dreist dies, I'll kill you, too," said Duncan Maclain.

Seth and Elise had departed for some unknown destination after a noon wedding followed by an informal reception in Duncan Maclain's penthouse. The elated young officer had received a wedding present of seven days additional leave, procured for him by some of the captain's legerdemain.

Phil Courtney and Julia Hadfield, radiant in a tailored suit of light gray, Rena Savage and the captain had adjourned to Sybella's apartment for cocktails later in the afternoon.

The crackling fire was comfortable. A wintry sun had appeared after Monday's rain, but had only succeeded in adding glisten and sparkle to an otherwise bitter day.

Maclain was restless. He circled the living room with Schnucke, touching the heavy draperies at the windows, appraising the furniture with fluttering fingertips, and even locating the clock on the mantel and a couple of pictures on the wall.

"That's a Van Gogh," Sybella told him as his light touch moved from the second picture. "Here's your cocktail. The chair right beside you is vacant."

"He had a passion for yellow, didn't he?" The captain sat down and took his drink.

"The one up there is——" Courtney began.

"Please don't tell him," Sybella interrupted.

"Thank you, Sybella." Maclain sipped his cocktail and put it down. "Very few people understand, Mr. Courtney, that I touch a frame on the wall and fill it with a picture of my own. It only garbles things in my imagination when an attempt is made to describe it to me. It's as tho an author overdescribes a character. The result is never quite convincing or the character very real."

"I can understand that easily," said Julia. "There have been times when I wished that characters in the talkies would relapse into silence again so that I could supply dialogue to suit me."

Rena said, "I agree. It was rather nice."

"I've been living in a movie of my own for the past week," Courtney put in with a laugh. "I have to get down to work on settling Blake's estate. Dare I ask a few questions, captain, or will you run me out?"

"You may fire when ready," said Rena. "What do you think the captain risks his neck for? I can assure you that explaining things is the only part that's fun."

Maclain grinned. "What chance has any man against his secretary? What do you want to know, Mr. Courtney?"

"Don't be modest, Duncan," Sybella told him. "We want to know everything that's happened since this murderous interlude was begun."

Good Morning!

A charming new Russian film star, who, to quote a truthful press report, "looks like Sonja Henie and sings like Lily Pons," a dark youth with oomph, some delightful music, and the best English titles that, so far, have graced a Russian movie, lend emphasis to the general excellency of the World Playhouse's current comedy.

In this—announces an ad—"boy meets girl with an unusual musical twist." . . . Ludmila, daughter of a famous organist and teacher, studies voice at the Leningrad conservatory. . . . Piotr is a composer who has seen her on the street and followed her wistfully, yearning to meet her, but not knowing how to go about it; unwotting of her background and pursuits—so identical with his own. The two come together thru the medium of an operetta, composed by Piotr, in which Ludmila finds herself prima donna-ing for reasons the picture shall show.

The romance encounters many difficulties due to a Bach conscious papa, who disapproves of light music, and a jealous woman singer. . . .

It is the kindly ghost of Bach, who—but there I go telling things and spoiling your fun!

Some of the music is perfectly delightful—and the acting is all of the very first water—especially that of the two young leads and the artists who play Ludmila's father and mother. . . . The piece is ably directed. Continuity is fair. Photography, sets, and costumes are pleasing.

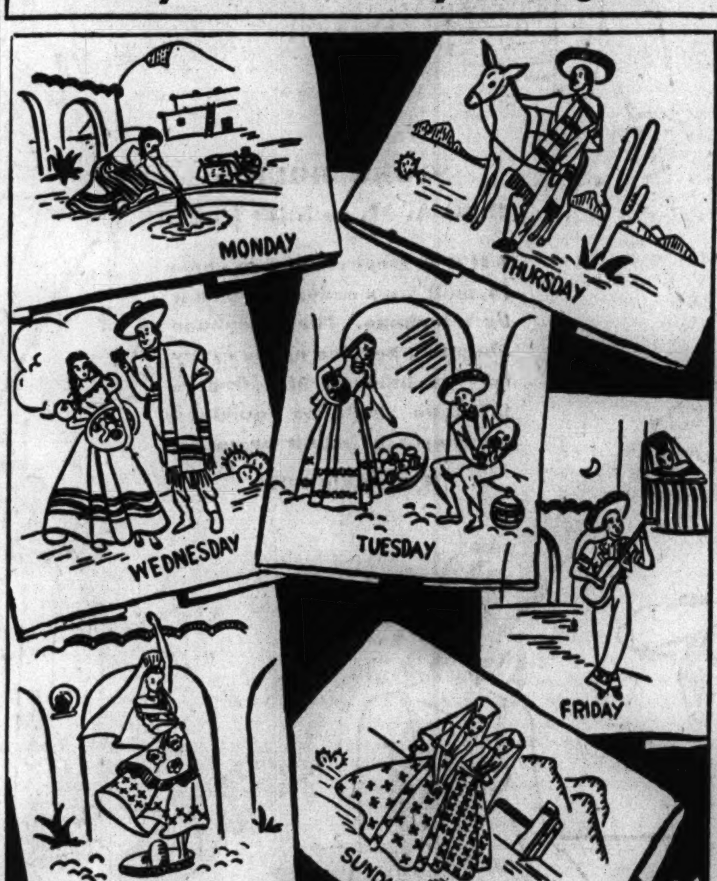
Gay Embroidery Designs



BY NANCY CABOT.

Mexican motifs are among the most popular embroidery designs. These cunning figures are done in a combination of outline and cross stitch. The hot iron transfer pattern contains seven motifs representing each day of the week. And the motifs measure 5½ by 6 inches. Omitting the days of the week, the figures may be used on luncheon doilies, napkins, or curtains.

For the hot iron transfer pattern, No. 514, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Molded Grapefruit Salad.
[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
⅓ cup hot water
⅓ cup sugar
Dash of salt
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup cubed apples
1½ cups fresh grapefruit pulp and juice

Soften gelatin in the cold water. Combine sugar and hot water and bring to a boil, stirring to dissolve sugar. Add gelatin and stir well. Then add salt, lemon juice, apples, and grapefruit pulp and juice. If there is not enough juice from the grapefruit add water to bring juice up to level of fruit.

We haven't seen much olive oil for a long time. Other salad oils are going into our dressings these days. But these oils, too, are precious, and must not be wasted.

There's nothing better in the way of a salad than a combination of shredded greens and an oil and vinegar dressing. But we should all try to economize on that dressing, by using just enough to coat the salad greens, not so much that it runs from the leaves onto the salad plate and later is poured down the sink.

Plain cider vinegar and plain salad oil make an excellent dressing with only salt and pepper added. If you can obtain some of the flavored vinegars, you'll find green salad making more fun. Garlic vinegars may be purchased or prepared at home by steeping a garlic clove in cider vinegar. Vinegars flavored with tarragon and other herbs may be purchased in fancy groceries and at food counters in department stores. So may red and white wine vinegars, plain, or flavored with herbs or garlic.

You may prepare herb flavored vinegars at home, too. Choose the herbs you wish to use, fresh or dried, and pour hot vinegar over them. Let steep for several days, then strain.

Wine vinegar may be made at home if you have a place to let a gallon or so of claret or sauterne "work." A dark, warm place is required, and it will take several months. The procedure is to add "mother of vinegar" to the wine and replace the cork with gauze or cheesecloth, then sit back and wait for the wine to turn to vinegar.

Here's how a real salad fan dresses a bowlful of greens: First he [often enough it IS a he!] sprinkles oil over the greens, being careful not to use too much. Then he tosses the leaves gently with spoon and fork, so that each piece of greenery bears a light coat of oil. Next he sprinkles the greens with salt, and grinds whole black pepper from the little wooden peppermill. Now comes the vinegar—preferably an herb flavored one. It is sprinkled on, too, and a last, thoro tossing follows. No accomplished saladmaker omits a tasting test, after which, likely as not, a bit more salt or vinegar is added.

Here's a delicious herb dressing which you can make and keep in a bottle, to be used as needed. If you use herb wine vinegar, you can omit the herbs in this recipe.

Herb Dressing for Green Salads.

1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
1 cup salad oil
⅓ cup red wine vinegar
1 dash tabasco sauce
1 clove garlic, cut in halves
1 sprig mint, or ¼ teaspoon dried mint leaves
1 sprig sweet basil, or ¼ teaspoon dried basil
¼ cup finely chopped parsley

Shake ingredients together in a jar. Remove garlic after an hour or two, and remove herb sprigs after two days. Dried herbs may be left in the dressing. When you use fresh herbs, bruise the stems and leaves before adding them to the dressing.

Here's a simpler, plainer, but very good dressing for green salads.

Basic French Dressing.

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
⅓ cup plain or flavored vinegar
1 cup salad oil

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 11.—Well, today is the tomorrow Hollywood worried about yesterday, and we're still plugging along. It usually ends up that way, if you'll notice, and that's what makes this a great old business. Some got in quite a dither over the $25,000 salary ceiling for a few days. Nobody knew quite how it was going to affect anybody, opinions were flying around here faster than bullets in Africa, and a few were ready to wipe off the grease paint and take to the soap box. But not for long. We may be an excitable bunch, but no matter what happens, "the show must go on"—and does. Hollywood's gone back to work, leaving the details to the experts, and however it works out, we can take it.

Race with Headlines.

Twentieth Century is rushing the script of "Oran" and will put it into production the minute the ink's dry, with George Montgomery, Don Ameche, John Sutton, Allyn Joslyn, Laird Cregar, and Philip Dorn already set for top rôles.

Story is about the adventures of an odd assortment of men, all from different countries and walks of life, whose paths cross at Oran, and is right up to the minute with the headlines . . . Which reminds me that Hal Wallis must have been gazing into a crystal ball when he set about producing "Casablanca." I hope we'll get a look at it soon. There'll never be a better time than right now to release it.

Nice Going.

George Reeves, groomed by Harry Sherman in Hopalong Cassidy pictures, is about to graduate into one of the leads in "So Proudly We Hail." . . . Tho Veronica Lake's part in this picture is short, she has the kind of a death scene that any actress would give her eye teeth for. She walks right out to face Japanese guns in order to give the other nurses on Bataan a chance to escape. She "died" in "I Wanted Wings" and that one didn't do her any harm, but this time she's a heroine, too. . . . I understand United Artists is interested in a story called "The Raft," by Bob Trumbull, who's city editor on the Honolulu Advertiser. Trumbull, incidentally, is the only son of Murray of the old "Murray and Mack" team.

Gift for Tokio.

Bart Maclane had a scene for "Bombardier" where he had to lift some weights. He used the same ones he'd used while playing strong man in college. The scene finished, he walked right out and tossed them on the RKO scrap pile as his greeting to the Japs. . . . Republic is going to let the fans decide on future Roy Rogers pictures. They're running a contest in a national boys' magazine to give the kids a chance to send in story ideas. . . . Veloz and Yolanda will make a technicolor short, featuring their more popular numbers, for exclusive showing in United States military camps and naval bases. . . . Wait till you see Bing Crosby's costumes in "Dixie." They're more sensational than his own wardrobe, and that's really something to beat! . . . And Cary Grant, who's known as the most conservative dresser in town, wears the flashiest ties you've ever laid your peepers on for that Greek gambler rôle he plays in "From Here to Victory," and is asking for his Christmas ties early.

No Words Wasted.

When Gary Cooper was on location with "For Whom the Bell Tolls" he got word that burglars had broken into his house and made off with furs, jewels, and other valuables. Gary wired back: "Are My Guns Intact?" . . . Since this wasn't the first burglary the Coopers have had, he decided enough was enough, and when he came back sent for a workman to put bars on the windows. As he watched the man putting them on, he said, "You sure those bars are strong enough?" "Well," said the man, "this is what the navy uses on the brig." "That's good enough for me," said Gary. . . . Barbara Stanwyck says that with her experience at the Hollywood canteen and at the VACS she'll put herself up against all comers for the title of dishwasher in Hollywood. . . . Betty Hutton's mother, Mrs. G. W. Adams, gets in tomorrow from New York to spend a couple of months with her daughter, and incidentally to give Betty's fiancé, Perc Westmore, the once-over.

What a Chance!

Director Raoul Walsh has arranged for Osa Massen to do the cutting on certain scenes in which she appears in "Background to Danger" with Brenda Marshall and George Raft. Osa used to be a film cutter in Copenhagen, and a good one, but she's never had a tumble at it before in this country. "At least," says she, "I won't be the face on the cutting room floor this time!" . . . Lieut. Comm. L. K. Kirkpatrick, technical adviser on "Crash Dive," has been made a full commander, and Director Archie Mayo gave him all the gold braid he'll need for his new rank. Incidentally, Huntsville, Tex., Dana Andrews' home town, wants the première of this picture. When "Swamp Water" played there, with Dana getting star billing, the town's only theater ran it for three weeks.

Music Leaders to Join Concert Tribute to Stock

Musical leaders from Chicago and from other parts of the country will pay tribute at the final two of three memorial concerts this week to Dr. Frederick Stock, who would have celebrated his 70th birthday anniversary yesterday.

Among the out of town guests attending tonight's concert will be Arthur Judson, manager of the New York Philharmonic symphony; Arthur Gaines, manager of the Minneapolis symphony; Martin Dumler, trustee of the Cincinnati Musical festival; Charles A. Sink, president of the University Musical society of the University of Michigan, and Marks Levine, vice president of the National Concerts and Artists' corporation. Among Dr. Stock's Chicago friends present will be Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. James G. Shakman, Dr. Helen Howe, Dr. Franklyn B. Snyder, Harry T. Carlson, Merle T. Jennings, W. J. Peak, the Rev. Joseph M. Egan, the Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, and Edgar Nelson.

Box V at tonight's concert will be occupied by Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Chester L. Fordney of the marines, who will have some marine officers and their wives as guests; Capt. and Mrs. Charles Lighter, and Capt. and Mrs. John V. Sandburg.

New England Society.

A luncheon meeting of the Chicago colony of the National Society of New England Women will be held at 12:30 o'clock today in the Blackstone hotel, with Mrs. Bert W. Crissey presiding. Mrs. George M. Kendall will present a program.

Lectures Today

Helen Parker, "As the Romans Did," Bartlett lecture on Roman architecture and sculpture, 6:30 p. m., Fullerton hall, Art institute, free.

Mrs. Albe K. Amburgh, Lieut. Mary Daily, and Helen Chapman, "Women and the War Effort," mass meeting, Cahn auditorium, Northwestern university, Evanston, free.

Alice Sheldon Clock, "The World Today as Shown Thru Books," 12:15 p. m., Chicago public library, free.

Mrs. Helene Mathey, commentary on White's "They Were Expendable," 8 p. m., South Chicago branch library, free.

Stage Notes

Etta Moten, star of "Porgy and Bess," will sing "Ave Maria" at the George M. Cohan memorial service in the Erlanger theater at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Gus Van, well known night club performer, will sing several familiar songs, accompanied by the pit orchestra from "Priorities of 1942." "Skeets" Callagher of "Good Night Ladies," Boris Karloff of "Arsenic and Old Lace," Chico Marx, and Sophie Tucker also have signified their intention of taking part in the testimonial, along with those already announced—the Rev. Edward V. Daily, Ashton Stevens, Lou Holtz, Willie Howard, Bert Wheeler, Lois Wilson, and the Eva Jessye choir from "Porgy and Bess."

Among the theatrical organizations represented will be the Catholic Actors' guild, Bill Posters and Billers, American Guild of Variety Artists, American Federation of Radio Artists, Stagehands' union, Motion Picture Operators, Actors' Equity, American Federation of Musicians, Jewish Theatrical guild, and the Actors' fund.

Nat Dorfman, who donates his services as chief press representative for "This Is the Army," spent yesterday in Chicago, laying plans for the opening of the great Irving Berlin all-soldier musical show at the Civic Opera house on Jan. 4. He pushed aside as altogether unfounded the rumor that the tour of the show might be interrupted before that date in order to begin work on the film version. The script for the movie is not written yet, he explained, and the studio will not be ready, under any circumstances, to begin shooting until after Jan. 16, the closing date of the stage show in Chicago. There will be no mail orders for "This Is the Army," and tickets will not go on sale until approximately three weeks before the opening night.

GREASE
GREASY OVERALLS meet their MATCH

War workers' wives have a powerful ally in Climalene. This popular cleaner puts grease and grime to rout, makes washday lots easier. Here's how:

1. Soak heavily soiled clothes in a Climalene bath—2 or more tablespoons of Climalene to a tub of water. Grease is dissolved, grimy dirt loosened.
2. Then wash, using Climalene with your favorite soap. Clothes come clean and soft without hard rubbing.

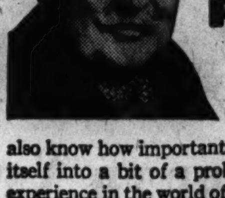
WILSON'S WEEKLY World Famous RECIPES By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.



Determined as we are to share the meat, we also wish to maintain that same standard of popularity past meals held with their grand meat flavor. We also know how important meat is in the American meal. And that all resolves itself into a bit of a problem. But, I can help you with the wealth of my past experience in the world of appetizing food. This new weekly column will offer a pattern menu that makes the most of meat, giving you both glorious flavor and wise nutrition. Follow these "Share-the-Meat" recipes and menus worked out in my test kitchen to meet your present-day needs, and I can assure you this voluntary "Share-the-Meat" plan will not prove difficult.

Share the Meat (Pattern Menu)

SWISS STEAK
(Extended with Irish potatoes, whole carrots and whole onions)
GREEN SALAD
WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
FRENCH DRESSING
PECAN PIE

NO RESTRICTIONS ON THESE MEATS: Your dealer can normally get plenty of nutritious variety meats such as hearts, livers, kidneys, sweetbreads, jowls, tongue, pork feet, ox joints, etc.

Number of Servings
KIDNEYS
HEARTS
Beef—1 serves 4 to 6. Pork—1 per person
Lamb—1 serves 1 to 2. Veal—1 serves 2
TONGUES
Beef or Veal—1 serves 4

FAVORITE SWISS STEAK

Allow ⅓ pound per serving. Select round or arm steak cut 1½-2 inches thick. Pound into steak a mixture of 2 tablespoons of flour, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon of salt, per pound of meat. Brown well and slowly on both sides in 2 tablespoons heated lard. Add ½ cup water, cover and cook slowly on top of stove for 2½ to 3 hours, adding more water as needed. Forty-five minutes before meat is done, add whole carrots, potatoes and onions. When meat and vegetables are cooked, make gravy and serve in separate bowl. Serve vegetables on platter around meat.

• • •

HOW TO VARY THIS MENU

Using this menu as a pattern, you can vary the main dish and have an equally delicious and nutritious meal by using instead of Swiss steak, an inexpensive but tasty flank steak with well-seasoned stuffing. Or, perhaps veal birds would fit your family's appetites. Or better yet, try an unrestricted meat . . . heart, is superb when stuffed and baked.

LUNCH BOX GUIDE

Each lunch box should include: Thermos bottle food or beverage (hot or cold) such as coffee, milk, vegetable or fruit juices, hot soups, creamed foods, Wilson's B.V. (beef-vegetable drink).

At least two sandwiches of enriched or whole wheat bread and fillings such as: sliced MOR, leftover meat and other combinations, Wilson's Certified Poultry or Cheese, Clear Brook Eggs, Braunschweiger Liver Sausage, etc.

One fruit and (or) dessert of pudding, cookies, cakes, etc.

GREAT LAKES WHIPS CAMP GRANT ELEVEN, 33-0

NOTRE DAME VS. MICHIGAN—IT'S BIG GAME OF '42

Soph Full Backs May Decide Issue.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 11.—When the Michigan and Notre Dame football teams meet here Saturday after an interim of 33 years in the series, it will mark the eighth respective contest of the season for each team. This is by way of noting that each of the rival coaching staffs, by virtue of its scouts' reports, has definite ideas on the strength and weaknesses of its opponents.

Al Wistert.

Here on Cartier field Coach Frank Leahy and his assistants are setting up a defense for Michigan's attack and planning their own assault to strike at the Wolverines' presumed weaknesses. These plans are the result of hours of work in the general headquarters in the basement of Breen-Phillips hall. Notre Dame knows, of course, that Coach Fritz Crisler of Michigan and his men are teaching the strategy that has been decided after careful observation of all previous Irish games.

They'd Win This One, Above All.

Saturday's game is one each coach would like to win above all others, if a choice could be made, and the rivalry, intensified by cessation of the series for more than three decades, is reflected in the sellout of 55,968 tickets. An all-time attendance record will be established, since, in addition to this number, 1,200 navy men from the officers' school will be admitted. They will have seats in front of the permanent boxes.

Notre Dame's stadium has been sold out four times since it was built in 1930. These games were Pittsburgh, 1935; Ohio State, 1936; Minnesota, 1938, and Southern California in 1941.

While a detailed report of Notre Dame's or Michigan's plans is not to be expected, those that are supplied for publication may be misleading in that they are half truths. In our conversations with Coach Leahy, he has limited his comment to the general observation that "Michigan has a superb group of backs whose combined talent is a threat."

Points to Irish Strength.

When we last talked to Coach Crisler about the date at Notre Dame, he pointed out that "Angelo Bertelli is a great passer" and that "Notre Dame has far more line material than we have."

The corollary to Notre Dame's passing and to Michigan's running is plunging power. Fifty-seven thousand fans will see the greatest group of full backs any modern game has brought together on the same gridiron. Notre Dame will have Corwin Clatt, Jerry Cowhig, and Jim Mello, who is reported to be ready to play again. Mello started the season against Wisconsin. Michigan will present Bob Wiese, Don Lund, Bob Stenberg, and Don Boor.

Great Soph Full Backs.

Clatt and Cowhig for Notre Dame, and Wiese and Lund for Michigan, will carry the burden of the short rushes. All are sophomores, thus establishing something of a record in major competition. Consider Illinois, defeated by Notre Dame and Michigan on successive Saturdays, as the best measuring rod of the rushing power of the Irish and Wolverines. Notre Dame gained 232 yards; Michigan gained 213 yards.

When these men swing into action, what they can accomplish naturally depends on the caliber of the opposing line. Admittedly, Michigan's line must play 60 minutes. From tackle to tackle there probably is no better line in the midwest than Al Wistert, Bob Kolesar, Merv Pregulman, Julius Franks, and Bill Pritula. Walter Freihofer is the only ranking substitute. He plays either guard position.

Irish Stronger at Flanks.

Notre Dame will start at the same positions Lou Rymkus, Bob McBride, Walter Ziemba [or Herb Coleman, a faster tho more inexperienced line backer], Harry Wright, and Bob Neff. Notre Dame has an excellent sophomore tackle in Jim White, relief man for Rymkus. Pat Filley and George Tobin are competent guards.

The Irish advantage in line play is at the flanks. There is no finer end than Bob Dove, who fulfilled the seemingly impossible assignment against Army last week of playing on defense between Army's wing back and right end and also protecting on sweeping end runs. Capt. George Murphy at right end is supported by Paul Limont, whose defensive play is more aggressive, but who is not as adept as Murphy in catching Bertelli's passes.

Test for Right Side.

Michigan's average end play on defense is offset to some extent by Notre Dame's record of ineffective sweeps by either Bob Livingstone or Pete Ashbaugh. Quite likely the success of Notre Dame's rushing attack, with Clatt or Cowhig carrying the ball, will be determined by Michigan's right tackle and right end. These men will play against Dove and Rymkus.

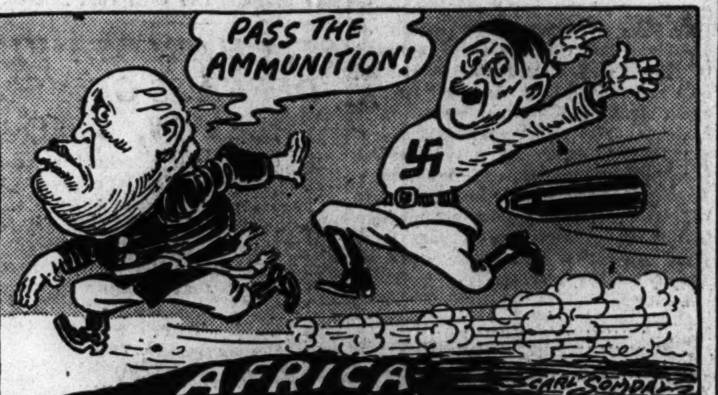
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE fistic record books devote little linage to Alfred [Big Boy] Brown, the happy go lucky Detroit heavyweight, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that he has written finis to the careers of two rivals better known to the fans. . . . Pat Comiskey, hailed not so long ago as a title contender, and Clarence [Red] Burman, Jack Dempsey's protége who never quite kept his promise, both decided they had had enough of the ring wars after bouts with Brown. . . . Don Lund, Michigan's sophomore full back, and Pug Lund, Minnesota's former battering ram, are not related despite recent reports which called the boys cousins and even brothers. . . . When the Wolverines met the Gophers in Minneapolis, they got together and gave the press and radio the facts. . . . Football scouts who visit Harvard are denied the hospitality of the press box and must find perches in the stands, it is said. . . . Alex Trambitas, who served as Jack Dempsey's sparring partner for many of his important battles, including the one with Tommy Gibbons in Shelby, Mont., in 1923, is preparing to enlist in the coast guard. . . . Ray O'Keefe, who starred as a swimmer at De Paul university and later led the Illinois Athletic club to the National AAU title, has resigned as an inspector for the department of justice to become personnel manager for the Kropp Forge company in Chicago. . . . In Boston college's first four football games this season, all of which were victories, by the way, Mike Holovak, 204 pound right half back, gained more yards by rushing than the combined back fields of all opponents. . . . End Jack Hildebrandt of the Marquette football team is trying to live down rumors that he recently purchased a zoot suit. . . . His mates swear he will be forced to wear it in the shower if he shows up in it. . . .

Speaking of iron men, as 'most everybody is, don't overlook Capt. George Ceithaml, Michigan quarter back, who missed only 91 seconds of the Wolverines' first five games. . . . Despite all efforts of his friends to dissuade him, Max Baer is going ahead with plans to star in a Broadway show. . . . Dick Harlow of Harvard has been coaching since 1912, when he took over at Penn State after starring at tackle there for four years. . . . Bill McGowan is the only active member of the American league umpiring staff which was serving when Will Harridge became president in 1931. . . . Maxie Rosenbloom's café in San Francisco is said to be the busiest spot in town. . . . In 1897 the West Virginia football team defeated Washington and Lee, Ohio university, and Ohio State on consecutive days.



Here's That Song Again.

Girls Will Be Girls [O, Yeah?].

I'm smiling still at a little cartoon
I happened upon by chance,
'Bout when ladies start reminiscing
On their very first pair of long pants;
"I remember so well," speaks up a blonde,
"My first treasured pair of knickers,"
And then a brunette will sigh and add:
"Weren't we the little slickers?"

"Mine were blue with a crimson belt,"
One lass will musingly brood,
Another will add: "And mine were green
And exactly matched my snood;"
A third will speak up in a wistful voice
And a sort of nostalgic glance,
Describing the color, the texture, the cut,
Of that very first pair of long pants.

But tell me, fellows, just what do we do—
What's the proper course of action,
Shall we turn our head while all this is said,
So there'll be not the slightest infraction?
Will a boyish blush suffuse our cheeks
When at party or dinner or dance,
The girls start in reminiscing
On their very first pair of long pants?

In holes until the rain of fire has passed.
In spite of these, and other perils beside,
I count the dwellers on that stricken shore
Most happy, for they intimately hear
The precious voice that I can hear no more,
Since oceans lie between us, and black fear.
I, too, would walk where hell's long flames are bright,
To hear the words that they have heard tonight.

LEAGUE READY TO STEP IN AND ORDER PHILS SOLD

Will Operate Club If No Buyer Appears.

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Sale of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, which has been in financial straits for several seasons and often reported on the block, now is certain this winter and possibly within a couple of months, it was learned today.

The plight of the Phils has reached the point where the league has determined that the club no longer can continue under the direction of Gerald P. Nugent, president since 1933, and already has begun a preliminary audit to settle upon a fair price for the franchise.

The league's stand was determined at a special meeting of its board of directors last week. The directors are the presidents of the Pittsburgh, Chicago, New York, and Boston clubs and Ford Frick, president of the league, who confirmed today that the session had been held for the purpose of solving the problem of the Phils.

No Purchaser in Sight.

Whether the league has a prospective purchaser in mind was not known and seemed doubtful, altho from time to time many inquiries have been made. Because of the war the task of financing the purchase of a ball club is difficult.

However, the league is intent on bringing about a sale and has decided against letting the matter drag. About this time a year ago the league advanced a considerable sum to Nugent to help him lump some of the Phils' pressing obligations and to provide working capital to operate during 1942, or until new resources could be found.

It was made clear then that the league would make no additional loans and since the fiscal affairs of the Phils have become worse instead of better, the league has decided, as one of the club's principal creditors, to force a settlement.

League May Operate Phils.

In case a purchaser cannot be found readily, the league as a last resort may have to operate the club temporarily as it did with the Boston Braves a few years ago.

The Phils have finished last or next to last every season since 1932 and attendance dwindled to the point that the club had to sell its best players each winter to get funds for the next campaign. The loan by the league last winter kept the Phils from having to yield any of their few topnotchers in 1942, but the club still wound up deep in the cellar.

FUZZY FURSE'S THE NAME—LOOK OUT, PRINCETON!

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11 (AP).—If Fuzzy Furse, Yale guard, does as well against Princeton Saturday as he did today in scrimmage against a freshman-jayvee combination, the Tigers will be in for a bad afternoon. During the long workout in which the frosh-J. V. squad ran Princeton plays, Furse smashed thru the line repeatedly to nail the ball carriers.

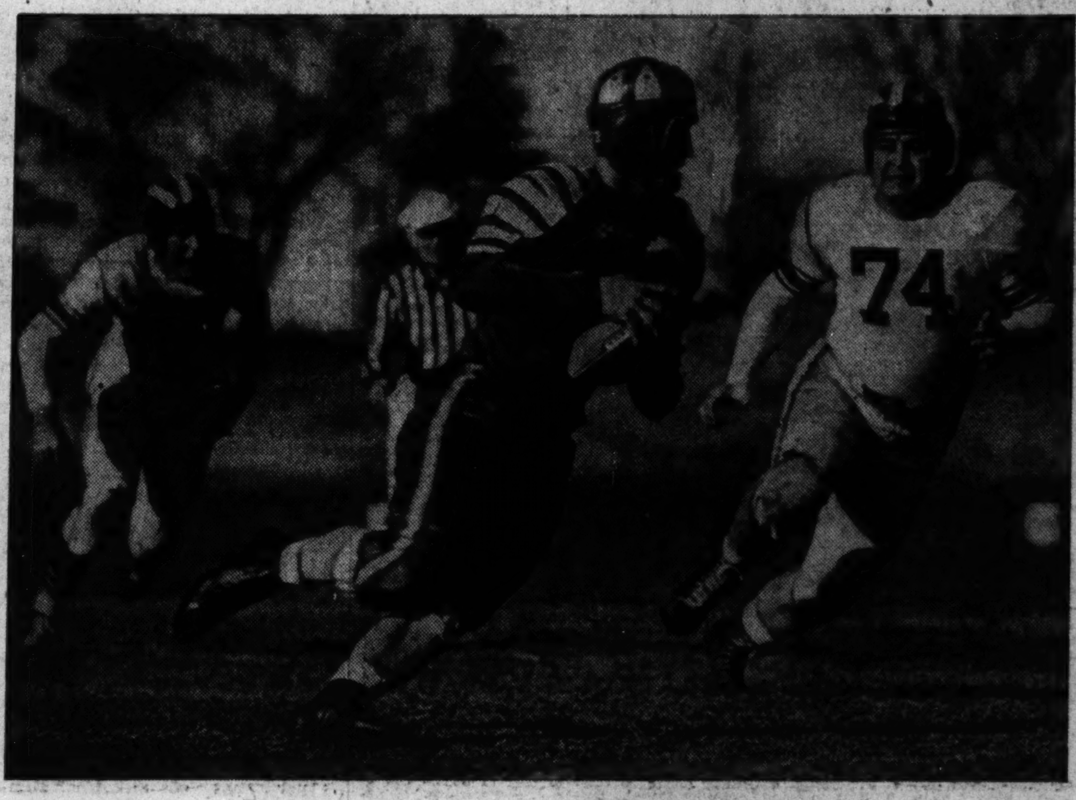
Princeton, N. J., Nov. 11 (AP).—Princeton, swinging into contact action for the first time this week, tore thru the junior varsity for long gains today in an impressive workout for its game with Yale Saturday in New York.

THREE BROTHERS TO START.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 11 (AP).—Lineup shifts at Harvard today indicated three sons of the late Bob Fisher, former Crimson coach, would start side by side in Saturday's game against Brown here. This became possible when Bob Fisher Jr. was moved up to right guard to replace Russ Stannard, who was shifted to reënforce the depleted tackle squad. Bob will be flanked by Brother Jack at center and Willo at right tackle.

One of Camp Grant's Bids Against Great Lakes



Stanley Stasica was almost the extent of Camp Grant's offense yesterday against Great Lakes as the Bluejackets scored a 33 to 0 victory. He's dashing for a short gain in the midst of the first quarter offensive drive that came within 16 yards of scoring. Coming up from the left is Howard (Red) Hickey (20), the former Arkansas end, while that husky chap to the right about to bring Stasica down is Guard Bill Radovich (74), who played his football for Southern California and the Detroit Lions before joining the navy. DECIDE 7 TITLES IN CYO BOXING TOURNEY TONIGHT

Seven championships in the beginners' class will be determined in the 12th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament in CYO center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, tonight. Competition will be held in every weight division except the heavyweight, in which there were no entries.

There also will be some contests in the open and novice classes this evening, but these candidates will not receive their big inning until next Wednesday in Ashland auditorium. On that night 16 additional title holders will be crowned, eight in the open and eight in the novice.

Three of the finalists tonight will be Walter Wilkenson, lightweight; Tom Le Clair, welterweight, and Bob Young, middleweight, all representatives of Navy pier. They won their early bouts in impressive fashion. However, each will have his hands full tonight.

Wilkenson will vie for the 135 pound title with Bill Durand of St. Aloysius parish, and Johnny Small, St. Mary. If both Durand and Small appear, there will be two matches in this weight. Pairings:

118 POUNDS—Jack Cope, Holy Name, vs. George Docus, St. Joseph.
147 POUNDS—Tom Le Clair, Navy pier, vs. Dan Kennelly, St. Francis De Paul.

NEBRASKA TAKES SQUAD OF 34 TO PITTSBURGH GAME

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 11 (AP).—The Nebraska football squad which entrained today for the game with Pittsburgh Saturday was reduced to 34 players, considerably less than Coach Glenn Presnell had intended to take. Several Huskers were either ineligible or injured. The Huskers will work out in Chicago tomorrow.

Today's workout indicated Presnell will start the same back field combination of Fred Metheny, Roy Long, Ki Eisenhart, and Marv Athey which opened against Missouri. Quarter Back Bobby Cooper and Half Back Dale Bradley left with the squad but probably will be used only in pinches as they are still handicapped by injuries.

Alsab Triumphs on Injured Leg at Belmont; Whirlaway Wins

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Alsab won a race on about three and a half legs today.

Running against a strong field of older campaigners, Al Sabath's Chicago express suffered a wrenched right front ankle as he turned on the speed rounding the stretch bend. But, sore leg and all, he charged past the field and won the Victory handicap at Belmont Park by a length, going away with every stride, to wind up his 3 year old racing campaign.

As Jockey George Woolf pulled him up after the victory and piloted him back to the winner's circle, it was apparent to the crowd of 22,719 that Alsab was lame. But, later, Trainer Sarge Swenke explained that the galloping son of Good Goods was coming out of it nicely.

Steps Into Hole.

"He stepped into a hole rounding the turn," Swenke related after talking with Woolf, "and wrenched his ankle a little bit. I followed him to the barn and the horse is all right now."

In winning, Alsab not only had to overcome the injury, but also packed 126 pounds and spotted his older rivals from 12 to 24 pounds in this headliner on what turned out to be the biggest day of racing's victory week for war relief. Altogether $1,712,325 was bet on the total for the eight race card, bringing the total for the six days of racing to $6,812,728 and making it virtually certain that the turf's one week goal of $250,000 for the war effort will be surpassed with tomorrow's final proceedings.

The news that Alsab had finished on a sore ankle undoubtedly came as a surprise to handlers of such other good handicap gallopers as Boysy, Marriage, Tola Rose, and The Rhymer, which ran against him. For the way Alsab took out after them a quarter of a mile from home in this mile and a quarter race, he was not a bit distressed.

He came from fifth place, and once he poked his nose in front, after being taken wide at the head of the stretch, there was nothing to it.

At the wire, Alsab—a $3.50 for $2 choice today—was a length in front of Boysy, with Charles Turner's Bon Jour taking the show slot from Tola Rose by two lengths. Marriage, the early pace setter, faded to sixth.

$548,461 FOR WHIRLAWAY

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11 (AP).—Whirlaway, in his last appearance of the eastern racing season this year, showed his heels to three second-rate routers today in the 30th running of the Gov. Bowie handicap, feature of the closing day program at Pimlico.

Abandoning his usual style, the top money winner of all time took over the lead after less than a mile of the mile and five furlong test, and won with speed in reserve. He earned a purse of $8,625 to raise his all time winnings to $548,461, and boosted his total for the year to $198,800, more than any other horse ever won as a 4 year old.

At the wire, Calumet farm's son of Blenheim II held a four length advantage over John A. Bell Jr.'s Dark Discovery, the only filly in the field. That one, recent conqueror of Alsab, in turn was a nose in front of Howard Wells' Equifox, while H. L. Straus' Skirmish brought up the rear.

Jockey Wendell Eads piloted Whirlaway around the mile and five eighths in 2:48 1-5 over a slow track.

OHIO STATE AND MINNESOTA LEAD BIG 9 STATISTICS

Ohio State and Minnesota lead the team offensive and defensive departments of the Big Nine to date, official figures released yesterday by the American Football Statistical bureau reveal.

In four games, the Buckeyes have compiled a total of 1,450 yards or 362.5 yards per game. In the defensive phase of the game, the Gophers, twice beaten in four starts, have allowed an average of only 159 yards to be rolled up against them.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Grant, Ill., Nov. 11.—The Great Lakes battle wagons cruised around Bell bowl at random this afternoon, not only tearing up huge batches of turf, but also making more or less of a wreck of Camp Grant's Warrior eleven. The Bluejackets, who were seldom pressed and then only in a mild manner, struck with such power that they made five trips across the Soldier goal line for a 33 to 0 victory before about 8,000 wearers of Uncle Sam's olive drab.

The Sailor fleet, with its 200 pound units, started off at slow speed, churned up the premises with some snappy point producing maneuvers in the second period and then slowed down again, apparently conserving its ammunition for the immediate future. They restricted themselves to one touchdown in the opening quarter, but boomed forth with three in the next period and completed the damage with a final quarter thrust which was directed principally by the reserves.

Stasica Standout for Grant.

The Sailors had trouble with only one member of the Soldier delegation. He was Pvt. Stanley Stasica, the University of South Carolina back. The little guy was continually running, punting, or passing, but even with all his work he enjoyed only occasional forays into Navy territory, once in the first period and again just before the one sided struggle terminated.

The Sailors opened the show with a burst of speed. In two plays, one by Bruce Smith, the ex-Gopher, and the other by Paul Anderson, Purdue alumnus, they carried the initial kickoff from their own 20 to the Soldiers' 25 yard line—then lost the ball on a fumble. Given this break, the Warriors turned Stasica loose. With passes and other fancy didoes they progressed to Great Lakes' 16 yard line only to lose the ball on downs.

Smith Opens Scoring.

The fleet began to build up steam as soon as the Soldiers had made the above surrender. On the first play Smith was slapped down for a 3 yard loss, but quickly collected on this setback by bursting thru the left side of the Warrior wall and racing to the latter's 23 yard line before being overtaken by Stasica. Bob Sweiger pried his way thru center for 4 yards and the drive was continued by Anderson, who in two sprints worked up to within arm's length of the Soldier goal. Smith then dove over and Bob Nelson, former Baylor player, came in to kick the extra point.

Shortly after the opening of the second quarter the Soldiers found themselves stymied, so Stasica punted to the Sailors' 35 yard line. John Popov ripped thru for 10 yards and Steve Belichick went on a tour that stopped only when he had moved to the Soldiers' 21 yard line. Popov then sailed around his left end for the Bluejackets' second touchdown. Nelson again employed his toe to alter the score to 14 to 0.

A Fumble Delays Sailors.

A few minutes later Great Lakes was invited to another touchdown but missed the chance. The Sailors took the ball on downs on Camp Grant's 17 yard line and fumbled on

5 BOWLERS FROM ST. LOUIS ENTER ALL-STAR EVENT

Missouri Elimination Will End Sunday.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

St. Louis, the city which long has produced some of the nation's best bowlers, again will be well represented in the national All-Star tournament. The event, scheduled in the Auditorium theater service men's center Dec. 5 thru 13, will have a field which already includes one St. Louisan, Nelson Burton, and will have four more.

An elimination which winds up in St. Louis Sunday so far has seen some of the highest class bowling reported in any of the preliminary events. In 14 games bowled so far Hank Lauman has taken the lead on the field with an average of 223 10-14. Fourteen games next week-end will conclude the trial.

Last Year's Entrants Compete.

Other stars entered are Harold Schaeffer, who has averaged 213-plus; Chris Sottrel, 206-plus, and Cone Hermann, 203. Hermann competed in last year's All-Star tournament here along with Sam Garofalo, a member of his Hermann Undertakers, who is next in line in St. Louis now. Garofalo is averaging 196 2-14 at the halfway mark in the trials. Farther down the list is another big name bowler, Otto Stein Jr., a former match game champion, whose aim is to get another shot at that title by getting into the All-Star event.

Two more nearby cities which long have been bowling centers also will have men in the All-Star field. One of these is Gary, which is sending Bill Rusch, former member of the Mineralites here, and Pete Schenker.

Rusch averaged 219 in a sweepstakes held the last two week-ends on the 20th Century recreation alleys. He carries a 200 average in the Gary Classic and 197 in the Hammond major league. Schenker averaged 210 in the sweepstakes. He carries a 197 average in the Gary Classic circuit. Schenker's home is in Hobart. Wesley Reising, 20th Century operator, is sponsoring the Gary entry.

Waukegan Plans Entry.

The second city planning an entry is Waukegan. One of Waukegan's entrants will be Johnny Ryan of the Meister Brau team in the Chicago Classic circuit. Ryan, winner of a recent Peterson Classic, also was a member of the All-Star field in 1941.

Elgin plans to wind up its elimination next week-end. So does Terre Haute, Ind., where the Tribune-Star has attracted some of the best bowlers in its area into the competition.

The committee which handled the Chicago eliminations will wind up its business at a meeting today. Indications are that it will approve the proposal that the general committee invite eight more men who competed in the recent eliminations than originally had been intended. It was planned to take eight of the 32 men who competed, but the field may line up with 16 Chicagoans in competition in addition to the seven already seeded.

Varipapa, Crimmins May Meet.

Andy Varipapa's itinerary as teacher of the second Chicago Tribune Bowling school was extended last night when he was signed to conduct classes at Park Manor recreation center, 75 East 75th street, on Wednesday, Nov. 25. Andy will give his lecture shortly after 1 p. m. and work with the bowlers who are on the lanes until 5 p. m.

The event may be given an All-Star flavor that night, Thanksgiving eve, as Dominic De Vito, Park Manor manager, hopes to match Andy with Johnny Crimmins of Detroit in a match starting at about 11 p. m. Crimmins, who last year won the right to challenge for the match game title this year, is to meet Joe Norris in the 90 game feature match of the All-Star preliminaries, extending from Dec. 5 thru 10.

MANY HUNTERS LACK FACILITIES OF PRIVATE CLUB

Public Grounds Available Badly Overcrowded.

BY BEN MARKLAND.

The plight of the unattached duck shooter, the fellow who belongs to no private club, long has been a subject of debate among Illinois sportsmen. This year, when duck shooting facilities are being overtaxed by new devotees looking for relaxation from war duties, the question "Where can I shoot ducks?" is even more common.

The query is easily answered by the man who belongs to a private club with annual dues ranging from $40 to several hundred dollars. It also is solvable by the shooter who is able to pay from $7.50 to $15 per day for the rental of a blind on privately owned land in the Illinois river valley. For the third class of hunters—the men whose incomes or financial obligations do not permit such expensive sport—the problem is anything but simple.

Public Grounds Crowded.

At the present time the unattached shooter of low income has little chance to look down his shotgun sights and see ducks in shooting range. In Illinois the state department of conservation has made a start toward solving this problem by the acquisition of about 3,000 acres of public shooting grounds, but after visiting these areas, noting the overcrowded conditions, and seeing official tabulations on the number of ducks killed in such areas, the picture still is none too bright for hunters who must shoot ducks there or stay at home.

With Frank Bellrose Jr., assistant game technician of the Illinois Natural History survey, we recently visited two state owned public shooting grounds. These are the Sparland grounds, 25 miles north of Peoria, and the Woodford county grounds near Chillicothe. The Sparland area includes 873 acres and the Woodford county grounds contain 1,781 acres, all of which is open water area except for one small island.

Shows Low Average.

During the hunting seasons of 1940 and 1941 Bellrose and other members of the natural history survey tabulated the duck kills made at private clubs, day shooting clubs, and on the public shooting grounds. These tabulations show that on private club grounds the average kill was slightly over six ducks per day per hunter. The kill on properties rented by the day to individual shooters was slightly under six ducks per day per hunter. On the public grounds, which represent about 7 per cent of all the Illinois valley duck shooting area, the kill was 1.3 ducks per day per hunter both last fall and in the fall of 1940.

Overcrowding, a lack of supervision, deficiency of blinds and decoys, and a lack of sportsmanship among the hunters themselves are the main reasons for the poor shooting on public grounds. Additional facts about public shooting grounds will be contained in a later article.

TRANSPORTATION OFFERS PROBLEM AS BOWIE OPENS

Bowie, Md., Nov. 11 (AP).—Bowie race track will open its fall season tomorrow, but the spectators will come by automobile or afoot and Bowie officials are uncertain whether the meeting will be curtailed.

There are no rail or bus services to the track because of wartime restrictions. The Pennsylvania railroad will not operate a peacetime switching connection that took fans to the track.

The track is three miles from the railroad station, served early in the morning and in the afternoon—the afternoon train arriving after the race program begins—but there is no bus service from the station to the track. The meet is scheduled to close Nov. 30.

LINDBLOM AND MASON CITY, IA., ELEVENS TIE, 14-14

Mason City, Ia., Nov. 11 [Special].—Lindblom High of Chicago today gained a 14 to 14 tie with Mason City, claimaint of the state championship title. An Armistice day crowd of 4,000 saw the Chicago team, sparked by Vic Mitchell and Earl Weincek, halt the Mason City victory string at eight straight. Lindblom was deep in Mason City territory thruout the first half but could count only once as Mitchell pushed over for a touchdown. A pass from Zukauskas to Weincek scored the second marker. Mason City scored on a pass from Day to Dutcher and again on an off tackle run by Day.

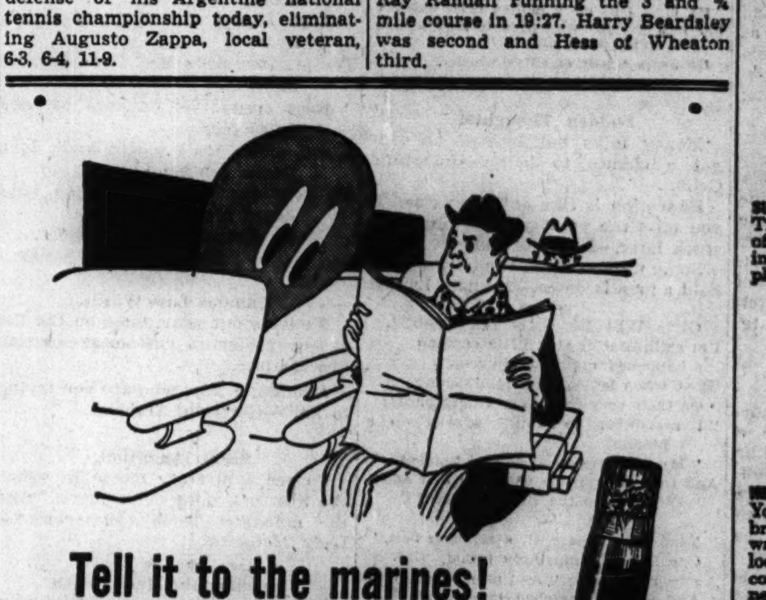
McNeill Wins 2d Match in Argentine Net Tourney

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 11 (AP).—Don McNeill of the United States won his second start in the defense of his Argentine national tennis championship today, eliminating Augusto Zappa, local veteran, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9.



Tell it to the marines!

The rumor that Martin's V.V.O. is unobtainable hereby has its ears pinned back. For a short time, to be frank, we did have to ration some of our best dealers. Also, Scotch drinkers who enjoy the liqueur quality of V.V.O., stocked their cellars.

However, today there is now plenty of this superior Scotch available. You can get it at your dealer's, and at your favorite tavern. And another fact—you pay no more for V.V.O. quality, including the advantage of 88 proof instead of 86.8.

COLAN EXPECTS TO KNOCK OUT NATE BOLDEN

May Be Overconfident for Fight Tomorrow.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Johnny Colan expects to knock out Nate Bolden in a 10 round bout in Chicago Stadium tomorrow. His attitude while going thru his paces in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday demonstrated as much. The New York fighter confined his activities in his final workout to light exercises, but his display of confidence was noticeable.

Colan, who will be in quest of his seventh straight victory since entering heavyweight competition last Aug. 14, doesn't say how he may win. He leaves that up to Al Ramo, his trainer, a fellow who doesn't mince words.

May Be Overconfident.

The fight conditioner bases his prediction on the theory that Bolden is flatfooted and too slow for the swift, fast punching Colan. This forecast indicates there is an overconfident air in the Colan camp.

After all, Bolden never has suffered a knockout since opening his professional campaign five years ago and he has met some of the best punchers in the game, including Tony Zale, Anton Christoforidis, Jimmy Reeves, and Jimmy Bivins.

The reason for Nate's skill in eluding soporific wallops is his cleverness, ability to get under blows or pull away from them and rob the punches of much of their steam.

Bolden Is Underrated.

After taking a shower, Colan, who will enlist in the coast guard next month, weighed 180 pounds, the mark he will carry tomorrow. He has been in the vicinity of this poundage for each of his recent conquests.

Meanwhile, Bolden, more serious than for any of his previous 56 contests, concluded sparring drills yesterday by going six rounds. He will put on the finishing touches to his condition in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon with a loosening up drill. He is at 175 pounds, three more than his weight for the impending adventure.

Clark, Hammer Satisfied.

Chairman Sheldon Clark and Inspector Ever Hammer of the Illinois Athletic commission watched yesterday's training session. Both were satisfied with the form displayed by the fighters.

Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun last night estimated more than 10,000 spectators would pay in excess of $20,000 to see the opening show of the season in the big west side arena. The card cost $12,000.

ST. CHARLES HIGH DEFEATS GENEVA ELEVEN, 6 TO 0

St. Charles High school clinched second place in the Little Seven conference football race with a 6 to 0 triumph over Geneva in St. Charles yesterday. Bud Lillibridge scored on a 5 yard off tackle smash in the third period for the winning points. St. Charles made 15 first downs to Geneva's 2. Geneva won the freshman-sophomore game, 21 to 0.

Chicago Harriers Win 2d Meet; Defeat Wheaton

The University of Chicago defeated Wheaton college, 24 to 31, yesterday in a cross country meet in Washington park. It was Chicago's second victory in five matches this year. Chicago took the first two places with Ray Randall running the 3 and ¾ mile course in 19:27. Harry Beardsley was second and Hess of Wheaton third.

MAKE REPORT ON HALE AMERICA GOLF MEET TODAY

The Chicago District Golf association will hold one of the most important meetings of the 1942 season at 12:30 o'clock today in room 104 of the La Salle hotel. The occasion will be the announcement of the financial report on the Hale America National Open tournament at the Ridgemoor Country club last June, conducted jointly by the CDGA, the United States Golf association, and the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

President Tom McMahon of the CDGA will preside at the meeting, which also will be attended by officials of the United Service organizations and the Navy Relief society, cobeneficiaries of the net proceeds of the tournament. Paul Mullaney and Percy Brautigam will represent the USO, while Chaplain E. C. Andrews Jr. and R. L. Milligan will attend for the Navy Relief society. Other guests will include officials of the CDGA, the USGA, the PGA, the Western Golf association, and the Ridgemoor club.

Following the luncheon the directors of the CDGA will hold their regular monthly meeting in a separate session.

WEST ROCKFORD CLINCHES SHARE OF BIG 8 TITLE

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 11 [Special].—West Rockford High school clinched at least a share of the Big Eight conference football title by defeating East Aurora, 26 to 0, here today. If La Salle-Peru defeats Freeport Friday, it can tie West Rockford, but a defeat for La Salle-Peru would automatically give today's winner the title. John McCrudden scored for West Rockford in the second quarter and it clung to that slim lead until the final period when Gordie Johnson scored twice and Dom Tarquisini once to put the game on ice. The freshman-sophomore game was canceled because of transportation difficulties.

PACKERS MAY WIN—IF ISBELL IS ABLE TO PASS

3ut Those Bear Linemen Must Be Checked.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

It doesn't take much of a football tactician to pick out the point around which will revolve Green Bay's chances of beating the Bears Sunday in Wrigley field.

Just keep your eyes on Cecil Isbell, the handsome Packer who pitches all those passes. If Cecil can have more than a split second to send the ball a-wingin' the Packers will have an excellent chance of ending the pro champions' 20 game winning streak. If Lee Artoe and some of those other powerful linemen break thru consistently and keep Cecil throwing the ball in self-defense, his fine touchdown passing average will suffer.

Completes 50 Per Cent.

The Purdue curly head threw five touchdown passes against the Cardinals two weeks, ago, but there seldom was any enemy traffic nearby. All Cecil had to do was back up a few yards, case his potential receivers downfield, wind up, then peg the ball. It wasn't that easy Sunday in Cleveland when some of the Ram forwards barged in and either bore Cecil to earth or hurried him so much that his aim suffered. But Cece managed to complete 50 per cent, three for scores.

The Bears' theory is that the best pass defense is to get at the source of the trouble—meaning the passer. They are confident that Isbell will not have enough leisure time to be choosy about when he gets rid of the ball.

This is not to mean that they are boasting about shutting out Isbell and his touchdown pass catching pal, Don Hutson. Yesterday, in a half humorous way, Co-Coach Luke Johnsos said:

"If they won't play Hutson we'll spot 'em two touchdowns. That's about par for Don against us."

Have a Few Runners, Too.

Rival teams aren't impressed with the Packers' running ability, yet they have some back field fellows, like Andy Uram, Ted Fritsch, Tony Canadeo, and Chuck Sample who can run. The point is that Coach Curly Lambeau, always a pass-conscious fellow, believes the pass as executed by Isbell is a more important weapon than a running game.

The Packers have made 111 first downs to the Bears' 109 in seven games. Of the 111, 59 have been on passes to 44 on running and 8 on penalties. The Bears have rushed to 67 first downs and used passes for 35 10 yard stretches.

The weekly statistics from George Strickler, National Football league publicitor, reveal the Bears as the best defensive unit in the circuit. Last season, with George McAfee and others running wild, the Chicagoans weren't too careful about where the other team went if it happened to get the ball. As a result they did not score a single shutout in 12 league games. Neither did they blank any of their first five opponents this season. Then they held the Detroit Lions scoreless a week ago, not an especially notable achievement. But when Brooklyn was completely bottled up it created a suspicion that the champions were becoming defense-conscious.

Yield 10 Points Per Game.

The Bears have yielded fewer points than any other pro team, 70 in 7 games, which is an average a schoolboy can figure out. They have given up only 63 first downs and have limited their enemies to 1,233 yards, of which only 402 were made by rushing.

The Bears are so good against rushing that their closest rivals are the Redskins, who have restricted foes in eight games to 687 yards.

Men Who Whistle While They Work

John Wilson Recalls Ohio State-Colgate Battle of 1924

John Wilson.

"Eddie Tryon, Colgate's great back, scored 21 points in the first half. . . . With five seconds left in the fourth period we were behind, 21 to 14, and on their 15. Hoge Workman took the ball, faded back to pass and the field judge fired his gun for the end of the game. . . . Hoge couldn't find a receiver, so he started running and scored. . . . You could have heard a pin drop in our stadium as Hoge prepared to kick for the tying point. He made it. . . . The roar of that crowd, the tears of joy shed by our players, and those two fine plays made under pressure, provided a thrill that will last a lifetime." This is John's third year as a conference umpire. . . . He is 39 and is supervisor of physical education for the Evansville, Ind., public schools.

Hawks Face Canadiens; Seek 3d Place

Games Tonight

Chicago at Montreal.
Boston at Toronto.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 11 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks arrived here this morning, ready for their first game of the season against Dick Irvin's Canadiens, scheduled for tomorrow night. Each team has played three games, and only a single point separates them in the National Hockey league's standing. A victory for the Hawks, who are now in fifth place, will give them third place.

An avalanche of 10 goals against the Rangers last Sunday swelled the Canadiens' total to 16, which is 5 more than the Hawks have tallied in their three encounters. Defensively, the teams are about even.

Injury Slows Gardiner.

Manager Paul Thompson, in commenting upon the 5 to 3 defeat handed the Hawks by the New York Rangers last night, said that Goalie Bert Gardiner's collision with a Ranger player in the second period, which sent Gardiner to the dressing room for repairs, had much to do with the outcome of the game.

Gardiner, according to Thompson, was wobbly thruout the third period, which forced the Hawks to play strictly on the defensive and caused the game to go into overtime, where hockey breaks favored New York and earned the Rangers a victory.

Hamill Leads Scorers.

Red Hamill, Hawks' 200 pound left wing, who made a new scoring mark for the Hawks last season by hitting the nets 24 times, is leading all the National Hockey league snipers to date, with 5 goals.

After tomorrow's game the Hawks move on to Toronto to engage the Maple Leafs Saturday. Sunday they'll be back home for the first Sunday night game of the season in Chicago, which also is scheduled against the Leafs, the current possessors of the Stanley cup.

BADGERS WORK ON DEFENSE FOR WILDCAT PASSES

Otto Graham's Throwing Demands Respect.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 11 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher's warning of Northwestern's power thru the air sent the Wisconsin squad thru a lengthy pass defense drill with the Badger B squad in the rôle of the Purple. The Badgers hold a real fear of Otto Graham's pitching arm and also realize it was Tom Farmer's pass that beat them at Iowa City last Saturday.

The Badgers also had a hard session on blocking, another weakness in the Iowa game last week. The Wisconsin coach then turned to offense with a dummy scrimmage and the brushing up of some new plays.

The squad is intact thus far this week and should take the field Saturday in Dyche stadium, Evanston, in the best shape of the season.

WILDCATS WANT LEAD.

Northwestern's football team, which has followed the polite technique of permitting its opponents to score the first touchdown this fall, hopes to alter the procedure Saturday by getting off in front against Wisconsin for a change. Not since they scored a fourth quarter field goal against Texas early in the season have the Wildcats enjoyed the luxury of holding a lead over an opponent.

Coach Lynn Waldorf hopes his boys will be able to get away to an early lead over the Badgers. It might, he feels, provide the necessary stimulus to spur them to their first conference victory of the campaign.

The Wildcats will be better equipped physically for Saturday's final conference game than at any time since the Ohio State contest which cost them the services of a trio of backs including Otto Graham, half back, and Lynne McNutt and Dud Kean, quarter backs.

With Graham able to run as well as pass, something which he couldn't do last week against Illinois, Northwestern's hopes of upsetting the Badgers are improved. The Illini knew Otto was going to pass whenever he took the ball, and as a result, were able to take the necessary precautions. As it was, the accurate passing Wildcats completed 11 out of 22 aerials.

HOOSIERS DRILL ON DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11 [Special].—Defensive spacing by linemen and backs occupied both the Indiana varsity and freshman football squads today as they drilled for week-end games in Memorial stadium. The Hoosiers will play Kansas State here Saturday and the frosh are host to Ohio State's yearlings Friday afternoon.

Ward Baker Named Basket Coach at Mishawaka High

Mishawaka, Ind., Nov. 11 [Special].—Ward N. Baker, former basketball coach at Bloomington, Ind., High school, and an assistant coach here several years, today was named head basketball coach at Mishawaka High school. He succeeds Raymond [Dutch] Struck who was granted a leave to enter the navy.

Thornton Beats Blue Island; Fenger Big Test for Tilden

Thornton High school of Harvey finished its South Suburban league football schedule by defeating Blue Island, 19 to 12, yesterday on the latter's field. It was the third victory for Thornton in five games and the fourth defeat for Blue Island in five. Henry Rateree paced Thornton's attack, scoring two touchdowns. Lineup:

KENOSHA, 27; MARSHALL, 0.

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 11 [Special].—Kenosha High school, co-champion of the Big Eight conference, rolled over Marshall of Chicago, 27 to 0, this afternoon.

Capt. Les Salerno hurled a 28 yard touchdown pass to Angelo Cavaresi in the first quarter for the opening score. Dart added the point. In the third quarter, Inele rushed over the goal line from the 12 after gaining 18 yards on Salerno's pass. Dart again kicked goal. Dart later scored from the 7 and booted goal. Calvaresi registered on Inele's short pass from the 18 in the last quarter.

Fred Carman, Don Monroe, and Sam Walnman were chief offensive threats for the Chicagoans.

KELLY, 12; ENGLEWOOD, 0.

Kelly High school of the central section in the City league football race closed its season with a 12 to 0 victory over Englewood yesterday in Shewbridge field. It was the second victory in six games for Kelly and Englewood's fifth defeat in six starts. The game was originally scheduled for Friday, Oct. 30 but was postponed due to the condition of the field.

Both of Kelly's scores were made in the third period. Ken Rowe, substitute right half back, broke away around left end for 35 yards and the first touchdown. A few minutes later Mike Pontarelli smashed over from the Englewood 4 yard line for the second score. Lineup:

KELLY [12].		ENGLEWOOD [0].

HARRISON, 14; CALUMET, 7.

This is the story of five unhappy men — five coaches whose hitherto comparatively peaceful lives have been upset by a single line of type that appeared in the final records of the Public High school football league's south section. The line, which made its appearance Saturday following the completion of most regular league play, reads:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Opp.

This quintet is composed of coaches whose elevens are confronted with the possibility of playing Fenger as it attempts to win [1] its way to the finals of the city league race; [2] the championship of the league; [3] the championship of all city prep elevens.

Coach Charles Harvey of Tilden might be the gloomiest of the quintet. For Tilden will meet Fenger in one of the league's semi-final contests Saturday.

It's Worry, Worry!

To the others—Bill Hieland of Austin and Walter Oberlander of Taft, coaches of the other semi-finalists, who will meet Saturday in Hanson Park stadium, as well as A. L. Cronin, whose Leo team won the Catholic league's south division title, and Tony Lawless of Fenwick, which appears virtually assured of Catholic north championship—the Fenger bugaboo, tho a little more remote, is still imminent. If Fenger defeats Tilden Saturday its impressive record will be the immediate problem of Taft or Austin. And if Fenger wins again, then it will be Fenwick or Leo which may have to start worrying.

When Coach Charles Palmer sends Fenger against Tilden in Soldiers' field on Saturday the leader of the offensive probably will be Robert Grueter, 18 year old back who has complemented his exceptional ball carrying ability with kicking that has accounted for almost all of the extra points following touchdowns.

Palmer Gives 'Em a Chance.

Last night Coach Palmer indicated he would continue his policy of making frequent substitutions. On several occasions he has started the second team, and replaced it with varsity men as the game's progress required. The Fenger line is light in contrast to that of Tilden, averaging 166 pounds, but it has been thru the injection of new players into play that Palmer's young men have maintained their remarkable defensive record.

The back field will comprise the talents of four backs who have been equally prominent in the scoring columns. They are George Klein, full back; Anthony Koreiva, right half; Edward Mlaker, left half, and Grueter at quarter. Grueter may be replaced by Wayne Bridge, back of almost similar skill, who rolled up 271 points in nine games last season. Both have alternated at the position.

ILLINOIS TESTS ITS DEFENSE FOR OHIO'S ATTACK

Quarter Back Hoppe Out, but Two Return.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 11 [Special].—Illinois today confined its final hard drill for the Ohio State battle to a dummy scrimmage against Buckeye plays. Coach Ray Eliot said that Roy Hoppe, 196 pound reserve quarter back who was injured in the Northwestern game, will not be available Saturday. The Illini will leave for Cleveland at 6:05 p. m. tomorrow.

GUARD AGAINST FUMBLES.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11 [Special].—Ohio State's football team today went thru a long drill in an attempt to prevent a repetition of the disastrous handling of the ball which contributed to the Buckeyes' recent loss to Wisconsin.

Every Buckeye was made to show that he understood the fundamentals of handling the ball — especially to guard against the ball-stealing activities for which the Illinois team has become noted.

The only apparent change in the Buckeyes' lineup Saturday in Cleveland against the Illini will see George Slusser moved from right half back to left half, where he will back up Les Horvath, regular at the position. Slusser is a good forward passer and runner and is excellent on defense. Slusser and Tommy James, who is alternate to Paul Sarringhaus at right half back, both played on the Massillon, O., teams of Coach Paul Brown and are able to adapt themselves to either position.

Late in the period a Camp Grant punt sailed into the wind and was blown down on its own 35 yard line. A couple of Sailor charges netted nothing, so on third down Ed Heffernan dropped back with the idea of passing. He quickly changed his plan into a sprinting maneuver, broke thru the Soldier circle surrounding him, and scooted down the sidelines to the third touchdown. Ken Robesky attempted to kick the extra point, but missed. In another minute Basil Petry intercepted a Stasica pass in midfield and raced to the 1 foot line, where Belichick went over. Rudy Mucha failed to collect the extra point.

Sailors Break Loose Again.

An uneventful third quarter terminated with Popov fumbling and the Soldiers capturing the ball on their own 45 yard line. Despite this reverse, the Sailors weren't long getting started toward their last batch of points. The Soldiers promptly sought comfort in another punt to inaugurate the final period, Great Lakes taking charge of the ball on its 25 yard line. Ed Norris, once of De Paul, skipped thru the line for 21 yards and Pete Kmetovic charged up to the Soldiers' 30 yard marker. Anderson went around his left end for 15 yards and Norris shot over center for the touchdown. Mucha kicked to make the score 33 to 0.

In the last few minutes the Soldiers had a bit of fun. They went from their own 20 well into Navy territory, with Stasica doing most of the work.

Lane Tech Meets Schurz as Prep Soccer Race Ends

With the exception of a few postponed games, the final round of sectional competition in the City league soccer race will be held today. In the north section Lane Tech High school, defending champion, with five victories and one tie, meets Schurz in Lane Tech stadium and Amundsen travels to Altgeld park to engage Crane Tech. The south sectional leader, Kelly, with three victories and four ties, clashes with Manley in Douglas park. Tilden journeys to Jackson park to play Hyde Park.

Daley to See Short Service with Gophers

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11 [Special].—The University of Minnesota football squad took advantage of the Armistice day holiday by getting out early today for a long drill. The Gophers were disturbed by the knowledge they may have to go along with little service from Bill Daley in the Iowa game here Saturday and the Wisconsin game the week following. Daley is a pretty well battered young man and will have to be used sparingly.

The Gophers are remembering that they will be protecting an 11 year unbeated record against the Hawkeyes. Not since 1921, over a period of eight games, has Iowa beaten Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Iowa City., Ia., Nov. 11 [Special].—Iowa took another look at Minnesota plays today as Coach Eddie Anderson began preparing a defense for the powerful running attack of Bill Daley and Bill Garnaas. With Back Field Coach Frank Carideo and Freshman Coach Bill Hofer impersonating Daley and Garnaas, the first and second teams worked defensively against Gopher plays run by the third string.

Anderson, pretty well satisfied with the lineup that started against Wisconsin, left it intact thruout the drill with a couple of exceptions. Dick Hoerner was alternating with Chuck Uknes at full back and Forrest Masterson was at center in place of Bob Lauterbach.

WARREN IS GAME CAPTAIN.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11 [Special].—Bruce Warren, senior tackle from Kalamazoo, Mich., who has been on the bench for the last two Saturdays with a knee injury, will signalize his return to action Saturday by serving as acting captain for Purdue against Michigan State in East Lansing.

The lone Wolverine on the Boilermaker varsity, Warren should feel at home against the Spartans, many of whom he played against during his high school days. At Kalamazoo High school, he was a member of the state championship football and basketball squads in 1938.

The Boilermakers were given considerable work on returning punts and kickoffs in an extended dummy scrimmage session this afternoon. The final workout of the week will be held tomorrow afternoon, with the squad scheduled to leave here early Friday afternoon for Detroit en route to East Lansing.

PLANS FOR PROS' ALL-STAR GAME NOT COMPLETED

Neither the site for the annual National Football league All-Star game nor the distribution of gate receipts above bare expenses has been decided upon, Commissioner Elmer Layden said last night. Layden said that he hoped to complete all arrangements within a few days and when this was accomplished the announcement would be made by his office.

Layden said that league owners have been polled for their opinions on where the game should be played and what disposition should be made of the funds. He also pointed out that because of the war there were many problems to be settled before setting up the contest. The league champion meets stars picked from the other nine teams. The game will be played on Dec. 28 or Jan. 3, depending upon whether the Bears and Packers are forced into a playoff for the western division championship.

Expressing his own personal opinion, the commissioner said:

"I favor turning over profits to the United Seamen. Seamen, to my mind, are the unsung heroes of the war. They are doing a marvelous job. They do not even have a uniform to fall back on."

The money would go for the relief of disabled seamen and their families.

BUTTER, CHEESE RATIONING SEEN; PRODUCTION LAGS

Lend-Lease Demands Top Available Supply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The department of agriculture expects to announce within a week a program that probably will involve rationing of butter and cheese, an adjustment of prices on dairy products, and the reservation of a large percentage of America's future butter and cheese output for the armed forces and lend-lease.

Spokesmen for the Agricultural Marketing administration, the division of the department of agriculture charged with procuring all lend-lease food products, gave some hint of the magnitude of the program today and disclosed it also may involve some action that will lower hog prices.

The plans are being drawn jointly by the agriculture department and the Office of Price Administration.

Inability of AMA to obtain sufficient quantities of butter, cheese and pork to meet lend-lease requirements and the current meat shortage is back of the contemplated action.

Production Faces Crisis.

The agriculture spokesmen declared that maintaining dairy production is probably the gravest problem facing the department today. They charged that recent Office of Price administration price fixing actions have frozen farm prices at abnormal levels and relationship. Because pork prices are abnormally high and the shortage of labor in the dairying states is acute, the department reports many farmers are switching to hog production and an alarming decline in milk production has been noted. Thousands of dairy farmers are selling off their dairy herds because they cannot obtain help.

Right now the department of agriculture would like to buy 10 million pounds of butter a week for Russia. Yet it asked for offers today and didn't get any. But AMA says this situation may be changed shortly.

Heretofore it has not been permitted to pay above domestic price ceilings in order to obtain butter for lend-lease. It was released from these restrictions yesterday. The price it will pay above the domestic market probably will be announced in the new order.

Cheese Prices at High Point.

It "can use all the cheese we can get," AMA spokesmen reported. It paid as high as 23½ cents a pound for cheese last week. This is about the highest price paid for cheese in 12 years or longer, yet AMA was able to obtain only a little over 300,000 pounds. And it could use 30 million pounds or more a month.

AMA officials conferred with dairymen on the new program early this week. They called into conference the dried milk producers, many of whom own butter factories, and discussed potential supplies and the government's requirements. It is understood they discussed the reservation of part of the butter and cheese output. Already they have reserved 90 per cent of the nation's dry skim milk production.

To add to their woes, the marketing of the fall pig crop can't seem to get started—at least in the volume the agriculture statisticians had predicted could be expected. Something must be done, they state, to get the pigs moving to market and restore the relationship between dairy and pork prices to normal.

SEEKS TO OPEN MRS. PUCKETT'S BANK VAULT BOX

Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator, said yesterday he will seek a court order to open a safe deposit box of Mrs. Ella Mae Puckett, who was mysteriously shot and killed near Lafayette, Ind., Friday. Rubens said he had discovered the box and a savings account containing $2,500 in Mrs. Puckett's name at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

Rubens said he would search the Puckett home at 7840 Kenwood avenue again for a gun and bullets Mrs. Puckett's husband, William R., 63 years old, had said he kept there.

The husband, meanwhile, is being detained at Lafayette, awaiting a grand jury investigation of the shooting. He drove there Friday with the body of his 67 year old wife and contended that she had been shot by a hitch-hiker while resisting a holdup.

C. M. BJORSETH, FORMER MAYOR OF AURORA, DIES

Conrad M. Bjorseth, former mayor of Aurora, died yesterday of a heart ailment in the Copley hospital, Aurora. He was 63 years old, and resided at 79 South La Salle street, Aurora. Since 1937 he had operated a collection service.

Conrad M. Bjorseth.

When Mr. Bjorseth was elected mayor of Aurora in 1931 over the incumbent, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Greene, the vote was so close, it was carried to the Illinois Supreme court and Bjorseth was declared winner by four votes. He was reëlected in 1935.

On Jan. 21, 1932, early in his first term, Mr. Bjorseth declared a bank holiday. This was one of the first declarations of its kind and a forerunner of the national bank holiday declared by President Roosevelt. As mayor, Mr. Bjorseth expanded Aurora's water system, instituted police radio and developed other improvements.

Mr. Bjorseth was a Republican leader in Kane county, and served three terms on the Kane county board of review. He was born in Norway, but came to America as a boy. He leaves his widow, Blanche, and a daughter, Jerene, by a previous marriage. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

INVENTOR, 70, LOSING SIGHT, DIES OF POISON

Hyman E. Golber, an engineer, was found dead yesterday in the second floor washroom of a chain restaurant at 75 West Monroe street. Police said death appeared to have been caused by a powerful poison.

Golber, who was about 70 years old and lived at 5438 Drexel boulevard, left five farewell notes. He indicated he meant to take his life because of approaching blindness and because of a feeling he was too old to be useful in the war effort.

Golber's employer, Ralph A. Levin, 633 Plymouth court, described him as one of the best mechanical engineers in the country, an inventor of a type of adding machine, and one of the first graduates of the University of Chicago. Golber is survived by his widow, Dorothy, and two sons, Myron B. of Wilmette, and Leonard of Madison, Wis.

HERMAN GENSCH, SUPREME COURT SCULPTOR, DIES

Funeral services for Herman Gensch, sculptor, who died Tuesday in his home at 1255 Elmdale avenue, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Mr. Gensch specialized in architectural sculpture and designed some of the work in the new United States Supreme court building in Washington. He won numerous prizes for his work. He was 77 years old, a native of Germany, and had lived in Chicago 60 years. A son, Victor H., and a daughter, Miss Elsie Gensch, survive.

Billy De Beck, Creator of 'Barney Google,' Dies

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—William Morgan ["Billy"] De Beck, 52 years old, cartoonist and creator of the comic strip "Barney Google," died today in Lenox Hill hospital after a long illness. A native of Chicago, he maintained homes here and in St. Petersburg, Fla. He joined King Features in 1918 after years of service as a cartoonist on Chicago, Youngstown, O., and Pittsburgh newspapers. His "Barney Google" and the jug-headed, spavined race horse, Sparkplug, earned more for its owner than did Seabiscuit, War Admiral, Gallant Fox and Cavalcade combined.

NORTH CHICAGO POLICE JUDGE'S WIFE IS DEAD

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Neahaus, wife of Police Magistrate Joseph B. Neahaus of North Chicago, will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in Holy Family Catholic church, North Chicago. She was 73 years old and celebrated her golden wedding last June 1 when she and her husband renewed their vows at the Holy Family church in the presence of friends.

Mrs. Mary E. Neahaus.

Mrs. Neahaus died yesterday in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan. She had lived in North Chicago for the last 43 years. She was a member of the North Chicago library board for 24 years and a charter member and twice president of the North Chicago Woman's club.

She is survived by her husband, with whom she lived at 810 18th street, North Chicago; a son, Clement, of North Chicago, and three daughters, Mrs. Mercedes Tidy of Waukegan, Mrs. Virgilus Staran of North Chicago, and Mrs. Cleta Bailey of Bartlesville, Okla.

CITY OFFICIAL'S WIFE INJURED; DRIVER SEIZED

Assistant Corporation Counsel Henry Eckhardt, 66 years old, was shaken up and his wife, Catherine, 60, suffered spinal and internal injuries when their automobile was struck by a truck at 59th street and Normal avenue yesterday. Walter Thompson, 19, of 13124 South Western avenue, Blue Island, driver of the truck, was charged with reckless driving. Mrs. Eckhardt was taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

Otto Richter, 72, an advertising solicitor, died in his home at 3419 Hollywood avenue of complications following a leg fracture suffered in an automobile accident on Sept. 30. Police said he was struck at Milwaukee and Sunnyside avenues by a car driven by Edward Evenson, 28, 4418 North Major avenue.

Clarence Lewis, 7, colored, 6554 Champlain avenue, was killed by an automobile at Marquette road and Champlain avenue. Manuel Portney, 48, of 6501 Kimbark avenue, driver of the car, reported to police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 586 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 444 died in Chicago, where 17,262 were injured during the same period.

HELD AFTER CAR LICENSE SHOWS ANOTHER NAME

Leonard Franzone, 28 years old, a salesman living at 4520 Clarendon avenue, was held by Cragin police last night after they discovered, while questioning him about striking a pedestrian, that his automobile license had been issued in the name of another man.

Police said Gustave Lagerlund, 57, a machinist, of 2111 North 79th court, Elmwood Park, was struck by a car at Fullerton and North Central avenues. The driver failed to stop and Dr. Horst C. Kraemer of 7 South Mayfield avenue pursued him. Franzone, the driver of the car, returned and picked up Lagerlund, saying he would take him to a hospital. Instead he took Lagerlund, who was bruised about the head and body, to the latter's home and left without giving his name, police said.

Lagerlund gave police the license number of the car and Franzone was picked up. He admitted ownership of the car, but police said the license had been issued in the name of Leonard Sabella of 4128 Clarendon avenue.

OIL MEN FIGHT ANY INCREASE IN GASOLINE TAXES

Oppose Subsidized Wildcatting Plan.

Directors of the American Petroleum institute went on record yesterday in "vigorous opposition" to any increases in gasoline taxes which may be proposed to offset losses in government revenue resulting from rationing.

The group, at the institute's 23d annual meeting in the Palmer House, also opposed proposals for subsidies to encourage wildcat drilling for new oil reserves and adopted a resolution advocating suspension of the 40 hour week for the duration of the war.

Many state governments were expected to attempt increases in gas tax rates as their normally lucrative revenue from this source diminishes under rationing.

Plan Called Uneconomic.

Various government agencies have proposed that the search for new oil reserves should be encouraged by subsidies to wildcatters. The oil men termed such proposals uneconomic.

The directors' resolution on the 40 hour week followed similar action Tuesday by the petroleum industry war council, a government appointed group representing the entire industry.

Along with the 40 hour week, the institute recommended that overtime provisions of the wages and hours act or any other law be suspended in the interest of conservation of man power in order that the petroleum industry and other vital war industries can move unhampered in coöperation in the war effort. Such a move will be helpful in view of the impending labor shortage and will contribute to winning the war.

Seek Second Pipe Line.

J. R. Parten, director of transportation for the Office of Petroleum Coördinator, told the convention the War Production board would be asked to approve the construction of an additional pipe line from the southwest oil fields to the east coast.

He said that the minimum petroleum demands of the east, along with export requirements of our allies, could not be met by overland transportation facilities unless another big pipe line were built.

He placed these minimum requirements at 1,400,000 barrels of petroleum daily, and said that existing pipelines, barges, and railroads, doing double duty, had been able to transport slightly more than a million barrels daily. Normal transportation to the east by tanker has been disrupted by the war.

Lauds Railroads' Work.

Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, told the oil men that the railroads had more than met the test in transporting oil eastward by full trainloads, but that the government must be more liberal in providing new equipment. Steel and other critical materials which the roads normally use in building cars and locomotives have been channeled into direct war products.

The efficiency of the train lot movement of oil will be enhanced, he said, when shipments are made under ODT plans to central storage points from which deliveries are to be made to surrounding territories by truck or barge. Tank cars will thus be released more quickly for the return trip.

Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes was unable to attend the meeting, and his address was read by W. Alton Jones, president of the Cities Service company. His message emphasized the importance of oil in war, which, he said, "will be won by the side that has a superiority of oil."

Ickes' message paid tribute to the industry for its vast strides in the production of aviation gasoline and other petroleum products, asserting a "near miracle" had been accomplished as the result of "a smoothly functioning government-industry partnership."

Plan Completion Dec. 10.

The oil men were told that the 24 inch pipe line from Longview, Tex., to Norris City, Ill., was expected to be completed Dec. 10. The WPB recently approved extension of this line to the eastern seaboard.

William R. Boyd Jr., who was re-elected president of the institute yesterday, defended the industry against what he termed an unfair charge that petroleum interests were attempting to monopolize the synthetic rubber program. He said the industry, dependent upon the continued use of automobiles for its livlihood, was striving for synthetic rubber in the largest volume possible, regardless of whether the tires are made of petroleum or agricultural products used in rubber manufacture.

HOME FUEL OIL UP, INDUSTRIAL STOCKS DECLINE

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Home fuel oils and total stores of gasoline increased while industrial fuel oils decreased during the week ended Nov. 7, the American Petroleum institute reported today.

Distillates, or light fuel oils, increased 903,000 barrels to a total of 49,034,000, while residual, or heavy fuel oils, decreased 849,000 barrels to 78,317,000.

Total finished and unfinished stocks of gasoline rose 79,000 barrels, to 79,238,000, compared with 82,465,000 a year ago. Total estimated gasoline production was 10,893,000 barrels, against 11,153,000 the week before.

WLB Rejects Pay Increase to Hold Labor

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The War Labor board, in line with its newly established policy not to grant wage boosts "for the purpose of influencing or directing the flow of man power," refused today to approve an increase for employés of the A. E. Staley Manufacturing company at its plant in Painesville, O.

The board disapproved an agreement made by the company with the Chemical Workers' union [AFL] calling for a 6 cent an hour general wage increase.

18 Employés Leave.

Noting that the company joined in the request after 18 of the 55 workers employed in the plant, which processes soy beans, had left to accept employment with a Painesville magnesium plant which paid a higher starting rate, the board, in its first opinion since the new policy was established last week, said:

"It is obvious that if the board should attempt on its own initiative to remedy man power shortages by granting wage increases whenever an employer alleges that his workmen are leaving his plant for higher paying jobs, the effect would be to accelerate a spiral movement of inflationary wage increases.

At Odds with Aims.

"Such a policy would be inconsistent with the wage stabilization aims of the executive order of Oct. 3, 1942, in that it would tend to encourage demands for wage increases equal to the highest wages paid in an industry or in a community."

The board said in the Staley case there had been no showing that the parties had taken any other steps to solve their man power problem other than to seek approval of a general wage increase.

The opinion, written by Wayne L. Morse, public member of the board, also said that the employés were not entitled to the increase to correct maladjustments because they had received more than a 15 per cent increase above the level prevailing on Jan. 1, 1941.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT DIPS FOR WEEK, TOPS 1941

The nation's electric power production for the week ended Nov. 7 was slightly below the record breaking preceding week, but 11.7 per cent above a year ago, the Edison Electric institute announced yesterday. Because of the election day holiday output totaled 3,761,961,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 3,774,891,000 the preceding week. Production for the same period a year ago was 3,368,690,000 hours.

The Pacific coast region continued to lead all other areas with an increase of 28.8 per cent above last year. Production of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies was 170,325,000 kilowatt hours, a rise of 5.6 per cent above the 161,307,000 hours during the corresponding 1941 week. Output for the preceding week was 169,458,000 kilowatt hours.

Additional Briefs Asked by Dec. 1 in Midland Case

Daniel O. Hastings, special master in the federal court at Wilmington, Del., asked attorneys yesterday to file additional briefs by Dec. 1 in connection with disputed claims of the Midland United and Midland Utilities companies. Further testimony was taken from attorneys representing the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and other litigants. The Midland companies are undergoing reorganization in bankruptcy.

Chicago Firm to Receive Army-Navy Joint Award

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Among industrial plants selected today to receive the army-navy production award were H. G. Fischer & Co., Chicago; Manville Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich., and S. G. Taylor Chain company, Hammond, Ind.

CENTRALIZE WPB MATERIALS RULE

Nelson Puts Eberstadt in Charge of Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—In a move to centralize further the control over the flow of materials into war output, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, today consolidated all phases of production planning and materials distribution under Ferdinand Eberstadt, WPB program vice chairman.

Ferdinand Eberstadt.

Nelson combined the Office of Program Determination, or over-all planning, and Office of Operations, which carries out material controls, into a single organization to be headed by Eberstadt, New York investment banker.

Wilson Kept in Charge.

Ernest Kanzler, former president of the Universal Credit corporation, will continue as director general of operations, but will report directly to Eberstadt. Charles E. Wilson, who left the presidency of General Electric company to join WPB in September, will continue as vice chairman in charge of actual production, and will report to Nelson, as before.

Nelson said the new centralization of authority will help to carry out the recently announced controled materials plan, whereby WPB will regulate the flow of critical materials from the time they are produced until they emerge as finished guns, tanks, planes, and other military and civilian goods.

Under the new setup the 36 industry divisions will be given greater responsibility for estimating requirements for industries and controling distribution of materials. They will also work more closely with the WPB top requirements committee, which is headed by Eberstadt.

Get Labor Advisers.

Each of the 36 division directors will work with a labor advisory committee in addition to an industry requirements committee. The employment of labor groups to work with WPB has been urged by labor organizations for months. In addition, sub-requirements committees, consisting of representatives of the army, navy, maritime commission, and other government war purchasing agencies, will work with the industry divisions in estimating material requirements.

Eberstadt will be assisted in over-all planning by a program bureau to be headed by Donald D. Davis, president of the General Mills company, Minneapolis, Minn. This bureau will advise the committee on material requirements, on available supplies of materials and production requirements, and on labor requirements.

Another advisory group, termed the facilities bureau, will advise Eberstadt on requirements and programs for plant construction.

WPB Eases Restrictions on Several Uses of Lead

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Restrictions on the use of lead, least critical of the important metals, were eased today by the WPB. It removed restrictions on lead use in certain building supplies, in foil for industrial babbit, in certain food packaging, in lead sheathed cable, in caskets, and in name plates for industrial machinery.

Wheat Pit in Winnipeg Nearly Empty at Times

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 11 (AP).—The wheat pit was deserted at times during a slow session on the Winnipeg Grain exchange today. December wheat closed unchanged at 90⅛ cents a bushel. United States grain markets were closed in observance of Armistice day.

Head of G. M. Says Job Draft Not Workable

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 11.—Proposals to freeze men at their jobs and to draft workers for war industries stand little chance of succeeding, C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation, said here today. He spoke before a group of army and navy officers making a tour of training schools conducted by the corporation.

"How can you make a man work at a job if he doesn't want to?" asked Wilson. "I believe that were we to try drafting labor, industry would take quite a licking from a passive resistance attitude. It's all right in the army, where every one is given fixed tasks and told what he is going to do, but it would be another story in industry."

Wilson said that the units of the corporation have passed the conversion stage in the making of war products—"at the end of the beginning period." All kinds of war products are rolling out of the various plants in an ever increasing flow, he said.

Materials, Man Power Problem.

The big problem now, he said, is one of materials and man power. He said he is hopeful that the new material control system will expedite the flow of materials into war production, but to be effective Washington will have to cut out a lot of red tape.

As to labor, industry must train a lot of men and women who never before worked in factories, he said. General Motors alone will have to train about 150,000 new workers in the next year or year and a half. The first thing to be taught the new workers is not to be afraid of machines, he asserted.

O. E. Hunt, vice president, paraphrasing the famous remark of Lieut. Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, said that the general who wins this war will be the one "who gets there fustest with the mostest equipment and the mostest men who know how to use it." In a mechanical war like the present we cannot afford to have anything but the best and this industry is providing, he said.

Seek to Avoid Mistakes.

Officers going thru the training schools said one reason the army is insisting on its men getting all possible training on the machines they will handle is that they do not want the mistakes of the last war repeated. They said they do not want men to go into combat without adequate training as in 1918.

The group today went thru the training schools of the Buick aviation engine division and the General Motors institute at Flint, Mich., and the Pontiac division at Pontiac, Mich.

Instructors in charge of the schools said that on the whole rookies off the farm make better mechanics than any other group because of their years of experience in fixing cream separators, repairing fences and doing other farm chores.

Col. Harold J. Conway of the ordnance corps, one of the group of officers making the tour, interrupted classes at the Buick school to tell the future mechanics that "one plane or tank in Libya or the Pacific area is worth 100 coming off the assembly line." He urged the soldiers to take notes because it is easy to forget when in the field.

ALLIED BOARD PLANS STUDY OF TRUCK MAKING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The combined production and resources board announced today the appointment of an American-British-Canadian committee to study the most efficient possible utilization of facilities for the manufacture and distribution of military and civilian trucks for the United Nations.

One question to be considered is whether production can be increased in areas near the fighting fronts in order to save shipping.

The committee, the announcement said, is expected to recommend the most appropriate types of packing for shipping vehicles to various theaters of war and the necessary action to provide the facilities at the points of assembly as quickly as possible.

Other questions to be considered include: Standardization of models, allocation of rubber for the manufacture of tires, production and distribution of spare parts.

410 Million to Be Paid in Christmas Savings

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—More than 8 million Christmas club members thruout the nation will receive about 410 million dollars in the week starting Nov. 30—an average of $49 per account. Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation, said today total distribution for 1942 was about 2 per cent in excess of 1941. He said approximately 5,000 banking and savings institutions and other organizations would distribute the money.

Becker Employes Give Up Holiday to Sell U. S. Bonds

All employés of A. G. Becker & Co., Inc., Chicago securities dealers, gave up their customary Armistice day holiday yesterday and devoted their full time to a special drive to sell United States government securities. At the close of the day, the firm announced that the Chicago organization alone had turned in subscriptions for a total of $10,156,875, representing 430 individual and corporation orders.

PULLMAN, INC., 9 MONTH PROFIT UP 4½ MILLIONS

Pullman - Standard Output Climbs 31%.

Pullman, Inc., yesterday reported consolidated net income of $12,353,407, or $3.74 a share, for the first nine months of 1942, compared with $7,853,401, or $2.83 a share, for the corresponding 1941 period. The 1942 figure was after provision for federal taxes.

President D. A. Crawford told stockholders the total output for the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company was 31 per cent larger than in 1941, and that troop movements and other government business accounted for nearly half the total business handled in Pullman cars.

U. S. Gypsum Earns Less.

The United States Gypsum company, Chicago, reported that net income for the nine months ended on Sept. 30 declined substantially, compared with the same period a year ago. Profit was $3,878,148, equal to $2.90 a share, compared with $8,380,331, also 54 cents a share, in the corresponding three months of 1941.

The International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., reported that net income for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $8,368,510, equal to 54 cents a common share, compared with $8,380,331, also 54 cents a share, in the corresponding three months of 1941. Profit in the June quarter this year was $7,936,648, or 51 cents a share.

Yellow Truck Profit Drops.

The Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich., had net income of $4,258,347, or $1.17 a share on the combined common and class "B" stocks, for the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with $6,615,282, or $1.95 a share, in the corresponding period last year.

ADD THREE HOURS TO GOLDEN STATE AND CALIFORNIAN

Because of heavy wartime traffic three hours will be added to the running time of the Golden State Limited and the Californian, effective Nov. 22, the Rock Island and Southern Pacific railroads announced yesterday.

The Golden State Limited will continue to leave the La Salle Street station at 10:15 a. m., but its arrival in Los Angeles at 10:40 p. m. will be three hours later than at present. Departure time of the Californian, now 8:50 p. m., will be changed to 8:30 p. m., and the train will arrive in Los Angeles at 10:45 a. m. instead of 7:45 a. m.

Other roads are expected to announce schedule changes prior to Dec. 6, when lengthened schedules of the eastern roads are to be adopted.

Banks, Markets to Open Today Following Holiday

Banks and security and commodity exchanges in the United States will reopen today after being closed yesterday in observance of Armistice day.

OCTOBER SLAUGHTER OF CATTLE, LAMBS SETS NEW RECORDS

Cattle and lamb slaughtering in plants under federal inspection in the United States during October and the first 10 months of 1942 set new records, the department of agriculture announced yesterday. Hog slaughtering also set a high for the 10 months and was the third largest on record in October. Calf volume was second highest for the two periods.

The 1,279,771 cattle killed last month compared with the previous high of 1,251,000 in October, 1918, 1,158,758 in September this year and 1,118,675 in October, 1941. For the 10 months, the total was 10,346,927, against the previous record of 9,435,683 in 1918 and 9,001,000 last year.

October hog slaughter was 4,218,048 head, compared with 3,842,564 in September and 4,157,472 a year ago. The month's volume fell short of packer expectations by a million head. The 10 month total of 42,096,332 compared with 36,192,250 last year and the previous high of 42,089,471 in 1923.

Sheep and lamb slaughter last month was 2,343,807, compared with the previous record of 2,222,704 in September, and 1,682,200 in October, 1941. The 10 month record of 17,324,046 head, compared with 15,129,657 last year and the previous high of 15,259,748 in 1938.

Nelson Describes Advertising as Essential in War Economy

No Desire to Destroy

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Advertising is an "essential part of our communications system," a system which the government has "no remotest desire" to destroy, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production board asserted tonight.

Nelson said the future is not bright for the individual business man, but "is not wholly black either."

Dare Not Cut Communications.

At a dinner meeting of the Association of National Advertisers, he said:

"I see no reason why any man should assume, now, that no scope is going to be left for the free exercise of his talents; I see no reason to assume that the field is going to tighten up so much that advertising will not still have an important job to do in the distribution of goods.

"For advertising, I must repeat, is an essential part of our communications system. We dare not destroy or cripple that communications system in wartime, and we have no remotest desire to do so."

The WPB chief prefaced his address with a warning against a too optimistic view of war developments, but declared that the American economy is vital enough and flexible enough to crush its enemies without itself breaking down in the process.

Advertising's Rôle Vital.

"It has a greater adaptability than our enemies dreamed; greater, I suppose, than we ourselves suspected," Nelson said.

The peacetime distributive and marketing machinery has found a vital rôle in the war economy, he added, Albeit a rôle "vastly different" from its peacetime one. This machinery can help cushion the conversion to an all-out war effort, he added, and thru it "our basic structure can be preserved and kept sound for the years of peace and prosperity which lie ahead."

"While in ordinary times it is advertising which provides the urge for for mass production, today it is the war itself which provides that urge," he continued. "Advertising has nothing to do with it, and the vital rôle which it ordinarily fills is denied to it for the duration of the emergency."

Asks Space Donations

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—Donated advertising, rather than paid space, probably will be the government's immediate method of telling the public of war needs, the Association of National Advertisers was told today.

In the discussion, however, one speaker indicated the government might eventually buy its own advertising.

"Except to a limited degree, the government itself cannot wisely, in my opinion, buy paid space or time [for advertising purposes]," Gardner Cowles, a Des Moines, Ia., publisher and director of domestic operations of the Office of War Information, told a meeting representing 350 of the principal purchasers of advertising space.

Cites Political Handicaps.

The political handicaps do not permit such an operation on a big scale, even if a sound case for it can be made on paper, Cowles said of government buying of advertising space.

But, Cowles said, "there is a limit to which advertising media themselves can go in donating space and time to the government, altho there is evidence that all media are willing to go the limit in accordance with any sound plan.

"I believe that all media should and will respond to every suggestion of the Advertising council [set up to coöperate with the government on war problems]. The real lift to government campaigns must come from space and time donated by commercial advertisers."

Says Donations May Fail.

Chester J. La Roche, chairman of the council and chairman of the board of Young & Rubicam, Inc., advertising agency, agreed in general terms with Cowles' views on the use of paid advertising at present by the government.

He suggested, however, that it may become apparent later to government officials that donated advertising space and time may prove insufficient to get the government's war job done.

LITHOGRAPHING PLATE OF PLASTIC AND PAPER UNDER STUDY BY WPB

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Use of a new plastic and paper lithograph plate would become virtually mandatory as a substitute for metal in small size offset printing jobs thru an order now under preliminary study by the WPB, an official disclosed today.

The plastic plates, already being used or tested by a dozen government agencies and bureaus, would save about 1,500 tons of scarce zinc a year, it was estimated. Such an order would not be feasible for some time, however, because of limited production of the plastic material.

Any order requiring lithographers to use the new material probably would apply only to plates smaller than 22 by 29 inches, it was said. Composed of equal parts of paper and plastic, the plates are suitable only for lithograph work and not for newspaper or other types of letter press printing.

5 MILLION MORE WOMEN WORKERS NEEDED—M'NUTT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP).—Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Man Power commission, said today that women are capable of doing 80 per cent of all war jobs and said that 5 million more would be needed in industry and on the farms by the end of 1943.

"Women constitute our biggest single labor pool," he told the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and American Legion, saying "they can perform many operations better than men."

McNutt said the nation's labor force would grow from 54 million to "somewhere near 60 millions," and asserted the extra man power would have to be borrowed from civilian industries.

Blow in Inland Steel's 6th Blast Furnace on Monday

The Inland Steel company, Chicago, announced yesterday that a new blast furnace, its sixth, will be placed in operation next Monday. It was privately financed and has a daily capacity of 1,200 tons of iron.

AFL ENGINEERS VOTE WALKOUT AT OIL REFINERY

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 11 (AP).—AFL operating engineers at the Shell Oil company refinery at Wood River, Ill., have voted to strike at 4 p. m. next Saturday unless a dispute with the company is settled or submitted to arbitration.

The union, local No. 525, with approximately 1,000 members, demanded the company restore Victor Rector to his job as shop foreman, from which he was demoted a month ago.

Company officials asserted the demotion was made because Rector failed to take certain safety measures for which he was responsible.

At Jefferson Barracks, Mo., 200 AFL carpenters refused to work today because they were not paid time and a half for Armistice day. At the army engineers' branch in Granite City, Ill., between 150 and 200 carpenters did not work for the same reason.

U. S. WILL TAKE CUSTODY OF ALL FRENCH PATENTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 [Special].—French patents in the United States are to be taken over by the alien property custodian, it was learned tonight, now that all of France has been occupied by Germany.

French properties in the United States, however, will not be seized as were those of Germany, Italy and Japan. One or two have already been taken over because it was known that they were acting only as a blind for Nazi Germany, but the great bulk of French firms will be left intact except in so far as their operations are supervised by the treasury's freezing orders.

Plan to Redistribute Idle Oil, Gas Tubular Goods

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes announced today that idle or surplus tubular goods used in producing oil and gas would be redistributed as soon as inventory reports were received from some 10,000 producers to whom they had been sent. He said these materials in the operators' possession, wherever located in the continental United States or Canada, would have to be reported to the government.

Sale to be held on premises. Take Route 44 east out of Rushville.

FIRST DIVIDEND SINCE '31 VOTED BY N. Y. CENTRAL

Will Pay $1 a Share Next January.

The New York Central railroad yesterday declared a dividend of $1 on the capital stock, payable Jan. 15, the first since a similar amount was distributed Nov. 2, 1931. The payment will be made to the 61,500 stockholders of the company, whose equity represented by invested capital and surplus totals $771,800,000.

F. E. Williamson.

In announcing the action of the board of directors, F. E. Williamson, president, said the dividend was declared "after full consideration of known results and a careful estimate of the full year's revenues."

Williamson said that the company's policy of debt retirement had resulted in wide improvement since 1932. Total outstanding obligations of the New York Central and its lessor companies have been reduced by 185 million dollars, of which about 45 millions have been met this year.

Interest Costs Reduced.

Annual interest charges, as compared with 1932, have been cut by 11⅛ million dollars, Williamson said. He estimated that 1942 net income will equal approximately $7 a share.

The president said, however, that obligations maturing during the next four years are heavy, and that this, together with the necessity of providing for capital improvements, must be considered in any determination of future dividends.

Montgomery Ward & Co. declared regular quarterly dividends of 50 cents on the common stock and $1.75 on the class "A" shares. Both are payable in January.

Columbia Pictures corporation authorized a distribution of 50 cents a share on its common stock, the first since March, 1939, when a 2½ per cent stock dividend was disbursed.

NOTICE OF BONDHOLDERS MEETING

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE SIX PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS OF

British Columbia Pulp & Paper Company, Limited

NOTICE is hereby given that, pursuant to a request received from British Columbia Pulp & Paper Company, Limited, by the undersigned Trustee, a Meeting of the Holders of the Six Per Cent. First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of British Columbia Pulp & Paper Company, Limited, issued under and secured by Deed of Trust and Mortgage dated the 25th day of January, 1926, and Deeds Supplemental thereto in favour of Montreal Trust Company, as Trustee, will be held at the office of Montreal Trust Company, 511 Place d'Armes, in the City of Montreal, on Monday, the 30th day of November, 1942, at the hour of three o'clock [D.S.T.] in the afternoon, for the purpose of considering and, if thought fit, passing, pursuant to the provisions of the said Deed of Trust and Mortgage, an extraordinary resolution sanctioning changes in the provisions of the said Deed of Trust and Mortgage to provide:

[a] That loans secured by pledge or hypothecation of First Mortgage Bonds shall not constitute current liabilities for the purpose of computing working capital in respect to the covenant contained in Sub-clause [m] of Clause 19 of the said Deed of Trust and Mortgage and the event of default provided in Sub-clause [h] of Clause 21 thereof; and

[b] That the balance of the authorized and unissued Bonds and any Bonds which the Company holds in its treasury and is entitled to re-issue may be issued as Bonds of other Series with such maturities not earlier than November 1st, 1950, rates of interest not exceeding 6% per annum and subject to such provisions as to redemption, places and currencies of payment, registration, denominations and forms as may be determined by the Company at the time of issue; and directing the Trustee to concur in and execute a Supplemental Deed embodying such changes of the provisions of the said Deed of Trust and Mortgage.

NOTICE is further given that the following regulations will apply for the purpose of enabling the holders of Bearer Bonds to be present and to vote at the Meeting without producing their Bonds, and of enabling them to vote by proxy.

The holder of a Bearer Bond or Bonds desiring to be present and vote without producing his Bond or Bonds at the Meeting or to vote thereat by proxy, may deposit such Bond or Bonds with any Chartered Bank or Trust Company satisfactory to the Trustee, and any person producing at the meeting a Certificate of Deposit signed by or on behalf of such Bank or Trust Company in a form satisfactory to the Trustee, or producing such a Certificate with a proxy signed by the Bondholder named in such Certificate, shall be entitled to vote at the Meeting in the same manner as though such person produced at the Meeting the Bond or Bonds mentioned in such Certificate.

AND NOTICE is further given that holders of Registered Bonds may, by instrument in writing duly executed, stating the number of the Bonds held, appoint any person as proxy to vote at the Meeting. Save as aforesaid, the only persons who shall be recognized at the Meeting as holders of any Bond or Bonds or as entitled to vote at the Meeting in respect thereof shall be the persons who produce such Bonds at the Meeting and the Registered Bondholders.

BOOST IN SUPPLY DEPRESSES HOGS TO 8 WEEK LOW

Farm Shipments Largest in Four Months.

Increased farm selling of hogs depressed the price level at the Chicago stockyards yesterday to a new eight weeks' low, buyers paying an average of $14.10 a hundred pounds. This was only 20 cents above the lowest price since April 2. Top loads brought $14.30 early and $14.15 at the close.

Hog prices have dropped almost 10 per cent in the last five weeks. Yesterday's prices averaged $1.50 below the 22 year peak established early last month. However, the price level is near the highest on record for this time of the year, averaging 38 per cent above a year ago.

Shipments Heaviest in 4 Months.

Farm hog shipments were the heaviest in four months. The Chicago stockyards handled 21,500, including shipments direct to packers, the biggest Wednesday total since early July. Despite heavier shipments, the volume is well below what it usually is in November in view of the large number of hogs on farms, packers said.

The majority of good 200 to 250 pound hogs, including early and late sales, brought $14 to $14.15. More than 3,000 sold at $14 near the close.

Despite the record breaking October beef production as disclosed late Tuesday by the department of agriculture, the cattle market held firm. Top steers sold at $17.50, equaling the highest price in five years.

Lamb Market Firm.

Lambs were steady to 10 cents higher with top loads at $15. The bulk brought $13.75 to $14.85.

HEAD OF FARM BUREAU URGES 54 HOUR WEEK

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 11 (AP).—Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said today the 40 hour week was "a flagrant and unnecessary waste of precious man power" and urged the adoption of a 54 hour industrial work week.

"If the administration would make the 54 hour work week compulsory it could by a single stroke add more than 25 per cent to the effective industrial man power of this country," O'Neal told the Tennessee Farm Bureau federation.

EQUAL TREATMENT.

The 1942 revenue act is said to contain a provision placing all individual taxpayers on an equal basis with respect to state sales or occupational taxes. Please explain this.—T. S. C.

Answer: A state sales tax is levied with each purchase directly on the purchaser. An occupational tax is levied with each sale against the seller. Under the 1941 tax law, a taxpayer could deduct from income payment of sales taxes.

Since a direct sales tax has been held unconstitutional in Illinois, an occupational tax is levied on the seller who passes it on to the purchaser. Under the 1941 tax law, however, the purchaser could not claim as a deduction from income tax actual payment of this tax.

The 1942 revenue law provides that a sales or occupational tax levied by a state and shown as a separate item in the amount of the purchase is deductible from income taxes. In effect, the new tax bill allows as a deduction a tax which eventually is born by the purchaser as in the case of the Illinois occupational tax.

HOWE SOUND.

Do you have nine month earnings figures for Howe Sound company? Are they based on the 1942 tax law? —E. A. C.

Answer: Profit for the first nine months of 1942 was $1,232,911, compared with $1,282,178 in the same 1941 period. The 1942 figures were based on provisions contained in the 1942 tax law.

NEW NAME.

What is the new name of Sterling Products, Inc., and when was the change approved?—W. O.

Answer: A change in name to Sterling Drug, Inc., was approved on Oct. 15.

LESS THIS YEAR.

Answer: After a payment of 25 cents on the common stock Dec. 15, dividends will total $1.25, compared with $1.37½ in 1941.

LONE STAR GAS.

Answer: A holding company.

RAISING OF HEMP IN FIVE MIDWEST STATES PLANNED

Announce Subsidies to Spur Output.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—To offset the shortage of rope, heretofore made of hemp grown in the Philippines, the government will subsidize the planting of 250,000 acres of hemp in five midwestern states next year. Commodity Credit corporation officials made known some of the preliminary plans today.

Farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota will be asked to grow the hemp next year. The corporation will pay them for the hemp from which rope is made.

Easier to Produce.

A spokesman said that the price the government will pay for growing hemp will give farmers a higher per acre return than they can obtain from growing wheat or corn. And department of agriculture spokesmen said growing hemp is much easier than growing either wheat or corn.

Seed will be supplied by the government from test plots planted in Kentucky this year, where more than 5,000 acres was grown. The farmer has only to drill the seed and then sit back and watch it grow, the credit corporation spokesman said. Special tools for its harvest will be supplied by the government.

The corporation plans to concentrate production as much as possible so that processing plants can be built in or near production areas. Each plant will be expected to handle the yield of 4,000 acres.

STATE TO GET 15 UNITS

Fifteen hemp plants will be built in the northern half of Illinois to handle production from a proposed 60,000 acres of hemp in 1943, according to an announcement yesterday by Lee Gentry, chairman of state Agricultural Adjustment administration farm program committee. He said a total of 71 mills will be erected in the nation.

The plants will be financed by the Defense Plant corporation and operated by the Commodity Credit corporation, Gentry said. Each mill will cost approximately $350,000.

The Illinois United States Department of Agriculture War board will choose the production areas and mill sites in the state. The AAA farm program committeemen will consult with farmers in these areas and contract with them to produce the hemp, Gentry explained.

SLASH IN MAIL RATE PAYMENT TO EASTERN AIRLINES IS ORDERED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 (AP).—The Civil Aeronautics board tonight announced it had ordered a cut in the rate of mail payment to Eastern Airlines, Inc., amounting to about $750,000 a year, and recommended that the company reduce its passenger rates.

Effective Oct. 1, 1942, the order reduced the mail rate from .47 to .3 mill per pound per mile, the CAB said.

In asking the company to give early consideration to a reduction of passenger rates, the board said that for the year ended June 30 Eastern's average revenue per passenger mile was 5.21 cents as compared with an average of 5.02 cents for all other domestic air carriers.

RAIL'S PROFIT RISES.

Net income of the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad increased to $134,886 in September from $99,713 in the corresponding month a year ago, the company reported.

EXECUTIVE TRAINING
THE WAR and its demands for production and more production has thinned the ranks of executives to the danger point. The country needs men with executive training just as it needs production workers and men for the armed forces.
THE ALEXANDER HAMILTON INSTITUTE is daily receiving more inquiries regarding its intensive course of executive training than it has field force to handle.
MATURE MEN between 40 and 60 with good education and background of successful business accomplishment capable of interviewing and advising such inquiries are needed.
THERE ARE VACANCIES in the Chicago area, and also in central and Eastern Michigan. Complete and adequate training as to our procedure given to the men selected.
COMPENSATION by commission and monthly bonus offers satisfactory income.
ADDRESS X X 86, TRIBUNE.

DON'T BORROW

Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

CAPTAIN, HAVE THESE VOLUNTEERS QUARTERED AWAY FROM THE OTHER MEN...THEY ARE NOT TO TALK WITH ANYONE!
YES, SIR!
BILL, I'M GOING TO TAKE A LONG CHANCE—IF THE JAPS HAVE A FIGHTER STATION IN THAT MOUNTAIN VILLAGE, BOMBING WON'T CLEAN THEM OUT—
WE'LL LAND THOSE 50 VOLUNTEERS BY PARACHUTE!
BUT—THOSE MEN HAVE NO TRAINING AS PARATROOPS!
NO—BUT I'M CONVINCED THAT OUR TECHNICIANS CAN SLUG AS WELL AS OUR PILOTS—AND WE'LL SOON FIND OUT IF I'M RIGHT!

This is a revised map of the western Mediterranean and contiguous land areas, showing the region in North Africa involved in the invasion of American forces under the command of General Eisenhower. Morocco and Algeria, territories which are under Vichy French control and into which the United States has thrown armed forces, are shown here to a north-south depth of roughly 400 miles, from Casablanca on the west to the border of Tunisia on the east.

For preserving Tribune color maps, etc., leatherette bound, loose-leaf scrapbooks in full page size now are available; $2.50 each at Tribune Public Service offices, or $3.15 each by insured delivery.
